ENVELOPE NEW CLEW AS KIDNAP SEARCH WIDENS

Road Near School Yields Paper Addressed to McMath.

IMMUNITY PROMISED BY FATHER OF CHILD

Two Department of Justice Agents Aid Hunt, Covering Land and Sea.

Harwichport, Mass., May 3 (A.P.).—State police late tonight had in their possession a crumpled envelope addressed to Neil McMath. It was found in the road near the schoolhouse from which 10-year-old Margaret McMath was kidnaped yesterday.

State Commissioner of Public Safety Daniel C. Needham attached great importance to the envelope and immediately ordered State detectives to examine it for fingerprints.

Neil McMath's name and address were printed and the contents of the envelope were missing. The envelope was crumpled and dirty and police were unable to determine how long it might have lain on the road before it was found. State officers refrained from saying who found the envelope.

Immunity Is Promised.

Up to the time of the envelope finding there had been no public indication as to whether the kidnapers had attempted to communicate with the parents.

While a widening search for the girl spread along Cape Cod and out to sea tonight, her parents announced they would meet any reasonable ransom demand and promised immunity to the kidnapers who lured the child from a schoolroom yesterday and vanished with her.

Meantime, the family home stood unguarded, as police declared a 48-hour truce to permit the abductors to make safe contact with the parents.

"Be Good to Her."

In announcing he could and would raise any reasonable sum sought by those who stole his daughter, the father said all he sought was the safe return of the little girl.

The new appeal was issued from the family home, the summer residence of Mrs. McMath's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Kales, wealthy and socially prominent residents of Detroit. It read:

"To those who have my daughter, Peggy, in their possession, please be good to her.

"Second, you may get in touch with me in any way you see fit. Mrs McMath and I pledge ourselves to deal faithfully and honestly with you.

Itinerant Is Questioned In Attack; Off to Prison

Kansas City, Kans., May 3 (A.P.).—Bert Collins, 52-year-old itinerant, brought here for questioning in the abduction and slaying of 6-year-old Madine Vogel Love, today was taken to the State penitentiary to begin serving a sentence of from five to ten and one-half years for the attempted attack on a 4-year-old Belleville (Kans.) girl.

Police admitted they were without clues to the identity of the man who abducted Madine from near the Abbott School here, attacked her, and left her body, strangled with her jumping rope, in a woods near Bonner Springs, Kans.

Six Orphans Avert Wreck of Express

Passaic, N. J., May 3 (U.P.).—The wreck of an Erie express train carrying 500 passengers was averted here tonight by half a dozen children from the Passaic Orphan Asylum.

A heavy rainstorm, which struck the city shortly before 8 p. m. washed out the ballast under the track for a space of 50 feet, leaving a stretch of track and ties hanging over a 10-foot chasm for a length of about 50 feet.

The children, six boys, were looking out the windows of the asylum, about 100 feet from the railroad, when they saw the embankment carried away by the rush of water. Realizing that a train was due in a few minutes, they grabbed their raincoats and dashed through the rain, hurrying up the tracks for about a quarter of a mile.

The express, out of Jersey City, sped across the Passaic River Bridge and swung around the curve, headed for the washout. Engineer John McGlin saw a boy beside the track, wildly waving his raincoat. McGlin smiled and waved back. Then he saw five other boys waving. He jammed on the brakes and the train screeched to a stop, 50 feet from the washout.

FOUR CUBAN REBELS ARE SLAIN BY GUARD

Corporal Who Fired Fatal Shots Invokes Spanish Law of Flight.

Havana, May 3 (A.P.).—Four prisoners charged with participation in last Saturday's revolutionary disorders near San Luis, Oriente Province, were killed today in Santiago in an application of the old Spanish "law of flight," as the government continued its pursuit of remnants of the rebel bands.

The four, with three other prisoners, were being taken from the Santiago Railway station to the municipal prison when, their guards said, they attempted to escape.

Corpl. Isidro Gort Castenada, commanding the guard, ordered his men not to fire, but leveled his own pistol and in quick succession shot down the four prisoners. They were Juan Lopez Garcia, accused of leading the 40 rebels who attacked San Luis early last Saturday; Luis Asencio Sayas, Alejandro Barban Arias and Antonio Hernandez Paz.

A number of pedestrians witnessed the killings.

Fighting in the streets of San Luis Saturday and subsequent skirmishes between the fleeing rebels and the guards pursuing them previously had resulted in fourteen deaths—eleven rebels, two soldiers and the chief of police of San Luis, who was captured by the revolutionaries and slain just before they deserted the town. Another victim was a young student, who was killed by a soldier in Santiago.

Two rural guards returning to San Luis from patrol duty were fired upon from ambush and wounded last night. They made their way to the town and were taken to the Municipal Hospital, where they were reported in critical condition.

Official circles here today admitted that small groups of rebels, apparently well armed, were still active in Oriente Province.

Editor, 75, Will Marry 22-Year-Old Secretary

Gainesville, Fla., May 3 (A.P.).—A marriage license has been taken out here by Albert Shaw, 75, New York publisher and editor of the Review of Reviews, and Miss Virginia McCall, 22, of Gainesville, his secretary, it was learned today.

The couple said they would be married by the Rev. William S. Stoney, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church of this city.

Americans Will Direct French Bureau in U. S.

Paris, May 3 (A.P.).—Americans will be employed by the French foreign office to make France known to the United States, says Henry Berenger, chairman of the Senate foreign affairs committee, in a report on the Senate foreign affairs budget, which will be distributed tomorrow.

An information bureau, directed by Americans, will be established in the Maison Francaise, New York, for which Edouard Herriot recently laid the corner stone, Senator Berenger says. His report adds that a "specialist" will be employed in the embassy at Washington as a further means of making France known.

Manchukuo's Door Stays Open to U. S.

Japan Denies Intention to Oust American Trade From New State.

(Associated Press.)

Japan yesterday informed the United States that it has no intention of trying to slam the "open door" in Manchuria in the face of American trade because this countrty has not recognized the state of Manchukuo created there by force of Japanese arms.

Through Ambassador Joseph C. Grew at Tokyo, the Japanese foreign ministry told the American Government that a Manchukuoan official spoke without authority when he said recently that the open door would be accorded only to those countries which recognized Manchukuo's independence.

The statement had caused considerable concern here and was looked upon by some observers as indicating that Japanese representatives to the White House economic conversations might seek to force American recognition of Manchukuo as the price of continued trade with that rich area, which contains extensive American investments.

Texas Legislature Redistricts State

21 Congressional Zones Provided, Three of Them New.

Austin, May 3 (A.P.).—The Texas Legislature passed today a bill to redivide the State into 21 congressional districts. Three new districts would be created in Bexar County, the Panhandle-plains area of northwest Texas and the ranching country of central west Texas.

Galveston County is transferred from an east Texas district to the south Texas district now represented by J. S. Mansfield, of Columbus.

Under the reapportiment based on the 1930 census, Texas was entitled to 21 representatives instead of 18. The last legislature failed to agree on a redistricting bill and three representatives were elected at large in 1932.

U. S. Studies Gangland Rule of Chicago Unions

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—Gangland's terroristic war to obtain control of labor unions tonight was reported to have come under the scrutiny of the Federal Government. This development followed the seventh bombing in 48 hours and the forty-first since January 1.

Government officials were understood to have launched an investigation of the books of the Coal Teamsters and Helpers Union in an attempt to reveal possible violations of the income tax laws by hoodlums on the organization's pay roll.

BROAD STUDY MADE ON ECONOMIC SLATE

Roosevelt Holds First Formal Conference With Jung to Outline Plans.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Roosevelt yesterday held his first formal conference with Italian Minister of Finance Guido Jung, who, with the Italian Ambassador Augusto Rosso, will explore the problems of Italian-American relations in advance of the World Economic Conference at London. For two hours the President and the Italian delegates reviewed the ensemble of subjects now on the conference agenda.

A more detailed examination of each of these subjects will be held today when the Italian experts, Signori del Vecchio and Anzilotti, confer with the American experts at the Department of State.

The White House conference was attended by the President, Secretary Hull, Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley, American Ambassador to Italy, Breckinridge Long; Messrs. Bullitt, Warburg and Feis, of the Department of State, and the Italian delegation.

At the Italian Embassy last night Signor Jung announced the desire of the Italian government to see the opening of the World Economic Conference under the most auspicious circumstances. He will direct the conversations here which have special reference to stabilization of currencies and other monetary and economic problems, while Ambassador Rosso, long Italian delegate to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva, will attend the political discussions.

It was plain last night that Premier Mussolini regards stabilization of international currencies as one of the very fundamental points of the conference.

While the Italo-American conversations were progressing at the White House and the Department of State, the Argentine delegates, Ambassadors Le Breton and Espil, were engaged in a technical discussion at the Department of Agriculture. Those present included Secretary Wallace, Henry Morganthau, jr., of the Farm Board; the economist of the Farm Board, Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel; Rexford Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. For the first time in the agricultural history of the United States, the possibility of an accurate control of wheat production in this country through the domestic allotment plan

Radio Flash Reports Treasure Ship Found

Norfolk, Va., May 3 (U.P.).—A radio message from the Evarts-Hall expedition seeking an estimated $5,000,000 treasure in gold, silver and jewels from the Sunken Ward Liner Merida, 60 miles off the Virginia Capes, tonight announced the Merida had been located. Klass Evarts, diving expert, who, with Capt. [illegible] Hall, is in charge of the expedition, signed the message.

The Evarts-Hall expedition is the second one to enter the race to obtain the reported treasure. Capt. H. L. Bowdoin headed an expedition which claimed to have located the treasure last summer.

U. S. IS WARNED ROLE OF "SANTA CLAUS" IS PERIL

Farrell, Chamber of Commerce Speaker, Makes Plea for Industry.

CONVENTION DRAWS TRADE SPOKESMEN

Government Asked to Press at London for Return to Gold Standard.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Vigorous demand that the United States Government refuse to enter reciprocal tariff negotiations before domestic industry is securely protected against depreciated foreign currencies and war-like preferential trade agreements abroad was voiced yesterday in the United States Chamber of Commerce round tables on foreign trade.

Spokesmen of the Nation's greatest industries participated in the spirited discussions.

Warning From Farrell.

With the projected world economic conference well to the fore, Chairman James A. Farrell, former president of the United States Steel Corporation, and now president of the American Foreign Trade Council, warned that this country can not afford to enter the London conference "as an international Santa Claus."

He noted that new trade agreements between Europe and South America and new import embargoes in Poland, Germany and France during the last ten days offered little promise of a genuine tariff truce pending the assembling of the London conference. In these circumstances, he said, American industry has at stake not only its export trade but its very existence at home.

Resolutions before the foreign commerce section included one demanding that the American Government press at London for a "speedy return to the gold standard."

Chary of New Standards.

"In the light of recent experience the world conference should work to perfect the operation of the gold standard rather than endeavor to replace it by new standards that have still to demonstrate their merits," this resolution said in part.

Discussion of the tariff and trade policies began in the roundtable session only a few hours after official disclosure at the White House that President Roosevelt has not yet de-

White House Plans Quick Farm Action

Night Session Maps Steps for Enforcing New Control Law.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt and his Cabinet laid plans at a lengthy conference last night to put the administration's agriculture control bill into operation immediately upon enactment.

With the season already well-advanced, prompt action is planned by the administration with a view to controlling production in the surplus crops.

Secretary Wallace, Attorney General Cummings, Secretaries Roper and Perkins and Postmaster General Farley attended. A corps of agriculture experts were there, too, including representatives of farm organizations.

225 Patients Are Rescued In Sayre, Pa., Hospital Fire

None Injured or Apparently Suffering Ill Effects From Being Carried Out; Water Supply Exhausted; Damage Reaches $2,000,000.

Sayre, Pa., May 3 (A.P.).—Fire which swept the Robert Packer Hospital here tonight, causing 225 patients to be carried out on their cots, was still raging at midnight tonight as six fire companies from adjoining cities battled the blaze.

There were no injuries and none of the patients appeared to be suffering from the experience.

Fire companies from Sayre, Waverly, Elmira, N. Y., and Athens had exhausted the city water supply within a few minutes after they had arrived. The Elmira company was pumping from Packers Pond nearby.

Ambulances carried many of the patients to Waverly, 3 miles away, while others were taken to private homes in Sayre and some were given temporary rooms in a nearby church

Physicians and ambulances from Elmira and other cities volunteered their services.

The fire originated in a wooden part of the hospital under the men's section. The cause was not determined. The lighting system was put out of order soon after the blaze was discovered and the building was dark except for the blaze as the patients were taken out. Firemen feared heavy property losses.

Several explosions, apparently caused by chemicals, forced the firemen back as the high wind swept the fire through the huge structure, most of which was frame.

The building consists of several sections, one three stories high, one four stories and another five. At midnight the flames had spread to practically every part of the hospital. Firemen estimated that the loss would be between two and three million dollars.

Senate Votes District Fiscal Bill, Including $6,250,000 U. S. Funds

Bill Will Cause Few 30-Year Retirements

Veteran Federal Employes Can Not Be "Involuntarily" Separated From Service, Personnel Men Conclude After Reviewing Prospects.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Unless White House regulations are forthcoming, putting teeth in the furlough and 30-year retirement clauses carried in the independent offices bill, there will be practically no 30-year retirements under the new law, nor any revolutionary change in the furlough system.

This was the gist of conclusions reached by personnel officers of the various governmental agencies in conference yesterday at the Civil Service Commission, it was learned last night.

This semiofficial group, after analyzing the rewritten 30-year retirement clause, came to the conclusion that no 30-year employe could be "involuntarily" separated from the service without compliance with the existing law governing efficiency ratings.

Under that law 30-year employes are allowed 25 credits for seniority, which places them at the top of the list.

"That means probably that not more than a dozen or so of the 22,000 eligible 30-year employes will be retired under the clause substituted for the original compulsory retirement provision," said E. Claude Babcock, secretary of the Civil Service Commission.

The group further interpreted the so-called rotative furlough provision as not being "mandatory" on department heads, but merely "permissive."

NORRIS BILL PASSES FOR SEVENTH TIME

Measure Goes Over, 63 to 20, as Substitute for House Proposal.

(Associated Press.)

For the seventh time since the Government built its vast war-time power and nitrate projects at Muscle Shoals, the Senate yesterday passed the Norris bill for its operation by the Government with new provisions included to carry out President Roosevelt's power, navigation and flood-control development of the whole Tennessee Valley basis.

By the overwhelming vote of 63 to 20 the bill of Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, was sent over to the House as a substitute for the measure passed by that body April 25, and House leaders declared the two versions would be sent to conference for adjustment of differences.

"The Norris bill is not acceptable in its entirety to the House," said Chairman McSwain, of the House Military Committee, which drafted the House bill.

"It has to go to conference. There are vast differences between the two measures. We may not seek a conference at once, because we want to study the changes made in the Norris bill.

"I understand Senator Norris offered more than 35 amendments to his bill. These will have to be studied."

Only three Democrats—Coolidge, Gore and Tydings—and 17 Republicans voted against the Norris measure, while 48 Democrats, 14 Republicans and Shipstead (Farmer-Labor), of Minnesota, answered "Aye."

The major differences between the Senate and House measures relate to

Free State Drops British Crown Oath

De Valera's Long Fight to Eliminate Allegiance Is Successful.

Dublin, Irish Free State, May 3 (A.P.).—The oath of allegiance to the British Crown disappeared from the Irish Free State's constitution tonight with the formal signature of the governor general, thus culminating in success President Eamon de Valera's long battle for its removal.

The bill had passed the Dail Eireann earlier in the day by a vote of 76 to 56. Previously twice rejected by the Senate it became law notwithstanding through second passage by the Dail and assent of the governor general.

Conviction that the British government would consider the Anglo-Irish treaty setting up the Free State broken immediately the first person took his seat in the Dail without subscribing to the oath was expressed by Grattan Esmonde, supporter of former President Cosgrave.

INFLATION ENACTED BY HOUSE, 307-86

President Expected to Sign Farm Relief Bill Before Sunday.

(Associated Press.)

With a roaring chorus of ayes, piling up a vote of 307 to 86, the House yesterday approved the Roosevelt currency inflation plan and sent its parent, the big farm relief bill, to conference, with prospects of a Presidential signature by Saturday night.

The inflation rider, which now has complete congressional approval, will allow President Roosevelt among other things to expand currency and credit by as much as $6,000,000,000 in addition to altering the gold backing of the dollar by as much as 50 per cent.

Senate and House conferees will hold their first formal meeting today in an effort to agree upon several score of differences in the farm relief measure. Leaders hold hope of obtaining quick agreement in order that the legislation may be finally approved and sent to the White House by Saturday.

The administration is anxious that it be expedited so that it can be placed into immediate operation for the aid of farmers, hundreds of whom are threatened with the loss of their property.

Action came on the inflation amendment in the House yesterday after it disagreed to all Senate farm relief amendments and sent them to conference. Six hours of debate on the proposition was completed Tuesday night.

Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, chief opponent of the inflation proposition, demanded a separate vote on the expansion rider. Speaker Rainey had to consent under the rules, although it had been the Democratic plan to force a single vote on the entire bill.

Without further ado, the roll was called, 34 Republicans and 4 Farmer-Laborites joined 273 Democrats for the proposition. Seventy-nine Republicans and 7 Democrats—Black (New York), Claiborne (Missouri),

Mrs. G. A. McDowell Found Shot Dead

Wife of Retired Officer Is Discovered in Woods Near Annapolis.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 3.—With a .32-caliber bullet wound in her right temple, the body of Mrs. Grace A. McDowell, wife of Capt. Willis M. McDowell, U. S. N. (retired), was found early today in a clump of woodland near her home on South River. A pistol, with one empty chamber, was near the body.

Capt. McDowell found the body, which was clad only in a night dress and bath robe. He told police his wife had been suffering from nervous trouble, and it is thought she wandered away from home some time during the night. The body was discovered about 7:30 a. m. Dr. Albert Anderson said the woman had been dead at least two hours.

The revolver was a new one. Capt. McDowell said it did not belong to him. Police officials have been unable to find any one who heard a shot fired.

$35,000 to Install Traffic Lights Dropped.

SYSTEM HIT BY COUZENS

Eligible Teacher List Would Be Used for Temporary Posts

The Senate yesterday raced through the $29,585,805 District appropriations bill, approved recommendations broadening House allowances, then sent the liberalized measure back to the House where a conference battle is brewing.

Two significant changes were written into the bill in the 20 minutes debate preceding passage.

The first, sponsored by Senator James Couzens (Republican), Michigan, eliminated $35,000 for installation of electric traffic signals and controls.

The second, supported by Senator Sam G. Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, would force the Board of Education to make use of the eligible teacher list in appointing any temporary teachers.

Criticism by Couzens.

In moving to throw out all provision for additional traffic light installation, Senator Couzens, former mayor of Detroit and but recently named to the Senate District Committee, assailed the present traffic control system.

"Cities are going crazy about putting in these lights," he said.

"The District literally is plastered with them. It has come to the point where automobile drivers are being taught to rely on signs instead of their brains."

Chairman Elmer Thomas, of the Senate District Appropriations Committee, said he would not oppose the Couzens amendment as it appeared in the interest of economy. The $35,000 cut was agreed to.

Senator Bratton disclosed that the Teachers' Union and President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, had complained of the committee amendment permitting appointment of temporary teachers notwithstanding the eligible list of applicants established by examination.

More Pay for Commissioners.

His substitute amendment, approved immediately by the Senate, requires selection of temporary teachers from the eligible list, and gives unqualified preference in filling of vacancies to teachers now in the schools.

A minor amendment sponsored by Bratton and inserted in the bill would give District firemen the right to join the International Firefighters Association.

Committee amendments were offered from the floor by Chairman Thomas, including authorization for the Commissioners to shift funds in the schools, playgrounds, health, libraries and welfare departments, and a salary increase to $9,000 for the new Commissioners, which would be subject to the 15 per cent cut. All were agreed to as fast as they were offered.

Day Labor Employment.

Outstanding increases over the House figures provide for a lump-sum boost of from $5,700,000 to

BRATTON TO RESIGN TO BECOME JUDGE

New Mexico Senator, However, Will Remain Till End of Special Session.

Senator Bratton, of New Mexico, will resign from the Senate to become a judge of the Tenth Federal Circuit Court, but will not give up his legislative post until the end of the special session, he said yesterday.

The appointment was offered yesterday by President Roosevelt, who also asked him to remain in Washington until the emergency legislative program is out of the way. "I appreciate the President's confidence in me by tendering me the place and the honor he has bestowed upon me," Senator Bratton said. He has been a senator since 1925.

A new contender for the post of Undersecretary of the Treasury appeared yesterday when it was reported that Dean G. Acheson, of Connecticut and Washington, was in the running. Mr. Acheson will vie with George Radcliffe, of Baltimore, for the appointment, with Mr. Radcliffe in the lead. Definite assurance that the new undersecretary would be a Baltimore man have been given in informed circles here.

The Senate yesterday confirmed five nominations and held up two more for further study. Those confirmed were Hugh S. Gibson, now Ambassador to Belgium, as Ambassador to Brazil; Laurence A. Steinhardt as Minister to Sweden, Oscar L. Chapman as Second Assistant Secretary of the Interior, Jed C. Adams as member of the Board of Tax Appeals, and F. W. Peck as member of the Farm Board.

The nomination of Charles Wyzanski as solicitor of the Labor Department was recommitted to the Judiciary Committee after a favorable committee report had been received. Consideration of the nomination of J. F. T. O'Connor as Comptroller of the Treasury was also deferred on the request of Republican senators. Opposition to O'Connor has developed because of his lack of banking experience. He is a former law partner of Senator McAdoo.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, first woman Governor of Wyoming, was sworn in yesterday as Director of the Mint, receiving her commission from Secretary of the Treasury Woodin. Mrs. Ross, who also is vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, succeeds former Director R. J. Grant, who resigned to take a post with the Chinese government mint at Shanghai.

Death-Chair Show Halts Murder Case

Elderly Inventor Rebuked by Judge and Told to Leave Town.

Linden, Tex., May 3 (A.P.).—An elderly inventor displaying a model of an electric chair on the courthouse lawn interrupted today the murder trial of Paul Oakley, 20, self-styled divine healer of the Piney Hills.

Judge Harvey Hicks reprimanded the man, whose name was not taken, and ordered him to leave town.

Both prosecution and defense attorneys objected strenuously to the demonstration on the ground that members of the jury might have seen the chair and been unduly influenced.

The inventor said he had no ulterior motive and that he had displayed the exhibit "to teach bad boys what would happen to them if they were not good."

The defense then went on with its testimony intended to bear on Oakley's strange conduct about the time he was accused of choking Bernice Clayton, 3-year-old invalid, to death in an effort to cure her. Oakley has declared he devil told him to choke the child.

John Dixon, who lived near the Oakley family in Hopkins County, told of a hereditary trait of insanity in the family and also described a meeting in which he saw Mrs. J. J. Oakley, the defendant's mother, plunge her hands into flames from a torch and cry:

"Fire will not burn me; I am full of the Holy Ghost."

Government Is Adamant In Refusing to Pay Gold

The administration continued adamant yesterday in its refusal to pay foreign holders of Government securities in gold, despite cries from abroad that the refusal constituted a deliberate default in payment.

Answering this foreign sentiment was opinion here which upheld the stand of the Government. The greater part of Government bond issues—possibly as much as 96 per cent—is sold in this country. Domestic bondholders are not being paid in gold, and foreign gold payments would favor foreign investors over residents of the United States, it was held.

without thoughts of prosecution or punishment. In other words, I guarantee immunity to all of you if you will speedily get in touch with me and deliver my daughter back to me unharmed."

Suspect Is Released.

During the afternoon a man described as "a brava"—a common Cape Cod name for the dark-skinned natives of the Cape Verde Islands who are numerous along the cape—was taken into custody by the police for questioning, but was later released. The man, Frank Rodick, 45, was taken in charge because of a story that, while in the company of two white men yesterday, he bought 3 gallons of gasoline in a Harwick filling station. He denied any knowledge of the girl and said he bought the gasoline in payment for a ride. Police said the purchase was entirely a coincidence.

Detroit, May 3 (A.P.).—Detroit police today were engaged in tracing the movements of known gangsters believed to have a stake in the kidnaping racket in an effort to facilitate the search by Massachusetts authorities for the abductors of 10-year-old "Peggy" McMath.

Court Sends Boy to Hospital Despite Protests of Mother

Pittsburgh Humane Society Triumphs in Case of Child, 10, Afflicted With Spinal Disease; Woman Fights Deputy Over Son.

Pittsburgh, May 3 (A.P.).—The family and the State clashed today over the upbringing of the young—and Billy Lesic was sent to a hospital over the protests of his hysterical mother.

Acting on the petition of Humane Society officials, Judge Benjamin Lencher cited physicians' testimony that the child would die unless treated for tuberculosis of the spine, and ordered the boy to an institution.

Mrs. Mary Lesic, who removed Billy from a hospital some months ago, claiming she could treat him better than "those doctors," struggled with a deputy sheriff and screamed as the officer took the boy from her arms.

She refused to listen to the persuasion of the judge, who said, "I would like to see you cooperate with us and see that your boy gets a chance."

Mrs. Lesic replied: "All the doctors tell me that he will be a cripple for life. Why shouldn't he be at home, playing with his brother and sister. I took him from a hospital like a skeleton. He has gained weight; sleeps at night; plays around. He is much better."

The judge finally ordered the deputy to take the child. A special room has been provided for the boy at a hospital.

Wheat Control Discussed.

Yesterday the Argentine and American experts discussed the phase of international wheat control which has heretofore presented the greatest single problem in the rehabilitation of the price of wheat. However, an agreement among the consuming countries, chiefly in continental Europe, will also be necessary before any great or far-reaching agreement can be reached here. This will be undertaken at the wheat conference, scheduled for the latter part of May and which will subsequently be absorbed in the work of the economic conference. American delegates headed by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., are now en route to Geneva for the preparatory meeting.

At today's meeting of the experts of the two republics, the implications of the Anglo-Argentine trade agreement will be taken up. It was learned here yesterday that Secretary Hull regards the London-Buenos Aires agreement as another indication of the tightly drawn lines of nationalistic tariffs, which are to be outlawed if the London conference is to be a success.

Hope for Agreement.

Closer study of the Anglo-Argentine trade agreement has increased the hope of a more favorable trade agreement between Buenos Aires and this country because of the monopoly of benefits for the British government that is contained in the agreement. Argentine official circles here regard the agreement as a mere consolidation of the British commercial position in the Argentine, with little if any corresponding advantage to the Argentines.

The rehabilitation of Italian industry was explained by the Italian minister of finances yesterday, although he deprecated his ability to explain all the features of the measure in a few words. He referred to the important public works program, which in the conception of Premier Mussolini was realized in the reclamation of the famous Pontine Marshes and other similar works throughout the country. This process naturally was the result of a far-sighted plan of governmental control of industry, to which Great Britain and the United States in a lesser degree seem to be tending.

On the problem of revision of treaties, to which many observers believe the Italian delegation at all future conferences will be committed, the Italian minister declared cryptically:

"We believe that there is some other way of solving such a problem besides putting extra weights on the safety valve."

Judge Carpenter Quits Federal District Bench

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—U. S. District Judge George A. Carpenter resigned today. Senior jurist of the Federal court of this district, he sent his resignation to President Roosevelt, to become effective June 30. He will be 67 years old next October.

To his friends Judge Carpenter said: "On the coming of June I shall have completed a continuous service of 27 years on the bench, 23 of them in my present position as United States district judge. I feel the ravages of time, and at my age am disinclined to carry on the daily routine of judicial work, and assume the necessary burden of decision in important cases."

Witness Declares Lynch Cry Shouted

Iowa National Guard Officers Question Prisoners in Outrage on Court.

Le Mars, Iowa, May 3 (A.P.).—One of three eyewitnesses to the abduction and threatened hanging of District Judge C. C. Bradley told a military court today he had heard some of the 150 to 200 men who dragged the judge from his courtroom shout: "Get a rope. Let's hang him."

At the same time, the witness testified, others in the mob tossed a rope over a telegraph pole and fastened it around the jurist's neck.

The three men told their story as the court-martial began sifting evidence against more than 100 farmers arrested in connection with last week's riots.

They said they would be able to identify several members of the mob and one, who said he had lived about Le Mars several years, said he was positive the truck in which the judge was transported to the scene of the threatened hanging was from Merrill, a town near here.

The four National Guard officers comprising the military court worked in groups of two, questioning the prisoners and witnesses individually, while court reporters took the testimony in shorthand.

Seeker of Missing Link Dies at 59 in Russia

Moscow, May 3 (A.P.).—Ilya Ivanovitch Ivanov, Soviet professor of experimental biology, has died without having obtained any positive results in his efforts to interbreed apes with the human species, it was learned here today.

The eminent scientist, who had sought by his racial experiment to establish the "missing link" in the origin of the human race, died of natural causes four months ago at Tashkent, aged 59.

CHAMBER SOUNDS WARNING ON TARIFF

termined what recommendations he will make to the special session of Congress touching the transfer of tariff-fixing powers to the Executive.

Control Idea Changed.

Under plans discussed by administration leaders a week ago, it was intended to delegate to the President the complete flexible powers now vested in the United States Tariff Commission.

Official discussion of the subject at the White House yesterday indicated clearly that this plan has been abandoned. It appeared also that the President may not present the matter at all in the special session.

The White House is anxious to have Congress complete its emergency legislative program as soon as possible after June 1. The tariff authority has been discussed as a possible instrument of negotiation in the London economic conference. Some of the President's most influential political advisers now have come to the conclusion that ample authority to negotiate already rests with the Executive. Congress is in no mood to transfer to the White House carte blanche over tariff rates as was contemplated in the original administration program. But this authority still is demanded by some of Mr. Roosevelt's economic advisers.

In presenting its report on executive tariff negotiation and reciprocity treaties, a special foreign trade committee of the Chamber of Commerce said in part:

"Your committee recommends, therefore, that should our Congress authorize negotiation with foreign countries as to reciprocal tariff reductions, no exercise be made of such authority until such time as the Congress has passed legislation adequate to protect American industries against competition from countries with depreciated currencies, or until such time as there has been such substantial restoration of currencies to the gold standard as will eliminate the present threat to domestic industries from these debased currencies.

"Your committee further recommends that our Government hold to the view that changes to compensate for currency depreciation are an admissable exception to most favored nation treatment."

Roosevelt Cancels Plan For Broadcast Tonight

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt yesterday ordered plans for broadcasting his address to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States tonight canceled.

Officials of the chamber had arranged for a broadcast from 10 to 10:30 o'clock tonight. Advised of the plan, the President asked that it be canceled.

The reason given was that the Chief Executive, who is expected to give the business men an outline of reflation plans of the Government, would speak extemporaneously.

The broadcast was canceled.

George A. Leissler Dead in Virginia

Former Gardener to Queen Victoria Is Survived by Wife and Two Sons.

Funeral services for George A. Leissler, 75, who died at his home on Lee highway, East Falls Church, Tuesday morning, will be conducted from the home today at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery, Falls Church.

Mr. Leissler was born in Darmstadt, Germany. After serving as an apprentice in nursery and landscape gardening and two years in the imperial German coast artillery, he followed his vocation in Darmstadt on the estate of the Grand Duke of Hesse. He later took care of the park at the summer castle of the late Czar of Russia. After a visit in France and England, he was selected as head gardener for Queen Victoria.

In 1888 he came to America and settled in Washington, and in 1895 married Miss Annie B. Grigsby, moving to Arlington County in 1900.

He was one of the first to underwrite $10,000 worth of bonds for roads in Virginia and was a director of a number of District of Columbia banks.

He was the possessor of George Washington's Masonic watch.

Besides his wife, Mr. Leissler is survived by two sons, George A. Leissler, jr., and J. Fred Leissler.

New Justice Spirit Is Cummings Ideal

Tells Judicature Society of Plans to Convince All Law Is Friend.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings hopes to "breathe a new spirit" into the Department of Justice.

Saying that a strained attitude between many citizens and the Government had resulted from oppressive laws, he declared at the Mayflower Hotel banquet of the American Judicature Society that he hoped to bring to the public the idea that the law was their friend and servant.

The Attorney General was introduced by Newton D. Baker, president of the society, who was heard earlier in the day at the society's annual meeting.

Problems of delay, uncertainty and length of litigation which choke the administration of justice were discussed by Prof. Edson Sunderland, of the University of Michigan.

CAPTAINS OF TRADE FOR UNITED ACTION

Harriman and Swope Urge Capital, Labor and U. S. to Get Together.

(Associated Press.)

Leaders of industry were called upon yesterday in speeches by two of their chieftains—Henry I. Harriman and Gerard Swope—to cooperate voluntarily to the end of coordinating production and consumption, stabilizing employment, limiting working hours and agreeding on minimum wage schedules.

The two spoke before the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Harriman, president of the organization, said he was confident present economic problems would vanish if trade associations were permitted to confer with labor and the Government to promulgate rules governing pay, prices, hours of operation and the creation of accident, sickness and old age reserves.

Swope, head of the General Electric Co., said the public attitude and all evidences of legislation indicated that if industry could move toward self-imposed regulation, it would be permitted to demonstrate what it could do.

"If industry does not see its opportunity and embrace it, it will be done from without," he said.

"The alternative is not shall it be done, but by whom shall it be done.

"Who Shall Do It?" He Asks.

"Shall it be done by the Government with its necessarily more rigid procedure and therefore less efficiently, or shall it be done by industry itself, which knows its problems intimately, taking the initiative and leadership, with the cooperation of the Government, to see that the public interest is protected?"

He proposed that each trade association or chamber of commerce require that its membership subscribe to a code of ethics governing "fair competition;" that they adopt a uniform system of cost accounting and uniform periodical reports to the Federal Government and their stockholders; that the members of each association adopt cooperative plans for the protection of their employes; that each association endeavor to stabilize employment, by requiring that each member either give assurance of employment or build up reserves for periods of unemployment, to be contributed to by both employe and employer.

Could Plan Future.

This done, Swope said, the association would ask the Government for recognition of its organization and that the members might agree on the coordination of production and consumption with an opportunity for the Government to review the acts and agreements of association members.

"Trade associations developed along such lines, under constructive leadership, would be a real force in shaping industry to the service of the public, be in advance of the demands of public opinion, if necessary ask for legislation on recalcitrant minorities and promote consumption on fair and reasonable lines," he said.

"If in these various national trade associations the public interest is recognized, then by grouping them together we might some day look forward to a national economic council, which can interpret developments and trends and lay out policies along the lines of experience and with some imagination and courage for the future."

Securities Regulation Bill Is Reintroduced

(Associated Press.)

The redrafted administration securities regulation bill was reintroduced in the House yesterday by Chairman Rayburn, of the Interstate Commerce Committee, and Democratic leaders set aside tomorrow and Saturday for its consideration.

Revamped in many important phases and somewhat strengthened, the measure carries out President Roosevelt's idea of publicity for all securities and provides machinery for strict enforcement of the law against fraudulent issues.

66 Nations Are Bidden To EconomicConference

Geneva, May 3 (A.P.).—Invitations to send representatives to the world economic conference in London June 12 were sent today by the secretary general of the League of Nations to 66 countries, 56 of which are league members.

Roosevelt Is Described As "Master Politician"

St. Louis, May 3 (A.P.).—President Franklin D. Roosevelt was described as a master politician in an address today by Charles G. Ross, chief Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and president of the Gridiron Club, before the League of Women Voters here.

"Mr. Roosevelt is a showman, in the best sense," Ross said. "His smile is worth 1,000,000 votes. He is an opportunist, also in a good sense. Like a football captain, he must determine his next play from the success of the last. He is experimenting, boldly, and his willingness to try things is approved, I believe, by a people who had soured on inaction."

MAY 14 PROCLAIMED U. S. MOTHER'S DAY

Roosevelt Asks Measures for Those in Need of Life Necessities.

Calling on the Nation to celebrate Mother's Day this year by taking measures for the relief of mothers and children in need of the necessities of life, President Roosevelt yesterday proclaimed Sunday, May 14, as the day of widespread reverence for motherhood.

The President called attention to a joint resolution of Congress requesting him to dedicate this Mothers' Day especially to those in need.

The full text of the proclamation:

Whereas by House joint resolution 263, approved and signed by President Wilson on May 8, 1914, the second Sunday in May of each year has been designated as Mother's Day for the expression of our love and reverence for the mothers of our country; and

Whereas Senate resolution 16, adopted May 1, 1933, states that "there are throughout our land today an unprecedentedly large number of mothers and dependent children who, because of unemployment or loss of their bread earners, are lacking many of the necessities of life," and the President of the United States is therein authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling these matters to the attention of our citizens on Mother's Day this year;

Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me, do hereby issue my proclamation calling upon our citizens to express on Mother's Day, Sunday, May 14, 1933, our love and reverence for motherhood:

(a) By the customary display of the United States flag on all Government buildings, homes and other suitable places;

(b) By the usual tokens and messages of affection to our mothers; and

(c) By doing all that we can through our churches, fraternal and welfare agencies for the relief and welfare of mothers and children who may be in need of the necessities of life.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 2d day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-seventh.

(Seal.) FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

By the President;
CORDELL HULL,
Secretary of State.

30-YEAR EMPLOYES SAFER UNDER ORDER

and as such not likely to be generally placed in use unless specifically ordered by the President.

It was authoritatively said that the only thing the proposal definitely does is to repeal section 216 of the legislative appropriations act, thus permitting discharges as well as furloughs, where necessary to keep within appropriations.

In view of specific provision for the President to draft rules and regulations looking to uniform furlough action by the heads of the various Federal agencies, the new furlough proposal may be given more force if the White House acts.

Discussing the new 30-year retirement clause, following his conference with personnel officers, Mr. Babcock said retirements under this provision are not likely to exceed those under the present law.

Dismissals Appear Small.

The number of employes who would be dropped appears so small that no exact estimate could be made, he said. The proportion dropped would be about .00033, or thirty-three one-hundred thousandths per year, he estimated.

That would mean that only seven out of the total of 21,927 are likely to be retired, he said.

The efficiency rating system under which employes are allowed .1 of a point for one year of Government service, and a graduated scale of additional credits until they receive 25 for 25 or more years in the Government, was set up in June, 1925, on order of the late President Coolidge.

On this basis, a Federal employe, who after 30 years in the service only earned an efficiency rating of 65, would nevertheless receive 25 more credits for seniority, giving him a total rating of 90.

30-Year Employes "Safe."

This makes it practically impossible to force a 30-year employe out of the service for lack of efficiency, according to Mr. Babcock. Incidentally he favors the repeal of this seniority rating system.

A study of one Federal agency having 32 employes, nine of which were 30-year employes, was made by Mr. Babcock. It showed that on the basis of earned efficency the 30-year group was below average, he said.

But under the present law and the pending proposal before the House, the man who actually was tenth in earned efficiency out of all 32 in the office would be the first let out, whereas most of the 30-year group would stand near the top of the list.

Little General Operation.

As separations under the new law only can be made on an efficiency rating basis and, according to State apportionment, personnel officers see virtually no likelihood that the 30-year retirement provisions will be placed in general operation.

The House Appropriations Committee, which yesterday decided to bring the third deficiency bill before the House ahead of the independent offices measure, may not get House action on the new furlough and retirement proposals before early next week.

HARRIMAN ACCUSED AT BANKING INQUIRY

Senators Told Nearly All Directors Were in Stock-Purchasing Pool.

(Associated Press.)

A Senate investigating committee was told yesterday that Joseph W. Harriman misappropriated funds of the Harriman National Bank & Trust Co. to conceal an allegedly illegal loan for purchase of the bank's stock for a pool participated in by most of its directors.

Henry E. Cooper, who succeeded Harriman as president of the big New York bank, said that 25 of the 27 directors were in the pool, but insisted he did not know whether they were aware of irregularities.

Cooper testified that Harriman was manager of the pool and that other participants did not necessarily know of its operations, but under persistent questioning said none of them had put up any money to join it.

Chairman Stephens announced the committee would go further into this sensational development which came at the end of a long day's inquiry into delay in prosecuting Harriman.

Earlier, Treasury officials testified the delay was accorded on assurance that the New York Clearing House would protect depositors in the bank and expressed the view that association was legally liable for all losses in the bank.

F. G. Awalt, acting Comptroller of the Currency, told the committee no clearing house banks were "morally and legally bound" to make up every cent lost by depositors and disclosed his office might file suit to force them to do so.

Cooper, who is now conservator of the closed bank, volunteered the story of the loan. He explained he thought the commitee had a misconception of what Harriman had done.

Harriman, Cooper said, was buying stock in the bank for himself, for the Harriman Securities Co., which he headed, and for the pool participated in by the bank directors.

Running short of funds, he borrowed money from the bond department of the bank illegally, Cooper said, and when the bank examiner came around temporarily transferred funds from depositors' accounts to conceal these loans. When the examiner left Harriman restored the funds to the depositors, Cooper added.

"He did not specifically thieve the money," Cooper explained to the committee. "There may have been a loss, but Harriman did not directly take that money and steal it."

"Is that much different from the bank clerk who takes money and intends to put it back?" Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, asked.

"I am not defending it," Cooper said hurriedly. "I condemn it from top to bottom."

Control of Dollar Is Felt in England

U. S. and French Money Move in Narrower Range in London.

London, May 3 (A.P.).—Official control aimed at keeping the American dollar and the French franc from the erratic fluctuations which characterized dealings immediately after America left gold, has been evident in the exchange market in the last few days, market authorities said today.

The dollar and the franc moved today within comparatively narrow ranges. The dollar closed at $3.91½ to the pound, against an opening of $3.89½.

The operations of the British government's equalization fund are a closely-guarded secret, but dealers believe it is working in New York and Paris as well as in London.

The Financial Times and the financial editor of the Morning Post attacked the United States policy of not permitting gold movements to pay interest in gold to foreign holders of American bonds.

These critics asserted the United States had been guilty of breach of contract.

Mother of President Honored by Huguenots

Collegeville, Pa., May 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, mother of the President, was presented with a gold cross today by members of the Huguenot Society of Pennsylvania, meeting at Ursinus College.

At the same time his mother was being honored as a descendant of the Huguenots, the society's annual meeting heard a message from President Roosevelt, in which he said that courage in the face of adversity is needed today.

DISTRICT FUND BILL IS PASSED BY SENATE

$6,250,000, an increase in the emergency relief allowance of from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000, an increase in the fund for street and bridge construction from $1,040,000 to $1,500,000 and $876,000 for construction of four new schools.

An additional $50,000 was inserted in the bill for the employment of day labor in the improvement of grounds surrounding 217 school buildings and a $25,000 increase was approved for repairs to school buildings. Funds were provided for commencing construction of Calvert Street Bridge.

The District was relieved of the obligation of paying back to the Federal Treasury $1,000,000 due for the purchase of park lands.

Conferees Are Named.

Senator Hugo L. Black (Democrat), Alabama, at the last minute withdrew his amendment requiring the Government to purchase goods produced only by labor working six hours a day and 30 hour a week. He said the proposal will be laid instead before the House Labor Committee, now considering the 30-hour-week bill, which already has passed the Senate.

Senate conferees on the District bill were named at once, headed by Chairman Thomas. The House today will appoint conferees, probably headed by House Appropriations Chairman James P. Buchanan, or Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri.

Representative Buchanan has indicated he will oppose many of the Senate changes in conference, charging that the $706,000 reduction claimed by the Senate under House figures "is nothing but camouflage." He contends the measure actually has been increased about $2,500,000 through use of unexpended balances.

DEPRIEST ATTACKS LOWELL'S CENSURE

House Action Providing for Investigation of Judge Called Premature.

(Associated Press.)

Representative DePriest, Negro Republican of Illinois, criticized the House yesterday for its "premature" action in adopting a resolution providing for an investigation of the conduct of Federal Judge James A. Lowell, of Boston, in freeing George Crawford, a Negro, under indictment in Virginia for murder.

The resolution was adopted last week and called upon the Judiciary Committee of the House to make the investigation. The resolution was introduced by Representative Smith (Democrat), of Virginia, after he had risen to a question of constitutional privileges and impeached Judge Lowell on his own responsibility.

Proposes Amendment.

DePriest declared the House should not have acted on the resolution until the appeal of the State of Massachusetts from Judge Lowell's decision has been settled.

At the conclusion of his speech, DePriest introduced a resolution to amend the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, which would give Federal courts authority to transfer a case to a court in another State, when it determined that the defendant would not be granted a fair trial in the State, in which the offense was committed, because of race prejudice.

Asks Square Deal.

"All I'm asking for is a fair deal for the colored race," said DePriest. "If we are good enough to fight for this country, we're good enough to enjoy its citizenship."

"No member from the State of Virginia," he shouted, "can rise on this floor and say that any Negro has served on a jury in Virginia in the last quarter of a century, whether petit jury or grand jury."

"If Crawford is guilty," DePriest added, "he should be punished, but for God's sake indict him with a legally drawn grand jury."

Treasury Invites Offer For Short-Term Bills

Secretary Woodin yesterday invited tenders of $75,000,000 of 91-day bills to be sold to the highest bidder Monday.

The bills will be dated May 10, and mature August 9, when they will be redeemed at face value. The money derived from the sale of the bills will be used to retire an equal amount which mature May 10.

King Is Confident Of Naval Aviation

Moffett's Successor Sees "Record and Tradition" as Future Guarantee.

(Associated Press.)

Confidence in a continuation of Navy aviation's "record and tradition of achievement" was expressed yesterday by Rear Admiral Ernest J. King upon his assumption of duties as Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics.

King, whose home is in Annapolis, Md., and who is a native of Lorain, Ohio, succeeds the late Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, who lost his life in the crash of the airship Akron.

In a statement at the time the oath was administered, King paid tribute to his predecessor, asserting "No one can actually fill the place that was peculiarly his in naval aviation."

American Is Victim Of Mexican Shooting

(Associated Press.)

The death of an American citizen, Frank Nations, in Mexico from gunfire wounds was reported yesterday to the State Department.

The department said the American consul at Ciudad Juarez, William P. Blocker, had received a telegraphic report that the body of Nations, an American living in Colonia, Pacheco, Chihuahua, was found on April 28. Mexican authorities were reported to be searching for the slayer.

KANSAS PAVES WAY TO VOTE ON REPEAL

Murray Vetoes Bill for Convention as Pinchot Signs Similar One.

Topeka, Kans., May 3 (A.P.).—Gov. Alf M. Landon announced today he would call a special session of the Kansas Legislature to provide for a referendum on repeal of the eighteenth amendment, whenever a majority of the lawmakers agree publicly to enact the necessary legislation and to pay their own expenses incident to the session.

In a statement, he reiterated his personal opposition to repeal.

Oklahoma City, May 3 (A.P.).—Gov. William H. Murray today vetoed a joint House resolution providing for State conventions to consider the proposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Holding the act passed by the recent Legislature contained "unconstitutional flaws," Murray said he could not approve it in its present form.

The governor's action means the repeal question can make no further headway in Oklahoma until January, 1935, when the next Legislature is to meet, unless a special session is called before then to consider it.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 3 (A.P.).—Gov. Pinchot today signed the bill providing for a State convention to act on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It provides for the election of 15 delegates at large.

The governor also signed the bill for the control of manufacture and sale of beer, over which there was a long fight in the Legislature. He announced he would sign on Friday the bill levying a tax of $1.24 a barrel, or half a cent a bottle, on 3.2 beverages.

Raleigh, N. C., May 3 (A.P.).—The House today passed a bill to hold an election in November to decide whether the State shall have a convention to consider the Blaine resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment. Delegates to the proposed convention would be elected at the same time. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Dover, Del., May 3 (A.P.).—Three point two beer can be legally manufactured and sold in Delaware after 9 a. m. tomorrow. This was made possible today, Gov. C. Douglass Buck signing a bill to legalize and regulate the brewing and selling of beer.

QUEEN SHENANDOAH CHEERED AT FESTIVAL

title of sovereign of the famed Shenandoah-Potomac-Cumberland belt of Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania where 13,000,000 apple trees are in full blossom.

After promising in her oath that she would to the utmost of her power "command equity and mercy in all judgments," R. Gray Williams, of Winchester, as minister of the crown, declared her ruling sovereign in the name of the House of Shenandoah. Rev. Robert B. Nelson, as prelate of the church, bestowed the blessing of the church on the sovereign, and Mayor Anderson presented her majesty with a golden apple, the sign of plenty, and the "key to the city's heart."

Heavily overcast skies gave threat of rain as a detail of trumpeters from Massanutten Military Academy heralded the approach of the royal party. But as the royal party came to the esplanade the clouds broke and a beam of sunshine lighted the beautiful coronation spectacle.

Preceding Miss May to the throne were 32 princesses from girls' schools of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, and a detail of Massanutten Military Academy Cadets in full dress uniform. Garland girls from Handley High School spread apple blossom petals in the path of the queen as she approached the throne accompanied by the crown bearer, Miss Elizabeth Beverley, of Winchester; the train bearers, Miss Jean Marie Robinson and Miss Frances Ryan, also of Winchester; the maids of honor, Miss Mary Warden Boyd, of Winchester, and Miss Westwood Beverley Byrd, of Berryville; the Mayor of Winchester, Dr. Charles R. Anderson; the minister of the crown, R. Gray Williams; the prelate of the church, the Rev. Mr. Nelson, and Secretary of War George Dern.

Miss May was charming in a conventional royal gown of darker shade of pink, with train five yards in length. Her maids of honor were dressed in green mousseline de soie, with close fitting hats and veils. The crown bearer and train bearers were attired similarly to the maids of honor. Princesses of the court wore white mousseline de soie eyelet embroidered dresses on eggshell foundation, and the queen's chorus, an ensemble from the Harrisonburg State Teachers College, were lovely in Grecian robes of orchid and gold.

Through an arch of swords formed by the Massanutten Military Academy Cadets, Queen Shenandoah, Secretary Dern and the queen's court paraded to the stand, where they reviewed the pageant, "In Springtime," presented by 1,000 members of the faculty and student body of Winchester schools' pupils in honor of the newly crowned queen.

The coronation of Miss May officially opened the festival, which unofficially began at noon with a round of social events. Ambassador and Mrs. May and their two daughters arrived at noon to witness the coronation and the May party was the luncheon guests of City Councilman and Mrs. W. Nelson Page. Secretary and Mrs. Dern arrived about the same time, the former being the luncheon guest of Mrs. William E. Cooper, chairman of the fete's executive committee, while Mrs. Dern was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Page.

With sections of the streets roped off, the fete visitors planned general gayety tonight. A "mummers parade," sponsored by volunteer firemen, was held at 7 o'clock and several apple blossom dances later in the evening.

Tomorrow at 11 a. m. the pageant will be repeated for festival guests. At noon the queen and her court will be officially entertained at luncheon and at 2 p. m. the grand feature parade, "the trail of the pink petals," will take place. The line of march will be more than 5 miles in length. At 9 p. m. the queen's ball in Shenandoah Valley Academy will officially bring the festival to a close.

REPORTS ARE HEARD BY COLONIAL DAMES

Delegates Today to Visit Gunston Hall, Home of George Mason.

Reports covering historical research, preservation of historical records, the celebration of the George Washington Bicentennial and activities of State units in various sections of the country were made yesterday at the twenty-first biennial council of the National Society, Colonial Dames of America, meeting at the Carlton Hotel.

The council was entertained last night at a reception in the club of the Colonial Dames, on New Hampshire avenue, near Dupont Circle, given by the Washington unit of the society.

Tonight they will attend an illustrated lecture at the Carlton on the history of the States. The lecture, which is being sponsored by the patriotic service committee of the organization, has been presented in schools all over the country.

Tomorrow afternoon the delegates will visit Gunston Hall, the home of George Mason, author of the Virginia Bill of Rights. Louis Hertle, former owner of the house, has deeded it to the State of Virginia, in custody of the Colonial Dames. He will conduct the delegates through it.

Ohio's Last Real D.A.R. Succumbs at 91 Years

New Lexington, Ohio, May 3 (A.P.).—Ohio's last "real daughter of the American Revolution," Mrs. Marie Storts Allen, 91, died yesterday. She was the daughter of John Jacob Storts, who joined George Washington's Colonial Army when he was 11 years old. Her husband served in the Civil War.

Mrs. Allen was said to have been one of only five living women whose fathers served in the Revolutionary War. Her father was 82 when she was born here, the fifth child of Storts' second wife. He died when Marie was 7.

McKeeHeads Bank, Spurning Politics

Hopes of Anti-Tammany on Mayoralty Contest Are Dashed.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Joseph V. McKee, whom anti-Tammany forces hoped to elect mayor in November, retired from politics today to head the Title Guarantee & Trust Co.

"This step marks complete elimination of myself from politics and Governmental office," his statement said.

In Washington, where he had gone to deliver an address, the outspoken Tammany critic was asked if the retirement meant he was "disgusted with politics."

"You're telling me!" he replied, without trace of a smile.

Ever since the reticent McKee took over the reins of the metropolis, upon the resignation of James J. Walker as mayor, he had been the chief hope of anti-Tammany forces.

Former United States Representative Fiorello LaGuardia, Republican candidate for mayor in 1929, who recently said he would support McKee if the latter would run on an anti-Tammany ticket, announced tonight he would issue a statement in a few days. He is considered a possible mayoralty candidate.

PARIS PLANS SURTAX ON AMERICAN GOODS

Would Impose Levy of 15 Per Cent When Dollar Goes to 20 Francs.

Paris, May 3 (A.P.).—Clinging stubbornly to gold in the face of President Roosevelt's dictatorial monetary powers and the battle between the dollar and the British pound, the French government is planning a 15 per cent surtax on American goods should the dollar go as low as 20 francs.

A decree imposing the surtax has been drawn up and is ready for signature. Similar measures already are effective against British and Japanese goods, against which France considered former tariff measures ineffective because of the depreciation in British and Japanese currency.

The currency problem comes at a time when the question of the budget is pressing. Premier Edouard Daladier will have his hands full in both the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies during consideration of the budget the next few weeks.

The Senate, which starts the debate tomorrow, is strong for deflation in expenses, while the chamber, more inflationist in tendency, will fight strenuously against further cuts.

French holders of American bonds are urging the government to protest to Washington because their coupons will not be payable in gold. The financial press says the Government is likely to intervene and remarks that French bonds held in the United States are being paid in gold as stipulated. Two Government issues due June 1 will be honored in this manner.

Only a few American bonds are held in France. It is reported that a large percentage of those owned by Frenchmen have been deposited in New York and Switzerland to evade the French government's 18 per cent tax.

Two Texas Felons Die Trying to Rush Guards

Sugarland, Tex., May 3 (A.P.).—Two convicts were shot to death at the Harlem State Prison farm near here today when they attempted to rush two guards and gain possession of their guns. The convicts were C. A. Roby, serving five years for robbery from El Paso County, and E. A. Bragg, serving 50 years from Bexar County for robbery by assault.

They were shot by Guards Frank Harris and B. G. Humphrey, who were superintending the work of several squads of convicts hoeing cotton.

Florida Suspect Admits Baltimore Holdup Part

Orlando, Fla., May 3 (A.P.).—An officer arrived today to take back to Baltimore 19-year-old Troy Boyd, said by police to have confessed to participating in the robbery of two buses there April 20.

Boyd also was questioned about the fatal shooting of a policeman shortly after the robbery. Police said his signed confession implicated as the slayer Kenneth Lewis, who committed suicide rather than submit to arrest in West Virginia.

Japan Elevates Muto To Field Marshal Rank

Tokyo, May 3 (A.P.).—Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto, commander in chief of the Japanese armies in Manchuria, has been promoted to the rank of field marshal, it was announced today.

It was understood the reason was to prevent his retirement upon reaching the age of 65 July 15. This is the mandatory retirement age for generals. There is no age limit for field marshals.

Police Hunt Gang In Street Holdup

Several Men Said to Have Been in Car in Which Robber Escaped.

Police are searching for several young men in connection with the holdup and robbery of $760 from Miss Margaret B. Hardy, 37, Eastern High School teacher, as she was entering the East Capitol street branch of the Washington Mechanics Savings Bank Tuesday afternoon. J. T. Conley, 26, arrested about eight hours after the holdup, is being held in connection with the case.

Detectives said $175 was found on Conley, and after several hours questioning he allegedly confessed taking part in the robbery. Joseph O'Connell and Evelyn Jordon, who were questioned in the case, were released yesterday afternoon.

According to witnesses, an armed man dashed up to Miss Hardy as she was entering the bank to deposit the money, snatched her bag and escaped in a car waiting at the curb.

M'DONALD GREETED ON LONDON RETURN

Prime Minister Declares He Is "Bucked Up" After Parleys Here.

London, May 3 (A.P.).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald returned to London today "bucked up" by his talks with President Roosevelt in Washington and ready to face a gathering storm of political revolt within his national government.

This revolt, centering on tariff issues, may assist rather than hinder him in bringing Britain around to support of the American proposal for a world tariff truce throughout the world economic conference.

This is the view of some of Mr. MacDonald's supporters, who look upon the present wrangling in the House of Commons over the new trade pacts with Germany, Denmark and Argentina as a possible way out Britain's tariff controversy.

In the view of these commentators this conflict has resulted in increasing dissatisfaction both to tariff diehards and to free traders, and even threatens a blow at the foundations of the National Government should Walter Runciman, Liberal president of the Board of Trade, who negotiated the pacts resign from the Cabinet.

Mr. MacDonald received a double welcome on his return from the United States. There was a crowd on the dock at Southampton when the Berengaria arrived, and the Prime Minister was cheered enthusiastically. He was cheered again a few hours later when he and his daughter, Ishbel, reached Waterloo Station in London.

"I'm quite delighted to be back in London and am quite bucked up with the result of the mission," the Prime Minister said.

He reported that in Washington he found a striking demonstration of cooperative good will to which the problems facing the world must yield. He denied, incidentally, that he had invited President Roosevelt to come to London for the world economic conference.

Kelly Field Student Flier Dies in Crash

San Antonio, Tex., May 3 (A.P.).—Cadet Herman Stearns Davis, Kelly Field cadet, was injured fatally today when his pursuit plane crashed near Helotes, Tex. He died at the base hospital, Fort Sam Houston.

Davis was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Herman Davis, Pittsburgh, Pa. He graduated from Carnegie Tech in 1931 with a degree in mechanical engineering.

Retired Manufacturer Found Dead in Ruins

Redington, Pa., May 3 (A.P.).—The body of William J. Redington, 75-year-old retired manufacturer, was found today in the flame-swept ruins of the superintendent's house on the grounds of the Carter Junior Republic, a discontinued school for boys.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the structure last night. The victim was a brother of the founder of the school, Mrs. William T. Clark, Philadelphia philanthropist.

Copper Magnate Lands in U. S.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Fernand Pisart, Belgian copper magnate, arrived from Europe today "to discuss copper only in a general way." The main purpose of his trip, he said, was to look after business in Canada and keep in touch with economic developments in the United States.

'Tarzan' and 'Barzan' Win Zoo Jaguar Name Contest

"Tarzan" and "Barzan."

Those are the official names of the two baby jaguars at the Zoo, as finally selected yesterday by the judges in The Post-Fox Theater naming contest, in which more than 7,000 names were submitted.

Owing to the abundance of good names submitted, the judges at the Fox Theater found their job a difficult task.

Miss P. E. Marshall, 3620 Sixteenth street northwest, submitted the winning names, and will receive the $25 cash prize. The ten runners-up for the cash prize will receive pairs of tickets to the Fox Theater, where "Zoo in Budapest" is now playing. These names and the persons submitting them are as follows:

"Buda" and "Pest," submitted by Mary Mathis, 1903 N street northwest.

"Zooborn" and "Zoobred," submitted by E. F. Naulty, Room 1015 New House Office Building.

"Snap" and "Growler," submitted by Miss Viola Dickinson, 1816 N street northwest.

"Jag" and "You Are," submitted by Archie Rice, 2000 H street northwest.

"Stars" and "Stripes," submitted by Jean Allen, 5812 Thirty-second street northwest.

"Lanoo" and "Zazoo," submitted by Katherine H. Bobbitt, 1654 Newton street northwest.

"Moby" and "Toby," submitted by Mrs. E. E. Watkins, 4115 Wisconsin avenue.

Sheriff Forcibly Feeds Arizona Holdup Suspect

Globe, Ariz., May 3 (A.P.).—Acting on advice of physicians, Sheriff Charles Byrne started a forced feeding program for Harry Wells, suspected of being one of the two robbers disguised with green grease "masks," who robbed the Valley Bank here of $34,000 recently. Wells has refused to eat or talk since his arraignment here Monday on robbery charges.

A pint and a half of milk, two eggs and an ounce of whisky were administered to him today through a rubber tube by two husky deputy sheriffs.

Deputies Cheer as Balbo Tells of Fair Hop Plans

Rome, May 3 (A.P.).—The whole Chamber of Deputies rose to its feet to applaud today when Air Minister Italo Balbo, presenting the $27,000,000 aviation budget, announced that preparations for a flight of twenty seaplanes to Chicago this summer were nearing completion.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

AS it turns out is IS a camping trip that Miss Joan Blondell, blonde siren of the cinema who headlines the stage bill at the Earle beginning tomorrow, and her husband, George Barnes, one of Hollywood's most expert cameramen, are on. To be sure, they haven't had a chance to camp anywhere yet, but it is a camping trip, nevertheless!

Joan Blondell.

This was evolved yesterday at the gay luncheon party tossed by General Manager John J. Fayette and his associate Warner executives in their handsome clubrooms on the seventh floor of the Earle Theater Building.

"You see, it was this way," said Miss Blondell—or was it Mr. Barnes? "We thought we saw a chance to slip away for a real outing during the time the studios were shut down in their hectic attempt to beat the depression. We loaded up the old Packard with pneumatic mattresses, pup tents and what have you, and were about to shove off when word came that we might have to do a tour of personal appearances. So we threw out the pup tents and the pneumatic matresses and loaded up with store clothes and prettles. Then the news was flashed that the tour was off, so we threw out the prettles and the store clothes and took aboard the pneumatic matresses and pup tents again. This probably would have gone on for weeks, only we just stepped on the old gas and let nature take its course."

"And so," said Mr. Barnes—or was it Miss Blondell? "Here we are on a camping trip, opening Friday on the Earle stage, with Philadelphia to follow and a week in New York after that. Then there is a week's layoff, then a week in Detroit and then a quick hike back to the Coast, where we have to begin a new picture not later than June 15."

"So that," said Miss Blondell and Mr. Barnes, "is where we go camping!"

Our loose eyebrow must have hoisted itself at this juncture, because Miss Blondell went on to explain—or maybe it was Mr. Barnes.

"That open week just ahead of Detroit, don't you see? We are going to pick up a new Packard in Detroit, anyway, a twin-six this time in place of the eight, so, as soon as we get it, we will tear out for one of those Michigan lakes and do our camping! Simple, isn't it?"

And that, my little ones, strikes me as a dickens of a long way to drive a car for three or four nights of sleeping on the ground and doing your own cooking over an outdoor fire with the wind always blowing the wrong way! It would have been almost as convenient to drive up to Lake Tahoe, out thar in them California hills!

HOWEVER, in that case Washington would not have had the opportunity to make the personal acquaintance of one of the most cordial and most charming of the younger stars of the screen—an actress who is equally proficient as leading woman, "menace" or comedienne and one whom the glare of the spotlight has not blinded to the real values of life and its comfortable and friendly living.

Joan Blondell, in person, is about as you have seen her on the screen—blonde, with livsly eyes and a contagious smile, ebullient, having a swell time and hoping the whole wide world will find it out. About 5 feet 5 or 6 inches, I should guess, and not too slender, nor yet too plump. Yesterday she was strikingly done up in a figured, or flowered, blue gown, with smart wide-brimmed hat and—but I'm no fashion expert or stylist to do a Beau Nash about what the lovely lady was wearing. It may have been a Chanel, or it may have been plain Washington channel—I wouldn't know beyond the fact that it looked pretty perky!

This transcontinental jaunting, though, is no novelty to Miss Blondie Johnson—pardon, Miss Blondell. She has crossed the United States from coast to coast 56 times. Yeah, I thought she said 5 or 6, too, but it seems 56 is correct. That came about this way. Her dad and mother were vaudeville troupers and little Joan's childhood and early young womanhood were spent touring up and down the country with them. So itinerant were they that she carried a certificate explaining to school authorities that she was not apt to stay put any great length of time in any one place, so it would be a dandy idea if they would let her attend classes as long as she happened to be about. In that way Joan acquired her education, bit by bit, from practically all the schools in the land.

Once she had enrolled in Erasmus High School, in Brooklyn, where she was born, her fate as an actress was sealed. Erasmus Hall has been the incubator of much of the screen's feminine genius—the Talmadges, Norma and Constance; the Gishes, if memory serves; Bette Davis, at one time; Alice Lake, Clara Bow—the list goes on for yards and yards!

There certainly must have been something about that school!

BUT perhaps of more immediate interest is the coincidence, if that is what it was, that Miss Blondell's and Jimmy Cagney's screen careers had their inception at the same time and have run practically parallel ever since.

They were both playing in New York in "Penny Arcade" when the Warners tapped them for films. They threw their duds into their trunks and bags, grabbed the same train and arrived in Hollywood together.

"All the way out," this is positively Miss Blondell speaking this time, "we kept telling each other how good we were. I mean, Jimmy would tell me he was a sure flop, but that my career was assured, and I would insist to him that I was tagged for the one picture and would be a washout after that, but that he was a sure-fire hit and headed straight for stardom.

"When the Warner people met us at the station in Los Angeles I think they made a mental note that we would both look pretty well on an eastbound train, because after five days on the limited and without make-up and proper lighting, Jimmy and I are not so hot as beauty exhibits. So we have both been out there ever since!"

This "not so hot as beauty exhibits" business is just a little of the old malarkey! Joan Blondell has saved the lives of more rotogravure editors than all the rest of the actresses in Hollywood put together!

AND that reminds me. She is at the moment two pictures to the good—the new version of "Gold Diggers of 1938" and "Goodbye Again."

The last-named was photographed by her husband, who believes that when it is released Mrs. Barnes will have been treated a little differently by the camera than heretofore. He feels that not quite enough pains has been taken with her in the rush of making more pictures than any one player ought to be called upon to take part in in so short a time—something like 56 feature subjects in scarcely more than two and a half years.

From now on, Miss Blondell's natural beauty of coloring, vivacity and all-around charm are going to be done right by, by our camera. All of which seems to me like nothing so much as painting the lily, for Joan Blondell is quite all right left just as she has always been. A grand person.

And it was a very elegant lunsh, too.

The entire roster of film attractions to succeed those currently on view would be: Earle, George Arliss and Bette Davis in "The Working Man," and Miss Blondell on the stage; Loew's Fox, Ramon Novarro and Myrna Loy, in "The Barbarian," and Norma Talmadge and George Jessel headlining the vaudeville; RKO-Keith's, Wheeler and Woolsey, in "Diplomaniacs;" Palace, Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper, in "Today We Live;" Metropolitan, James Cagney, in "Picture Snatcher;" Columbia, Esther Ralston, in "After the Ball;" Rialto, Nancy Carroll and Frank Morgan, in "The Kiss Behind the Mirror."

By the way, now would be a good time to spray the rose bushes, if you haven't already been about it!

AT their meeting Monday evening in Commerce Building, Lodge No. 19, A. F. G. E., Society of Federal Translators, passed a resolution opposing compulsory retirement of Federal employes after 30 years and favoring a law providing for optional retirement after 30 years. The Society of Federal Translators believes that the proposed measure would deprive the Government of services of many highly trained and highly efficient employes, whose knowledge and experience are invaluable.

This would affect the quality of the work done by the Government departments and would render the Federal service unattractive as a career for persons of intelligence and ability. The entertainment feature was a highly interesting and instructive address by Wladimir Ayvazoglou, of the Bureau of Mines, who spoke on the Japanese language. The speaker described some of the principal difficulties and peculiarities, which make Japanese one of the most complicated languages in the world. The written word is different from the spoken word and many of the characters used in writing are intelligible only to scholars. Mr. Ayvazoglou is a scholar and a linguist of distinction, who has made a special study of the Japanese language. Mrs. Mekkin B. Perkins (*), vice president, held the chair in the absence of President R. H. Lamore.

A TRAVELER in England came to a crossroads, where he saw a sign: "This way to Ipswich. If you can not read the sign ask the storekeeper." Yesterday a leveling party from Coast and Geodetic Survey extended their surveys into Washington through Takoma Park by way of the Baltimore & Ohio right of way. They read their own signs and didn't need the aid of anyone.

Leveling, if you don't know, is knowledge surveyors and engineers must have. Leveling supplies the bearings for all construction, bridge building, drainage, highway and railroad work, determining of the rise above sea level. In short, as Howard S. Rappleye, in charge of the division of leveling, expresses it, it is the process of determining elevation of marked points, called bench marks, through backsight and foresight measurements.

And as the party directed by Lieut. W. M. Gibson moved along—and one had to move fast to keep abreast—they planted their telescope tripod several hundred feet between "setups," jotted down figures and moved to the next location. At night, after a steady day's work, they sat down to check their figures, for they must be accurate for permanent records.

HAVE you walked through the countryside and seen some of these brass markers imbedded in the concrete with the altitude stenciled? They were put there by the Coast and Geodetic Survey or some local survey authorities. Figures become records from which charts are made.

Pirates unwittingly have been the greatest enemies to C. & G. S. work. Persons unfamiliar with the meaning of these markers, even though they are plainly stamped, conclude treasure must be buried under the brass disks, so they dig up markers, earth and all. Souvenior hunters are the bane of C. & G. S. routine, even though a cold chisel is needed to rout the markers.

In the Philippines C. and G. S. parties first call the head men of some nearby village to show them no valuables are under the markers, lest the natives dig the markers out. In west Texas whole mountains have been excavated for gold reported buried by fugitive monks. The hunters conclude these brass markers surely must hold the secret of the hiding places of gold.

Among those in the party were Warren Shuey, W. F. Clark (*), G. P. Dunn, Harry Gates, Paul Reher, John Babcock and R. S. Headley, all of Washington, and W. W. Studdert, William Dillon, S. T. Logan, E. Littlepage, A. L. Fean, B. J. Jenkins, R. H. Fentress, W. E. Ballance and Frank Hill.

THE Federal Diary First Annual Golf Tournament committee chairman, J. Leland Acuff, Prohibition, yesterday selected the handsome 20-inch-high trophy to be competed for at Indian Spring May 20.

Mr. Acuff inspected the stock of cups at R. Harris, and, after careful study, chose a design which will make the recipient a proud possessor. The cup will be appropriately inscribed with the winner's name, and is, as Mr. Acuff expressed it, "worth shooting for."

Some of the latest entrants' names are elsewhere in this column. The entry list officially closes today, so make sure you're entered by nightfall. George Diffenbaugh, Indian Spring pro, will start a detailed description of the beautiful course tomorrow.

* * * *

HERE'S how the 90-day furlough, plus this and that all figure out on a percentage basis: Including the 3½ per cent retirement benefit, the deduction on an annual basis will be 39.3 per cent.

The 90 days bring 25 per cent reduction, plus the 3½ per cent retirement benefit, the deduction on an annual basis will be 89.3 per cent.

The 30 days bring 25 per cent reduction, plus the 3½ per cent, makes the total 28½ per cent. Then 15 per cent on the remaining nine months of actual work brings the aggregate to 39.2.

Mingled expressions were heard yesterday on the 90-day furlough order. Those trial balloons we've mentioned before heralding "wholesale dismissals" have done their work. As a rule employes seemed to accept the 90-day rule with resignation and some relief.

PARS ARE REVEALED FOR BRIDGE CONTEST

National Association Tells Rules for World-Wide Olympic Night.

New York, May 4 (A.P.).—Puzzles were solved last night for some 100,000 contract bridge players all over the world.

The National Bridge Association announced the pars of 16 especially arranged hands used in its world-wide Olympic night. Pairs which had the greatest number of pars will be given national and sectional titles. Here are the pairs:

Hand 1—North-South par, four spades bid and made or set one. East-West par, three spades for opponent. A ruff by East must force a trump honor from South so West can make a trump king.

Hand 2—East-West par, seven no trump. Grand slam can be made only at no trump.

Hand 3—East-West par, four hearts bid and made. Game possible only in hearts by cross-ruff.

Hand 4—North-South par, six spades bid and made. End play in diamonds on West.

Hand 5—East-West par, seven spades bid and made. No trump grand slam impossible.

Hand 6—North-South par, three no trump bid and made by South. Key play is low spade lead from North hand to South's jack.

Hand 7—East-West par, six diamonds bid and made. Holdup of club ace to get discard.

Hand 8—North-South par, six spades bid and made. Ruff with king of trumps as safety play.

Hand 9—North-South par, four spades bid and made or set one. East-West par, three spades for opponents. West's lead of king from king-deuce of hearts sets the contract.

Hand 10—North-South par, three no trump bid and four made. South must finesse diamond nine as a safety place to prevent East getting the lead.

Hand 11—East-West par, three no trump bid and made. East must hold up a club winner till North is out of them.

Hand 12—East-West par, six hearts bid and made. Opening little slam bid by West. Approach bidding likely to cause an impossible grand slam contract.

Hand 13—East-West par, five clubs bid and made. Trump queen finessed toward ace-ten.

Hand 14—North-South par, four hearts bid and made. Trump king led first. Safety play against bunched trumps.

Hand 15—North-South par, four spades bid and made or set one. East-West par three spades for opponents. Dummy must be forced to ruff so East's king can not be caught by finesse.

Hand 16—North-South par, six hearts bid and made. Triple squeeze.

Funeral of Claude To Be Held Today

Burial Will Be Held in Annapolis for Traction Company Official.

Funeral services will be held at noon today at Joseph Gawler's Sons funeral home for Herbert Claude, 70, superintendent of the Chevy Chase Division of the Capitol Traction Co., who died Tuesday at his home, 15 Newlands street, Chevy Chase, Md. Burial will be in Annapolis, Md.

Mr. Claude, a native of Maryland, was educated at the University of Maryland and upon graduation sailed on North German Lloyd steamers as purser for several years. He was a member of the board of directors of the Chevy Chase Land Co. for several years. He has been with the railway since 1893.

Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. Edith Foye and Miss Mary Claude; two sons, Cecil Claude and Irving Claude, and two sisters, Mrs. Maria Dwight and Miss Jesse Claude.

CUNNINGHAM RITES TODAY.

Widow of Business Man Will Be Buried in Mount Olivet.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. today for Mrs. Lucy A. Cunningham, widow of James C. Cunningham, for many years active in the plumbing and heating business in this city, who died at her home, 1619 Allison street northwest, Tuesday following an extended illness. The services will be held at her home and will be followed by mass at Sacred Heart Church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mrs. Cunningham was the daughter of the late George Marshall Nichols, of Howard County, Md. Her mother was Catherine Bean Nichols, of the well-known Bean family, at Eastern Shore, Md. Her husband died nine months ago. Surviving her are a sister, Mrs. John W. Conner, and a brother, George W. Nichols, both of Washington.

GEORGE R. BOONE DIES.

Former G. P. O. Employe to Be Buried at Berkeley Springs.

George R. Boone, 76, retired employe of the Government Printing Office, died yesterday at his home in Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Mr. Boone entered the Government Printing Office in 1877 and retired in 1922. After his retirement he returned to his boyhood home in Berkeley Springs.

Funeral services will be tomorrow there.

Army Report Arrives in Time to Save Soldier From Traffic Fine.

Private Samuel Suval, of Fort Hoyle, Md., was being tried in Hyattsville Police Court yesterday for failing to have an automobile driver's license when stopped on the Baltimore boulevard by State Policeman E. R. Quandt.

As Judge J. Chew Sheriff solemnly pronounced a fine of $1 and costs upon Suval a cry was heard in the back of the courtroom. A "buddy" dashed forward with an Army "monthly report." A study of the report convinced the court that the soldier on April 1, at the time in question, was on duty at Fort Hoyle. Suval was freed.

MacArthur Buried At Naval Academy

Midshipmen and Marines Pay Tribute at Grave of Capital Boy.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 3.—With full military honors, the body of Midshipman Malcolm MacArthur, 18, son of Mrs. MacArthur, and the late Capt. Arthur MacArthur, U. S. N., who died here Monday, was laid to rest in the Naval Cemetery this afternoon.

Funeral services were held from the Naval Academy Chapel, the chaplain, Commander Frank H. Lash, officiating. Members of the battalion of the regiment of Midshipmen to which young MacArthur belonged, and the Academy Band, formed the funeral escort, and six classmates acted as pallbearers. Services at the grave were also conducted by Chaplain Lash. A party of Marines fired three volleys over the grave, and a bugler sounded "Taps."

The mother of the late Midshipman lives at 1854 Kalorama road northwest, Washington, D. C.

ROSE WELSH DENIES BUNGALOW SLAYING

Testifies at Trial Resulting From Discovery of Body After Fire.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 3.—Miss Rose Welch, 18-year-old Eastport girl, charged with the murder of Howard Stonesifer, 28, went on trial before Judge Nicholas H. Green and a jury in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court today. Irving Ford and Howard Givens, taxicab drivers, indicted as accessories to the killing, are being tried jointly with her. The men are also to answer the additional charge of arson.

The State had presented all its direct evidence, and the defense was well under way before court adjourned for the day. Late this afternoon Miss Welch, testifying in her own defense, denied statements that she struck Stonesifer over the head with a milk bottle in a quarrel. Testimony to this effect was given by Miss Edith Brandenberg, 14, who appeared as the State's trump witness.

Ford testified he knew nothing of the killing, although present at the Stonesifer home, and denied that he returned there after a party broke up, though the State claims that he and Givens did return to the house and set fire to it, apparently to cover up the murder.

Stonesifer came to his death on the night of last February 14. A party was given at his home, which was attended by Miss Welch, Miss Brandenberg, Miss Leona Swink and Givens and Ford. The party broke up around 2 o'clock the following morning. A few hours later the Stonesifer bungalow on Weems Creek near Annapolis was destroyed by fire and the charred body of Stonesifer was found in the ruins. A coroner's jury was unable to fix responsibility for the death, but a special investigation made by a Baltimore detective resulted in the implication of Miss Welch, Ford and Givens.

Miss Welch was formerly employed as a laundress at the Naval Academy and Stonesifer, a former enlisted man in the Navy, was until a few weeks before his death, employed as a watchman at the naval institution.

GAS MEN BANQUET AND AIR PROBLEMS

Southern Association Brings Convention to Close Here Today.

Members of the Southern Gas Association, gathered at their silver anniversary meeting at the Shoreham Hotel, last night had their annual banquet at the hotel. Entertainment features enlivened the dinner and dancing followed. In the afternoon women at the convention visited Mount Vernon and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

At the general morning session, with President J. J. Brennan presiding, addresses by Floyd W. Parsons on "Constructive Cooperation Within the Gas Industry;" John A. Frey, of the Detroit Michigan Stove Co., on "Development, Research and Advertising—the Manufacturer's Contribution to the Industry," and John N. Shannahan, of the Midland United Co., on "Various Sources of Gas Supply," were heard.

An open forum was held at the Southern Regional Sales Conference session in the afternoon. W. A. Hudson, of the Birmingham Gas Co., talked on "Some Southern Gas Refrigeration Problems," while J. B. Milmoe, of the Natural Gas Corporation, Birmingham, Ala., discussed "Boiler Efficiency and Conversion Factors."

B. B. Ferguson presided at the meeting of the technical session at which Thomas B. Hopper, of the Washington Gas Light Co., discussed "Mixed Gases." The meeting will conclude today.

CAPT. WILKINS' RITES.

Officer Who Died in Hawaii to Be Buried at Arlington.

Funeral services for Capt. Roland Wilkins, U. S. A., Infantry, will be held today at 10 a. m. at Arlington National Cemetery, followed by burial with full military honors. Chaplain Ralph Delbert will officiate.

Capt. Wilkins died suddenly at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, February 20, 1933. His widow, Mrs. Roland Wilkins, accompanied the body here.

EconomyKeeps ZilchRoach Team From Entering New York Derby.

Oscar (Also Ran) Zilch, captain of the famed cockroach sprinting team stabled in the District Building press room, learned with intense regret yesterday afternoon that the first organized cockroach race was being run in the Greenwich Village Nut Club in New York City.

"That's what comes of all this governmental economy," he commented. "I suppose the Commissioners dared not enter our team in the race for fear of being reprimanded by Congress.

"I don't like to brag, but my boys could shake the dust of their heels in the face of those ten so-called thoroughbreds in the first three of the 6-foot course."

Capt. Zilch, though grown somewhat stout from eating the crumbs of countless sandwiches munched by reporters between auction bridge hands, insists that he still has the wind and stamina that made him famous on the Entomology Varsity track team in '96.

James Andros, 65, To BeBuriedToday

"Papa Jim" Was Well-Known in Greek Colony of Washington.

Funeral services for James Andros, 65-year-old restaurant man and widely known in Washington's Greek colony, will be held today at St. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, Sixth and C streets southwest, at 2 p. m.

Andros, who was coproprietor of a restaurant across from the Police Court building, was widely known as "Papa Jim" to police court attaches and officials. He had a reputation as philanthropist among Greeks and had lived here for about 40 years.

He died Tuesday at his home, 120 Massachusetts avenue northwest, of pneumonia. He had no close relatives in his country.

MRS. BEN H. FULLER HEADS LEGION BODY

Wife of Commandant Succeeds Mrs. Turnage; Reds Denounced.

Mrs. Ben H. Fuller, wife of the commandant of the Marine Corps, was elected president of the American Women's Legion of the World War at its fourteenth annual convention yesterday at the Red Cross Building. She succeeds Mrs. Needham C. Turnage, wife of United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage.

Vice presidents named were Mrs. Edmund P. Ellis, first; Mrs. Benjamin Soule Gantz, second, and Mrs. Lucy B. Cash, third. Mrs. Richard R. Lukens was elected secretary, and Mrs. Peter A. Hazes, treasurer.

After music by the Marine Band, the convention was called to order by Mrs. Turnage. Invocation was delivered by the Rev. H. H. D. Sterrett, chaplain. Mrs. Turnage delivered an address of greetings following the singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner," by Mrs. Flora McGill Keefer.

The Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University, delivered an address opposing recognition of Russia under the present terms. There were also talks by Miss Mabel T. Boardman, of the Red Cross, and Commander John F. Shafroth, U. S. N.

RIDGLEY HUNT FUNERAL.

Yale University Library Official Will Be Buried in Arlington.

Funeral services will be held at New Haven, Conn., today for Ridgley Hunt, an official of the Yale University Library and former local resident, who was killed in an auto accident near the Connecticut city Monday night. Burial will be in Arlington Cemetery tomorrow.

The author of a number of books, Mr. Hunt is the son of the late Lieut. Ridgley Hunt and a grandson of William H. Hunt, Secretary of the Navy during the Garfield administration. Surviving him are his wife, four children and a sister, Miss Virginia Hunt, of 1115 Sixteenth street northwest.

RELIEF
from Neuralgia

No known medicine works quite like Bayer Aspirin for the awful head and face pain of neuralgia. The tablets made by the Bayer process have a peculiar efficacy in relieving neuritic pain. This has been demonstrated again and again.

The speed of Bayer Aspirin tablets makes them invaluable in cases of severe suffering. They are always safe; doctors endorse their general use for neuralgia, neuritis, headaches, periodic pains, and other discomfort. Their speedy relief of almost any pain is due to the speed with which these tablets dissolve. There are no harmful ingredients; nothing to depress the heart.

Genuine Bayer Aspirin is safe, uniform, dependable; never hesitate to take it when any sudden ache or pain or cold threatens your comfort.

DOMESTIC TOBACCO
is stored in huge wooden hogsheads. Each hogshead contains about 1000 pounds of tobacco.

A flavor that neither possesses alone

Turkish tobacco is to Cigarettes what Seasoning is to Food

Early in the 17th century, tobacco seed from America was taken to Turkey. Different soil, different climate, different temperatures night and day, and different farming methods produced an entirely new tobacco—small in size, but very rich and aromatic.

This tobacco is known generally as Turkish tobacco; but there are as many varieties of Turkish as there are kinds of apples.

Four certain spots are famous for the quality of their Turkish tobacco—Xanthi and Cavalla in Greece; Samsoun and Smyrna in Turkey. And it is principally from these places that our buyers get the Turkish for Chesterfield.

These Turkish tobaccos are blended, in just the right amount, with Domestic tobaccos. It is this blending and cross-blending of just the right amount of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos which gives Chesterfield a flavor that neither possesses alone.

DICTATOR BY CONSENT.

One of the important facts to bear in mind in considering the phenomenal developments of the last two months is that the people are overwhelmingly supporting the President in the policy of concentrating powers in the Executive.

How long the people will stand by the President depends upon the degree of success with which the new powers will be employed in extricating the country from its difficulties.

Much ado is made by critics because the President is aided by numerous advisors, who are alleged to be taking advantage of the "honeymoon" to induce him to accept startling departures from governmental precedents. These critics seem to hold that unless the President personally originates his recommendations to Congress the authors, rather than Mr. Roosevelt, should be held to account. But this is a preposterous theory. No one in the Executive chair can work out the details of proposed legislation to carry executive policies into effect. The President does well when he passes upon principles and policies, leaving details to subordinates in whom he has confidence.

For good or ill, the responsibility for the radical innovations now crystallizing into law rests upon President Roosevelt and his party, and not upon his advisors. If he has adopted theories which will be demonstrated to be impractical or disastrous in operation, nevertheless the responsibility is his own when he recommends them to Congress and obtains their adoption by reason of his influence over the party in power. He is the leader, and his party will share the credit or the blame for what is coming.

The people are applauding the concentration of power in the President's hands, because they are convinced that desperate conditions call for radical action, even if this action flies in the face of precedent and experience. They rely upon Mr. Roosevelt to wield his power wisely. In approving of the new deal they are piling upon him responsibilities such as no other President has ever borne, and which may be too heavy for him to bear. But at the same time they are giving him free choice of advisors and agents, from top to bottom, so that he will not be handicapped by having responsibility without corresponding authority and means of execution.

Another President named Roosevelt was said to espouse the theory that he could do anything that was not specifically prohibited by the Constitution. But Theodore Roosevelt could not have dreamed of the astounding innovations that have been made since March 4. The present Roosevelt does not imitate the first by taking over all powers not denied to him. He pursues the better and sounder course of asking for the authority he desires. Thus he is fortified by the approval of Congress. If his daring efforts to overcome the Nation's difficulties should not succeed, he can not be justly charged with usurping dictatorial powers.

ALCOHOL FOR FUEL.

Many impracticabilities in the way of the proposed use of alcohol made from surplus farm products as a compulsory ingredient of motor fuel are being pointed out by opponents of the bill now before Congress. The American Petroleum Industries committee estimates that a 10 per cent addition of alcohol to gasoline would cost motorists $500,000,000 a year, or the equivalent of doubling present State gasoline taxes. If this additional relief for the farmer is necessary, strong objection is made to saddling the cost upon the already over-taxed automobile.

The committee suggests that, rather than burden the motor owners with an added charge of $18 to $26 a year, it would be better for the motorists themselves to contribute $5 each to buy up the surplus corn and burn it. In this way the farmer would be benefited directly by getting all the money instead of most of the profit going to the distilleries, and the contributors would effect a big saving. It is further contended that the distilling facilities of the country are not nearly sufficient to supply alcohol equal to 10 per cent of the gasoline consumption. If, as is contemplated, the Government should erect distilleries at a cost of additional hundreds of millions to supply the conversion needs, the motorists would suffer again in additional taxes to pay for them.

It is estimated that alcohol made from 25-cent corn costs 30 cents a gallon. This would add three cents a gallon to motor fuel if used as intended, plus blending and distribution charges. If such use of grain alcohol raises the price of corn 100 to 200 per cent, as anticipated, the new mixture would be correspondingly higher in price. With all the other multiple ways now being devised to boost farm prices and aid the farmer, it probably will not be found necessary to try this highly questionable expedient at the expense of motorists, who now pay the highest of all contributions.

NO GOLD FOR BONDHOLDERS.

As the House of Representatives registered overwhelming approval for the inflation measure, the Government definitely made known its policy of paying both interest and principal of its gold bonds in depreciated currency. This decision is no less momentous than was the original decision to embark upon a cheap-money policy. It produces widespread repercussions throughout the United States and in many foreign countries where large volumes of American bonds are held.

No distinction will be made between Government bonds held in this country and those held in foreign lands. Indeed, there seems to be no reason for any such distinction. If the Government intends to break faith with its bondholders there is no reason why it should favor foreign investors above its own citizens.

The issue here involved is not comparable to the proposition facing Great Britain when that country left the gold standard. Britain continued to remit gold for her obligations payable in foreign currencies. Since the war debt to the United States was payable in dollars, Britain could not use her own depreciated currency for that purpose. Gold was required. The United States will not be confronted by a case of this kind because it owes no debts in foreign currencies.

Bondholders in the United States and abroad may be expected to protest against the receipt of depreciated paper dollars where gold dollars of specified weight and fineness were promised. Undoubtedly the right of the Government to modify its obligations in this manner will be carried to the Supreme Court. Many years ago the court upheld contracts of a similar nature, but of course no decision under the present law is available as a guide to the legal aspects of the question. Opinion is divided as to what the court's decision will be.

The important question is not the legal technicalities of Government bonds, however, but the attitude of the Government toward its obligations. The dollars paid to bondholders at present may be worth more in purchasing power than were the dollars lent to the Government during the war. If the dollar maintains a reasonable value, the payment of bonds in currency may not work a serious hardship upon investors. But what will be its effect upon the Government?

The Government gave a solemn pledge when the Nation was at war. It gave its bond to repay its borrowings in gold. Now it refuses to pay gold, not because it lacks gold, but because it proposes to cheapen money. It has more than one-third of the total world supply of gold. When it withholds that gold from use and pays its gold obligations in depreciated money, it disturbs the foundation upon which it rests—its credit.

Henceforth, the Government will probably delete the gold clause from its bonds. In view of the attitude now taken, such a clause would be meaningless. A promise in new bonds to pay gold, while the Government refuses to pay gold for existing bonds also containing that promise, would be worthless. When the administration needs to borrow more money, therefore, it may be expected to promise payment only in dollars. But the President will have power to issue fiat money and to reduce the gold content of the dollar by 50 per cent. Who will buy Government bonds when there is no assurance that the buyer will be repaid in full value?

The Government is dealing a deadly blow to its own credit. It is impossible to avoid that conclusion. The inevitable weakening of the bond market may force the Government to issue fiat currency to pay its debts. It is to be hoped that the administration has foreseen these dangers and is prepared to guard against them.

WAR ON GANGDOM.

Attorney General Cummings is ready to throw the full strength of the Department of Justice against the gangster and his practices. Various agencies of Government are furnishing information to the Attorney General and his staff. Investigators for the Department of Justice are also probing into Federal law violations, and a general movement against lawless elements is in prospect.

Shocking conditions have been revealed in New York, Chicago and many less metropolitan communities. Racketeers are taking the profits of legitimate business with astonishing boldness and effectiveness. It is amazing that such conditions can exist in American communities. The strong arm of the Federal Government may be needed in many instances to break up these devilish practices and protect the rights of citizens to enjoy the fruits of their own work.

Only the Government was able to put Al Capone behind prison bars. Chicago and Illinois were both too negligent of law enforcement or too impotent to stop his depredations upon the public. But Uncle Sam stepped in and convicted the gang leader of failing to submit a complete income tax return. That is a curious approach to the eradication of gangdom, but it worked in this instance, and it may be expected to land other criminals behind prison bars.

Attorney General Cummings may be assured that he will have the support of the public in his drive against lawless elements. In periods of want and distress criminals who prey upon the public become more heinous in popular opinion than at any other time. The Government may expect full cooperation with its effort to strike a blow at gangdom. It is a good time to let the heavy hand of the law be felt in high and low circles where the people are being robbed.

HEALTH OF THE PEOPLE.

It is a remarkable fact, attracting no little attention, that throughout the years of the depression the death rate has decreased and public health generally has been above the average of more prosperous years. This has been known to be the case in the United States during the last three years, and now the statistics are coming in from other countries to show that it is a world-wide phenomenon. Why is it? The doctors and the life insurance experts have not yet been able to figure it out. Does it prove that all the world eats too much as a rule, and that a restricted diet and such privations as are enforced by hard times are good for humanity?

After making a progressively favorable record for three years in this country, both in mortality figures and lessening prevalence of contagious diseases, this year started off with a poor showing, but it was only a temporary relapse, as by March the favorable conditions returned and the mortality rate had again fallen to the minimum. Last year was also a record health year in Canada. In spite of increasingly unfavorable conditions in many ways the public health in the Dominion has been maintained. The Metropolitan Life reports a low point of 7.7 death rate per thousand insured lives, a drop of more than 4 per cent under the previous minimum in 1931.

From Europe reports gathered by the health organization of the League of Nations show that there has been no evidence of poorer health conditions among the people. Both death rates and sickness averages are extremely low on the Continent. Both German and English towns show death rates below the average of eight years previous to the depression. Similar reports come from Hungary, Poland, Italy, Holland and Czechoslovakia.

Health authorities, however, are not convinced that the severe economic conditions prevailing generally, with attendant privations and in many cases abnormally restricted diets among a large percentage of the population, may not have future effects on public health that will be unfavorable.

Depreciated currencies are fighting for new lows, and the Japanese yen leads all the rest. Will Americans tamely accept defeat in this great contest, or will they show the world what the dollar can do when it chooses to dive?

A motion is in order to send Chairman O'Brien of the Tariff Commission to Paris to convince the French government that the trade of gold standard countries is not injured by depreciated currency.

President Roosevelt ought to hurry and send his tariff bill to Congress while the House's rubber stamp is still in good working order.

Industry, commerce, and finance are meeting at the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to find where they're at. Call in the professors!

'Tis strange that none of those brilliant new congressmen have thought of giving the President power to regulate daylight.

Foreign governments are hastily taking precautions to prevent the success of the world economic conference.

Muscle Shoals is a tough proposition, but it is no match for Senator Norris.

EXECUTIVE POWER

By ALBERT SHAW, in Review of Reviews.

Franklin D. Roosevelt holds an office that has no exact parallel in any other country of first-class importance. Under favorable conditions of political wind and weather the office is supremely influential. Today the new incumbent is the world's most powerful ruler, through consent and acquiescence on the part of Congress and the public.

The term "cabinet" is one that we derive from European systems. We search the Constitution in vain to find the word cabinet, or to discover any authority conferred upon a group of officials even faintly resembling that which is exercised in Great Britain and France, where they have what is known as "cabinet government."

Our own Constitution declares that "the executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America." From time to time we have amplified the mechanism of civil government, and have added to the regular administrative departments until there are now ten. But the executive power of the President remains exclusive, without distribution or diminution.

The Constitution says nothing about the "departments," except as it declares (in specifying some of the powers of the President) that "he may require the opinion in writing of the principal officer in each of the executive departments upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices."

We are indebted to the Chamber of Commerce if only that it gives the President opportunity to tell us tonight what it's all about and what's going to happen.

We can't believe those old dogs in Congress would single out Miss Perkins' pet pekinese, the 30-hour week, to be sent to the pound for asphyxiation.

Paris accepts the tariff truce with a reservation, but London is off the reservation entirely, branding mavericks while she may.

Many Federal employes who have been running around in circles for some time will fit right into the rotative furlough plan.

Secretary Hull ought to be happy. He is getting more opportunities to talk lower tariffs than he did in the Senate.

The economic and social revolution can be considered virtually an accomplished fact, says Frank Kent, and what we now await are the results. But who ever heard of a centripetal revolution?

That increased traffic on Pennsylvania avenue is due to the frequent trips of congressional leaders to the White House to learn what bills are still on the legislative slate.

The bill to regulate securities is going to provide such fine protection that members of the sucker list club will have to turn to lottery tickets and picking the ponies.

Out of 11,000 college students who have already voted on war 8,000 oppose bearing arms under any circumstances. Old Glory is thankful there are some old grads left.

The farm bill is also unique in that it taxes the imagination, but provides no revenue for the Government.

Hitler squelches organized opposition by also taking over the labor unions. Has Miss Perkins overlooked a point? PAUL HUDSON.

CARELESS.

I like to toss my coat upon the chair
Though twice ten thousand times have I been told
There is a place to hang it 'neath the stair,
Likewise a hook designed my hat to hold.

Something within me I can't quite explain
Makes too much order difficult to bear.
Always, it seems, when I get home again
I like to toss my coat upon a chair.

To me the home spells ease and true delight
And closets with their hooks are dark with gloom.
Always I'm overeager with the night
To settle in my comfortable room.

Scarce past the door I fling my hat
aside
As if it were a needless weight of care
And swiftly to be rid of foolish pride
I like to toss my coat upon a chair.

Easy to Be Champion Tree-Sitter in a Land That Contains No Other Simpletons.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

IT is not a difficult matter to be a champion.

When some young lady is crowned as the most beautiful in America or the universe, it does not indicate that she is the most beautiful in fact. The award means that the judges consider her the prettiest of the few who are willing to enter such contests.

In Mexico there are Indians who run the marathon distance in the course of the day's work. It is not unusual for them to run from dawn until nightfall, and the pace they set would break the heart of an amateur distance runner. Given proper training, any one of them might set new Olympic records.

In Africa there is a tribe of black men who are taller than men of our race. The chief selects the best specimens for his army, and not one among them measures less than six feet unshod.

There are field days on which the warriors exhibit their athletic prowess, and on one such occasion a few years ago the local missionary was permitted to make kodak pictures of the men in action.

The main event was the high jump. A bar was placed between two uprights at an elevation of six feet, and each lean warrior in turn sailed over it with inches to spare. They did not approach at an angle and throw over one leg at a time in the manner of trained jumpers. They faced the bar squarely and simply took it in their stride as hounds and horses do.

What havoc these giants would make if they were shipped across the water to compete with club and college athletes in America!

The champions of the world are not the best in the world. They are merely best of these who compete.

Anybody can be a champion simply by choosing a field of endeavor that has no attraction for better men.

Or he can become the world's best by perfecting himself in an art that men of equal merit neglect.

Under these conditions, for example, he might become the world's champion gentleman.

Let him keep his word, regardless of loss; let him never once in all his days speak untruth; let him be wholly sincere; let him never take advantage of his authority, or mistreat the weak, or pay court to the strong, and he can call himself a champion.

But his championship will mean no more than others, for he will have little competition.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Slamming the Open Door.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Thus far the only nation that has recognized the new puppet State of Manchukuo is Japan, its creator. The remainder of the world, appalled by the ruthlessness of the Japanese conquest of Manchuria, ignores Manchukuo's existence. Stung by its inglorious isolation, Manchukuo, through a Japanese member of its privy council, now undertakes to use the economic club to induce recognition, declaring that the historic open door will be slammed shut in the faces of all countries which withhold recognition.

The open-door policy, giving all nations equal right to trade in the Orient, was first formulated by Secretary Hay in 1899. It has been confirmed on numerous occasions since Japan pledged herself to it in the Root-Takahira agreement of 1908 and in the Lansing-Ishii agreement of 1917. The policy was formally adopted in the nine-power treaty of 1922, signed by all of the principal powers interested in China, including Japan.

No Parallel to Such Power.

Springfield Republican.

This currency legislation invites attack as established a superexecutive whose responsibilities would be so concentrated and so far indivisible as to be almost crushing in their weight.

There can be found no parallel in the British government or the French government of today. The British cabinet possesses great power over government finance, but that is a multiple not a unit executive. The cabinet must confirm a policy or procedure; not even the prime minister can ignore it. A majority vote of the House of Commons may turn out the government, if its acts cross the will of that body. But our President alone is a majority in his own Cabinet and he is in office for four years. Congress can not turn him out, except by impeachment.

This legislation, if enacted, could be repealed by Congress, to be sure, but the President could veto the repeal bill and Congress could recapture the power it had granted to him only by a two-thirds majority. Fortified in his position, the President would be constitutionally secure in the possession of financial primacy such as no British or French premier had ever been endowed with.

Raskob Did It in 1930.

New York Sun.

Hoover men have started a movement to recapture Congress in 1934. That's the answer to "Pop, what's an optimist?"

Aid in Depression Cures.

Kansas City Star.

Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, has received 2,000 cures for the depression. The count covers only a six weeks' period in office for the Labor Secretary. At the same rate, Miss Perkins would be due to receive more than 17,000 cures per year. One thing can be said for all the depression cures sent to Government departments and to other places. They help to increase the postal business.

Liberal With Public Funds.

Jordan (Minn.) Independent.

We wish to be aligned in thought with those who are termed "liberals." At least, with reasonable liberals.

It seems to be more and more apparent, however, that being a political liberal connotes a policy that means liberal spending of the public funds.

Let the Government pay, give, lend and spend. That seems to be the motto of politicians of the extreme liberal school of thought.

Algebraic Bryanism.

Minneapolis Journal.

The Senate voted 41 to 36 to incorporate the Wheeler-King silver amendment into the administration's monetary inflation measure, thereby introducing into the problem the unknown quantity, x.

Under this provision the President would have power by proclamation to fix the weight of the gold dollar, and the weight of the silver dollar at a definite ratio in relation to the gold dollar, at such amounts as he may from his investigation find necessary to stabilize domestic prices or protect our foreign commerce against the adverse effect of depreciated foreign currencies.

Sixteen-to-one was the take-it-or-leave-it silver slogan of 1896. We are in a different world today.

Under stress of emergency, discretionary power that would have been unthinkable a few decades ago is being given our Chief Executive and is being asked for by his department heads.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Since College Professors Dropped the Word "Norm" Their Prestige Has Waned.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When, a few years ago, the college experts, or "highbrows," as we then called them, began to attract attention in the discussion of governmental questions as well as things in general, I enjoyed reading what they had to say and was more or less influenced by their opinions. At the present time I am less interested in them than formerly and am now and then inclined to question their ideas of what is good for the body politic.

I do not think I fool myself in saying that I have an open mind. On that account I have wondered whether the fault might be in myself regarding loss of interest in the experts. But just now it has occurred to me that I am not entirely to blame, inasmuch as my faith in them has become less by degrees ever since they dropped the term "norm" from their vocabulary. Strange as it seems, there was a sort of fascination in it so far as I was concerned. No doubt you remember what a brisk run the norm had in its day. It was the norm this and the norm that; and so potent was its spell that even the most hardboiled editors became quite proficient in its use. Since then the experts have dressed many old and new ideas in erudite changes of terminology from year to year, but I can not help feeling that they are less reliable than when the tracking of the norm to a ripe conclusion was a matter of common occurrence.

In my opinion it would be a good thing for the new deal if the college experts would again get familiar with and hold fast to the norm.

A. MIDDLEBROW.

More Women Employed Ought to Mean Increase of Buying Power, Writer Wants Information.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Has extensive employment of women in the commercial and industrial world really contributed to the economic jam which now obtains? This question has probably been in the minds of many sincere seekers of the truth regarding the most important factors in the economic upset of this country. The entrance of women into the business world has undoubtedly materially increased the supply of workers. Has it at the same time increased purchasing power to an extent sufficient to take care of increased production? Regardless of the personal feeling of many of us that the female of the species has a field of operation and influence much more important to the human race than the sordid channels of commerce and industry, all of us must face the facts from a materialistic standpoint.

I have been interested in some of the discussions and letters on this subject of women in business, but I have not come upon any facts or figures that are convincing one way or the other. I am wondering if there is some one among your correspondents who can enlighten the many who want some tangible facts. Jacob Radke's letter in The Post of April 20 sets forth that "the sudden addition of millions of women workers to the ranks of the gainfully employed was bound to cause a serious dislocation of the economic system." Why hasn't this materially increased the demand for more goods? Certainly these new entrants into employment for which they receive compensation has greatly increased their own buying power.

Zoo Fan Urges Erection of Visitors' Tavern to Meet Public Needs.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have before now suggested that there should be a suitable building in the National Zoological Park for the accommodation of the public as to lunches and protection from bad weather. There are so many thousands interested in the matter that I hope you will allow me another word.

Such a building is needed if only as an adequate lounging place during the period of relaxation necessary for the full enjoyment of a zoo outing by those who spend several hours or the greater part of a day getting acquainted with the animals.

Of course the zoo has its scientific purpose in addition to popular instruction and entertainment. But its collection of beasts, birds and reptiles is now so nearly complete that only an occasional addition is of much interest to any but a few specialists.

I therefore think the erection of new animal houses should be put off for a while and an attractive visitors' lodge or tavern built when funds are available.

This is something which the unscientific public—thousands of tourists as well as the local Zoo fans—have a right to expect. I really think it has been delayed to long.

NATURE FAN.

Local Bank Depositors Want to Know When Closed Banks Will Open.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Without a moment's warning the President on March 6 closed all banks not already closed. Many people were doubtless caught without money wherewith to buy a loaf of bread or a lump of coal.

In eight days it was possible to examine more than half of the banks and permit them to reopen. But in eight weeks it has not been possible, according to press reports, to examine and reopen any considerable number of the other banks. Those reports indicate that it may require many months to do so.

Meanwhile, the Government gives the people whose money it holds no information as to what they may expect. Millions of them are unemployed and are wholly dependent on their money in the banks to keep from starving. Have they no rights? Are they not entitled to know what the administration is doing with their money and when they may hope to get some of it? It will do them no good after they are dead of starvation and worry and anxiety.

This bank tragedy is the rawest deal any administration ever meted out to the American people.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN.

ROOSEVELT TO SAIL ON CRUISER SOON

Trial Run Probably Will Be Made While He Is Aboard Craft.

An observation trip along the coast on one of the new 10,000-ton cruisers will break the President's stay in Washington during the summer, it was said yesterday at the White House.

The cruise probably will be made on the Indianapolis, which is running her final acceptance trials off Maine. The only other craft of the type on the Eastern Seaboard is the New Orleans, which probably will not be ready in time. She was only launched early this year.

The President is not familiar with the 10,000-ton type, and is known to be curious about their performance. He is expected to board the craft at Eastport, Me., and return on it to Baltimore. Trial runs will probably be made while he is aboard.

President Roosevelt will probably leave Washington early in June and go by train to Marblehead or Boston. Here, it is understood, he plans to board a small yacht and continue on to Maine in her. The Amberjack II, a 41-foot schooner, has been suggested as a likely craft for this leg of the trip. At Eastport he will join the Navy vessel.

The trip to New England may be broken by a stop at Groton School, Mass., where John Roosevelt will graduate in June. The President may also go to Chicago to open the Century of Progress celebration if this trip can be worked into the schedule.

Most of the summer the President plans to spend in Washington. He may go to his home in Hyde Park for a stay of a few weeks, but is not expected to be away from Washington long.

Intensive Conference Organized by Council

As a result of the success of the course for volunteers in social work which was sponsored by the Council of Social Agencies and ran several weeks, the council has organized an intensive case conference which will continue for successive Thursdays in May, starting today. The conferences, which will be in the nature of a round-table discussion, will be held at 11 a. m. each Thursday at the Y. W. C. A., Seventeenth and K streets northwest.

Miss Helen Story, supervisor of the Associated Charities, will be the first conference leader and will discuss case work as handled by a family welfare agency.

Dinner Tonight Tribute To Elmore T. Burdette

A testimonial dinner to Elmore T. Burdette, retiring chairman of the membership committee of the Washington Board of Trade, will be given tonight at the Kenwood Country Club.

About 100 are expected to attend. Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, retiring District Commissioner, and Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, will be among the guests. Wallace Robinson is in charge of arrangements.

Plans for Wilson High Revised to Meet Slash

Engineer Commissioner John C. Gotwals yesterday instructed the municipal architect's office to revise plans of the Wilson High School so that the estimated cost would come within the $1,150,000 provided in the pending District appropriations bill. The former estimate, on the basis of which plans were drafted, was $1,300,000.

Several modifications will also be made in accordance with suggestions advanced by the Fine Arts Commission. The school is to be erected at Nebraska avenue and Brandywine street northwest.

Rail Coordinator Bill Due at Capitol Today

The President's bill providing for a Federal coordinator of railroads will probably be sent to Congress today, but further banking legislation is still in the discussion stage, it was said yesterday at the White House.

The President has not considered the question of who will be appointed coordinator, it was said. A few minor changes have been made in the draft of the bill, but the major provisions are unchanged, it was learned. Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific Railroad, is understood to have declined the post as coordinator, leaving the name of Joseph B. Eastman, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the lead.

Conscript Army Plan Splits Geneva Parley

Geneva, Switzerland, May 3 (A.P.).—Whether European armies in the future will be professional or conscript again split the disarmamanet conference today, the French and English delegates failing to induce Germany to agree to abolition of the long-term professional Reichswehr.

Count Rudolph Nadolny, German delegate, suggested a compromise under which the armies would be a mixture of professionals and conscripts, but this was promptly rejected by Rene Massigli, of France, who said that such a body of troops would "constitute the most formidably offensive army of all."

Birth Control Urged To Cut Down Colleges

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—Birth control is needed for American colleges as much as for preventing the founding of unnecessary banks, President H. M. Gage of Coe College said today at a conference of presidents, deans and business managers of more than 50 Midwest colleges.

There is a plethora of higher educational institutions in the United States, Dr. Gage said, and something drastic ought to be done about it.

King of Norway Denies He Will Visit America

Bismarck, N. Dak., May 3 (A.P.).—King Haakon VII of Norway informed Gov. William Langer in a message today he would not visit the United States next summer. The governor, hoping he might make the trip, had invited him to visit North Dakota.

FEATURES FOR WOMEN

Bidding Suit by Yourself Is Big Responsibility, Culbertson Finds.

The Meanderer

Finds Cosmetics That Queens Have Used in Modest Packages for Washington Women.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extention 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Queen Marie of Roumania, and Queen Victoria of Spain, have used the exquisite face cream of wild-rose pink that has at last come within reach of the average American woman. For many years only royalty, European aristocracy and the wealthiest of Americans who traveled to Paris had access to the salon producing the cream of rose petal color and softness. Recently American rights to this cream and other cosmetics were bought for many thousands, with the result that the beauty preparations packaged in this country, identical in quality with those obtainable in Europe, have been reduced in price compatible with the pocketbook of the American woman who wants to look her loveliest.

From the Academie de Beaute du Place de la Madeleine, then, came the famous aids to beauty to sell in Washington in one store only. By their turquoise blue boxes and peach-colored satin ribbons you shall know them, Meanderings readers. For just a few days the lovely pink face cream and three accompanying cosmetics that would cost a sum of not less than $6 will sell for $3.50 in what is known as an introductory package.

A snow-white protective liquid, one of the items in the introductory set that is a powder base as well as a skin protector, has a softening effect on the skin that is remarkable. Its protection against sun and weather lasts for hours after each application. A generous turquoise blue box of bath powder topped with a peach satin bow is not included in the introductory set, but is irresistible in itself.

So the duchess who may have bought her kilo of fine face cream for $65 had no advantage over the American woman who buys the same product, included in this new small package, for a fraction of its former cost.

French enameled comb, brush and mirror sets, bronze or gold plated, decorated with jade or amber, rose quartz or carnelian, are found in the bath and boudoir shop in the store which has the exclusive rights to the Americanized face cream, formerly monopolized by royalty. The sets have the low price of $13.50 attached.

Dresser sets at reduced prices ranging from $1.59 to $12.75 are composed of combs, brushes and mirrors. They are found in an F street store featuring a store-wide value-giving sale this week. Many separate pieces for the dressing table have low prices, from less than a dollar to $1.99.

A New Yorker at Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—This is one of those vignettes which makes the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station a fascinating place.

There was a fiery-tempered young woman brought before the desk one night on a charge of disorderly conduct. Seems she had discovered her boy friend out with another girl, wherewith she invoked a prevalent custom of that turbulent neighborhood and started in a fancy and furious hair pulling scrimmage.

While the police sergeant was talking to the pugilistically inclined pretty, another cop came into the station leading a red haired young dock worker, also on a charge of fighting.

The philosophic sergeant lectured them both on their manners and then turned them loose. The boy and girl left the station together.

That was a year ago. The other night the two were brought in again on the same charges.

"It's way, sergeant," explained the read haired boy. "After that night we were here last year, we got to talking to each other when we left and then we got to going around together. Then we got married. Well, I guess you might say we're still fighting but now we keep it in the family."

About Chorus Girls.

There has long been a legend that chorus girls, as a class, aren't just the good little children they should be. Fiction writers automatically associate the front row lasses with wealthy playboys and midnight suppers.

That may have been true, to a mild extent, in the old days when the fetching girls didn't have to work as hard as they do now.

In that golden stage era just after the war, every musical show was equipped with three lines of girls. The first were the ponies, diminutive young girls who danced only the routine chorus numbers. The second line were mediums, who were just a bit taller and had to sing and dance both. The third line were statuesque show girls, who neither sang nor danced, but just wore beautiful costumes.

It's Different Now.

The economy era ended all that. Musical shows today have only one class of girls, a sort of compromise between mediums and show girls. The ponies are gone entirely.

Your chorus girl today must be fairly tall, beautiful, and have the combined abilities to sing, dance and wear beautiful clothes effectively. She now has to do at least a dozen numbers in a show, whereas formerly she did two.

So you see your modern chorus girl now does six times as much work as formerly, and naturally must do six times as much rehearsing. In her few idle hours she must study singing or dancing specialties.

After doing all that, a chorus girl of today has little time or strength left for gay parties.

Java Volcano Active Lately on Large Scale

Batavia, Java, May 3 (A.P.).—Eruptions of the volcano Krakatoa have been occurring on a large scale for the last few days.

Fifty years ago this little volcanic island was almost destroyed by one of the most catastrophic eruptions ever recorded. Some 30,000 lives were lost on neighboring coasts from the resulting sea wave.

Floating Airport Leaves.

Cuxhaven, Germany, May 3 (A.P.). The rebuilt freighter Westphalen left today for her South Atlantic station between Africa and South America, where she is to serve as a floating airport in the future Lufthansa airplane service to South America.

Second Langley Air Group Hops Today

Pursuit and Bombardment Units Ordered to West Coast for Games.

Newport News, Va., May 3 (A.P.).—The second contingent of Langley Field Army planes ordered to the West Coast for annual Air Corps maneuvers will leave tomorrow, following closely behind the squadron of 30 ships which took off today.

A total of 72 planes, including supply ships, and 225 officers and men from Langley Field have been ordered to Riverside, Calif., for the maneuvers.

The planes leaving today were pursuit ships. Those leaving tomorrow, 30 in number, will be from the bombardment group.

They were scheduled to stop at Atlanta, Jackson, Miss., and other places en route.

Today's group was due at Riverside Friday and tomorrow's group was scheduled for arrival Saturday.

2 Governors Back Roosevelt on Oil

Landon and Murray Name Boards to Confer With Framers of Bill.

Oklahoma City, May 3 (A.P.).—Support for President Roosevelt's program to aid the oil industry was announced by Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, and Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma, at a conference with oil men here today.

The goverors named committees for their respective States to take to Washington their recommendations on the emergency oil regulation bill, sponsored by Secretary Ickes, of the Interior Department.

"We generally are in accord with the apparent objectives of the proposed law," the governors stated. "We emphasize the fact that our States particularly have suffered because of lack of control over allocations of purchasers, which, in turn, among other reasons, result from a failure properly to limit imports."

The two committees left for the National Capital tonight to confer with congressional and administration leaders.

Blood-Red Rain Puzzles Region of Lake Garda

Gardone, Italy, May 3 (A.P.).—A half-hour downpour of a blood-red rain here and over Lake Garda late today puzzled scientists.

They linked it with the same phenomenon caused by showers of mud and ashes over Rome and Naples yesterday afternoon, but continued to disagree as to the exact nature.

Welfare Policies Allowed.

Weimar, Germany, May 3 (A.P.).—The Thringian Diet today adopted an enabling act authorizing the cabinet to take any measures it chooses for education, art, science, welfare, industry, labor and public security.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A three-piece evening ensamble shows a separate skirt of black crepe, and a casaquin of soft blue faille. The bolero of the matching blue ends in short sleeves three tiered with the black. (Seen on Fifth avenue.)

NOW it's this way. You simply have to make up your own mind on the question of whether to be tailored or feminine—masculine or frilly. I mean all in the same outfit, of course.

It's expensive to be both, anyhow. You have to have certain kinds of accessories with tailored and masculine lines that simply have to be all changed for the feminine things—hence you shouldn't try to be one and then the other another time unless you have a big wardrobe allowance. And there is real danger to personality in trying to be both, anyhow.

If your heart just yearns for frills—and you really aren't at your best in them, then wear the silliest and most frivolous lingerie you can find. And go in for frothy nighties and negligees. But restrain yourself in your public clothes. The same goes for those who delight in exotic colors and bizarre jewelry—indulge in them to your heart's content in private, but not in public!

If, on the other hand, your type calls for feminine clothes and you positively yearn to be a Dr. Mary Walker—indulge in brother's dressing robe, flat heeled mules and tailored silken pyjamas in your boudoir. But the type of woman who is feminine to a degree has less to worry about on the score of masculine attire than the other type, because the masculine lines suit her quite well and even emphasize her femininity. 'Tis the plain woman who has to be more careful, and sure that masculine appearing clothes do not rob her of all charm and make her look like she were trying to be an imitation man.

And as to the economy of the question—take care. It is expensive to "melange" the two types of clothes and accessories!

Have you all the purses you want? Simply and absolutely every single one you want? I don't think any of us have, and some less than others. But you can do what I myself do—make, or even have made, those that you lack. Of course home made bags aren't always the best in the world, but if you send for this week's leaflet which tells you how to make them, they will be perfectly smart and elegant. In this leaflet I tell you how to make only those bags that I myself am carrying, and which I myself had my dressmaker or maid make. Tried and proven—and chic as the day is long. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet and just see for yourself.

• • • •

New York can design clothes, too! How lovely and how entirely practical was this outfit I sketched for you today—with its black crepe skirt, its separate ice blue faille casaquin and its separate bolero with sleeves, each ending in three tiers of the black crepe. Can't you see this in endless sorts of variations? Three colors, even—the skirt and sleeve trimmings in black, the blouse and the bolero in two different colors?

• • • •

We have our organdy troubles—and guess you are the same. But just plain gum arabic distilled into warm water instead of starch solves the problem, especially for all colors except white. The trouble is you have to experiment no end to know how much to use! However, try it—it stiffens the organdy and makes it glisten like new.

BIDDING SUIT BY YOURSELF.

PARTNER'S forced responses to Forcing bids should never be construed as denoting additional values. If you force your partner to bid, it is well to remember that when his response indicates a minimum it may almost be a subminimum rather than anything better.

The occasion for this discussion is a recent Contract hand, of which I witnessed the play at Crockford's Club, New York.

The bidding went as follows:

North	East	South	West
1♣	1♡	2♠	Pass
2NT	Pass	3♣	Pass
3NT	Pass	4◇	Pass
4♠	Pass	5♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

For some reason or other, East and West failed to double, and the final contract was set 2 tricks with the adversely held honor-cards fairly evenly divided. When the score was being jotted down, the South player asked me for my opinion of the bidding and upon whom the blame rested for the unfortunate contract.

"Thou art the man," I responded, borrowing a phrase from one of the prophets of old. "You bid six all by yourself."

Let us briefly analyze the bidding. As a matter of fact, after North had opened with one club, he made no further bids. Each of his responses was forced, and what South did, in effect, was the same as though he had raised the Opening one-club bid to six all at one time. The other bids made by him as his mind apparently was firmly set on the Slam goal from the moment that North made his Opening bid. South made, one after another, a series of absolutely Forcing bids. His first response—that is, two spades—was an absolute Force to game, and North could not let the bidding die until game or its penalty equivalent was reached. North responded by showing a minimum hand. When South raised his club bid to three, North was forced to find another bid, which he did by "signing off" at three notrump. South then reopened the bidding with his four-diamond call, which, as it was not a game contract, compelled North to bid again. His belated Raise of spades did not give his partner the right to assume that he held even adequate spade support, as, after all, North could have bid three spades over three clubs, had his cards warranted it. North felt relieved, with his holding, from making another response until South produced the brilliant bid of five hearts, the suit bid by his opponents, which, of course, compelled North to speak again. True to his partnership obligations, North did speak, bidding five no trump, and South now bid six clubs. The result of the hand I have mentioned. North had to make every one of his four bids in response to his partner's Forces. It was quite possible that South's hand was so big that six clubs, or even seven clubs, for that matter, might be made, but North was making strenuous efforts to prevent his partner from bidding a Slam unless his own hand, with the knowledge that North had an Opening bid, justified it.

When the bidding was at last over, South laid down the hand below:

Spades	A J 10 6
Hearts	A
Diamonds	Q J 10 8
Clubs	K 10 8 7

No doubt, this is a nice hand after partner has opened the bidding with a club. It is not, however, sufficient justification to bid a Slam all by yourself. The hand contains 3½ honor-tricks, required to justify a Forcing Takeout, and has a magnificent fit in clubs. However, it is doubtful if it is even strong enough to arbitrarily decide on a five-club contract in preference to three notrump.

North's hand was:

Spades	Q 8
Hearts	K J 5
Diamonds	8 7 6
Clubs	A Q J 9 5

His responses gave South ample warning of the duplication of values and the near minimum nature of the hand. If North had held the King of diamonds in lieu of the honors in hearts then the Slam would have depended upon a successful finesse in spades, but North knew his own holdings and tried to tell his partner of the dangers. When South refused to accept the warnings of repeated minimum responses, he had only himself to blame for the unfortunate result, but he had a great many explanations to make to a long-suffering partner.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If North and South have reached a contract of six spades, what defensive measures should East adopt to defeat the contract, West's Opening bid being the club Queen?

North, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

What Today Means

"TAURUS."

IF May 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:20 a. m., from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. and from 9:35 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:20 a. m. to 8:40 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m.

You may have to "swallow a bitter pill" of some sort at the office on this May 4, possibly a demotion or the promotion of some one over and beyond you. Do not let this trouble you, but let it serve as a test of character and to spur you on to greater activity.

The child born on this May 4 will quite likely turn out to be the neighborhood "terror," and this whether it be a girl or a boy. Full of all sorts of ideas, ever up to some kind of a mischievous prank and afraid of no one, this little one will think up one thing after another to tease and annoy the neighborhood. Will do well at school.

If May 4 is the date of your birth, the chances are that you are a fiery and animated person. You have no end of confidence in yourself and you have great moral courage. You are the sort of person who sticks pretty much to one thing and to one place. You will make a place for yourself in the community. If you are a woman, you will belong to the various town clubs and you will be active in the church; if you are a man, it is more than likely that you will interest yourself in local politics and that you will be a regular attendant at and worker for some lodge or other. You are very much the family type of person, for there lie your interests primarily, and from your family come your pleasures and joys. You are interested, in fact, in all little people.

If your birthday is on May 4, you are a hard worker and "plugger," if there ever was one. You set yourself a goal, then toward it you strive and struggle without ever a "let up." Your greatest desire in life is to provide comfortably for your dear ones and to leave them comfortably fixed on your demise. You must be careful not to allow yourself to become unduly troubled over matters of a pecuniary nature; do not worry. You should be most careful of your investments, for you are not always sound in your judgments of things financial.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

MAKING TASKS PLEASANT.

THE very word "chore" implies to many irksome drudgery, the result of the way so many children have been taught helpfulness about the home.

To be sure, household tasks can not always be an unmitigated joy, but they certainly can be made less painful than they often are. Here are suggestions for helping a child to accept his home responsibilities cheerfully:

Set an example of cheerful efficiency yourself. If you grumble about what you have to do, put off until tomorrow what you should do today, your child will "tune in" on the note of your own attitude.

As far as possible let him choose his jobs and try to make them interesting in themselves and satisfying in their results.

Let him feel that in doing them he is doing his share while others do theirs. Let him feel that his chores are a part of the common responsibility, that he is working with you rather than for you.

Be generous with your approval when he has done well a new task or one which requires of him a good deal of moral effort.

Change his jobs before they grow stale, as often as this is practically possible.

Allow him some discretion in choosing the time in which to do his work. Say, for instance, that certain things must be done before the week is over, plan with him how best this may be accomplished, and then leave him all possible freedom.

Don't nag. Start with light, congenial responsibilities, and as the child's own sense of responsibility develops, gradually increase the burden, but never to the point of overtaxing a reasonable degree of good will.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

A WHOOPING COUGH VACCINE.

THIS column is asked whether there is a whooping cough vaccine and, if so, whether it is on the market, and how much good it does.

A vaccine has been made by at least one physician. This man is a children's specialist of broad experience. He has been studying whooping cough for several years, and no one in the country knows more about that disease than he. For many years he has practiced diagnosing whooping cough bacteriologically and has made a success of it. This method of diagnosing the disease has had considerable vogue in Denmark, and for a year or more has been an official diagnostic procedure in Copenhagen, but not many American physicians have made extensive use of it.

Having satisfied himself that he was getting good results from the bacterial method of diagnosing whooping cough, this specialist turned his attention to making a vaccine. That which he devised is a suspension of bacilli of whooping cough bacilli, killed by phenol, kept for a week or more, and then tested to make certain that none are alive. This suspension is injected into the arms at intervals of a week. One treatment consists of two injections, one given in each arm. Three treatments are given.

There is some local and general reaction after each treatment, about as much as follows one of the series of typhoid vaccinations. There is some redness and local swelling at the point of injection, and a lump remains for about a week. The fever rises to a little over 100 and is accompanied by some discomfort.

The vaccine is kept in a refrigerator and under these conditions will retain its effectiveness for probably as long as four months. However, it needs to be reseeded from fresh bacteria grown from current cases during this period.

This physician has used his vaccine on several hundred children, some of whom were in the house with cases of whooping cough, or were otherwise exposed to the disease. Exposure is something more than merely being near. He counts only as exposure having a whooping patient cough into the face of the exposed person. He is satisfied that the method of vaccination has proved successful. However, the method is still in the experimental stage. The vaccine is not on the market.

Today's Recipe

Salmon Croquettes, Serving Two.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
2-3 cup salmon
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon chopped parsley
1 egg or 2 yolks
2 tablespoons cold water
2-3 cup rolled crumbs
8 tablespoons fat

Melt butter and add flour. Mix well and add milk and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add salmon and seasonings. Cool. Mix egg and water. Take tablespoons of salmon mixture and dip into crumbs, then into egg and again into crumbs. Shape and chill. When ready to cook, bring croquettes into kitchen and let stand for ten minutes. Heat fat in frying pan. Add and quickly brown croquettes.

ALLEGED SHORTAGE PAYMENT OFFERED

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

It was revealed from reliable sources yesterday that the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland has made an offer to settle the alleged shortages in the accounts of former County Treasurer E. Wade Ball, which are reported to be $520,000, to the extent of approximately 70 per cent.

While Lawrence W. Douglas, commonwealth's attorney, would not comment, he said he would make a full statement after the matter has been made public by the county board.

The matter, it is learned, was before the board at a meeting yesterday morning, but failing to reach agreement, the board will meet again today at 5:30 p. m. at the courthouse when definate action is expected.

Case First Aired in 1932.

The alleged shortage was first made public by the county board February 24, 1932, when it was reported to be $200,000. Ball who had held the office more than 24 years, having been reelected to serve another four years in November 1931 with no opposition, resigned on February 26, 1932.

Ball was arrested on a warrant issued by Commonwealth's Attorney Douglas, March 19, 1932. He was indicted at the April term of the Circuit Court.

At the June term of the Circuit Court Ball was again indicted, this time for grand larceny of State funds.

Acquitted and Later Convicted.

On August 19, 1932, Ball was acquitted by a jury on charges of misuse of public funds. On April 1, 1933, he was convicted by a jury on charge of failure to turn over county funds totaling $515,959, carrying with it a sentence of 2½ years in the State penitentiary.

While the court has passed sentence, it is being held in abeyance pending outcome of appeal to be taken to the State Court of Appeals. He is released on $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Pflaster Dies After Brief Illness

Descendant of Old Families Will Be Buried Tomorrow at Bluemont.

Mrs. Mary Turner Pflaster, of 1801 K street northwest, a descendant of old Washington and St. Louis families, died yesterday afternoon at Emergency Hospital after a few weeks' illness.

Mrs. Pflaster was the widow of George E. Pflaster, of Bluemont, Va. She was a daughter of the late Mrs. Harriet S. Turner, of Washington, widow of Capt. Thomas Turner, of St. Louis.

She is survived by her sisters, Mrs. Kingsbury Waterman, of Paris; Mrs. Horton Pope, of Denver; Sister St. Mary Edith, of Lewiston, Me., and Mrs. Hedley Cooke and Mrs. Lee Benoist, of Washington, and by a brother, Campbell Turner, of Washington.

Services will be at 9 a. m. tomorrow at St. Matthew's Church. Interment will be in Bluemont.

'ANN HARDING SAVED IN BOAT ACCIDENT

craft. The name of the master was not obtained.

About 3 miles off shore, the actress related, the boat capsized in making a turn and the four were thrown into the sea. As they swam to the surface, she said the sailor cried out to them to swim to the boat and "hang on."

After they had succeeded in obtaining safe holds upon the keel of the boat, Miss Harding said the master decided to attempt to swim to shore and obtain help. He had progressed but a short distance, she related, when a fin broke the water and, with a scream, the sailor was dragged under the surface. Other fins of sharks showed, she said, and the sailor disappeared.

She and her companions were seized with fright, but, despite the unfortunate fate of their companion, they were not molested by the sharks.

For 3½ hours they clung to the boat, she said, fearing any attempt to swim ashore. Finally Kirkland, waving a shirt in the air, succeeded in obtaining the attention of two men, who sailed out and rescued the trio.

Friends said they understood her to say that the two men were Capt. Wargett and George Andrews, members of the American consulate at Havana.

NORRIS PLAN FORCES SPURN HOUSE PLAN

fertilizer and Government distribution of power.

The Norris bill provides for experimental production of fixed nitrogen and fertilizers at hte Shoals nitrate plants.

Under an amendment offered by the Nebraskan and approved yesterday the proposed Tennessee River authority—the Government corporation which will administer the law—would have authority to go into production itself or lease nitrate plant No. 2 to the American Farm Bureau Federation or some agency of that organization for exclusive fertilizer production.

The Hill bill provides for commercial or quantity production of fertilizers.

Differences in Bills.

As for power, the Norris measure provides for Government construction, purchase or lease of transmission lines, while the House bill would have the Government first try to contract with private parties for distribution of the power before building any lines itself.

Efforts by Senator Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, to substitute the House fertilizer and power clauses met with signal defeat after Norris had indicated his own provisions more nearly met President Roosevelt's wishes.

Prince Georges' Pupils on Increase

Miss Shears' Figures Show Jump of 1,400 for Last Two Years.

The annual increase in the number of children attending Prince Georges County schools has jumped from approximately 800 pupils to the outstanding number of 700 each year for the last two years, according to figures recently completed under the direction of Miss Kathleen Shears, county attendance officer.

The increase in the number of white children under the age of 19 enrolled in the schools increased to 11,481 during the past year. The number in 1931 was 10,015.

An increase of 2,364 in the county's white population under 19 years of age has been shown in the past two years. The figures jumped from 17,566 in 1931 to 19,930 in 1933. The former figures include 6,451 not enrolled in any school. This year the number has reached 7,032.

The census also shows that only 39 children between the ages of 7 and 14 are not in public schools. Of this number 36 are either physically or mentally defective.

Dr. Ashton to Be Guest Of Alexandria P.-T. A.

Dr. John T. Ashton, chairman of the Alexandria School Board, will speak at the annual parent-teacher council meeting tonight at 8 o'clock, in the Alexandria High School auditorium. Music will be furnished by the high school glee club.

The council at this meeting will celebrate its tenth anniversary, and the past presidents of the organization will light the candles on the birthday cake.

The schools represented are Washington, Lee, Jefferson, Maury, Mount Vernon, Alexandria High and George Mason High.

Mrs. T. Marshall Jones was the first president at the formation of the general council ten years ago, and was succeeded by Mrs. E. E. Carver, who served six years. She was succeeded by Mrs. Morton Apperson, then Mrs. Stephen H. Field, each for a one-year term, with Mrs. Carver reelected the past session.

ALLEN WOULD GIVE TOWNS ROAD RELIEF

Delegate, Seeking Reelection, Says Progress Penalized by Present Plan.

Delegate Edmund H. Allen, of Fairfax County, Va., yesterday issued a statement concerning county road bond indebtedness, outlining part of his platform in his campaign for reelection this fall.

In opening his statement, Allen assumes that the roads of the State will be handled indefinitely under the State system of primary and secondary highways. He declares that under such system, whereby all the county roads were incorporated in the State secondary system, under the Byrd act, the magisterial districts and incorporated towns of the county should be relieved of bonded indebtedness on such roads by the State.

Favors Gradual Retirement.

Allen states he is in favor of legislation by the State Assembly requiring the State to assume the bonded road indebtedness of the counties and provide for financing of such project by issuing long-term bonds at the lowest possible rate of interest. He would provide for gradual retirement of these bonds by an annual appropriation from the tag and gasoline tax fund.

Under the present arrangement the more progressive districts and towns of the State are penalized by the result of their progress, he declares. All road relief legislation of the past session of the assemblies did not provide for relief of the districts and towns for debts incurred for construction of such roads and it results in these sections being required to still levy a road tax to meet the indebtedness.

Says Rule Is Unjust.

He declares that construction of these roads would advance road improvement for the State and that he believes that the bonded indebtedness incurred for their construction should have been taken over by the State at the same time as the roads. Requirement of the law that makes the local taxpayer pay for a road over which the local authorities have no jurisdiction is discriminatory and unjust, he declares, and believes that some plan similar to the old Robinson act, whereby certain road improvement expenditures by the county can be returned to them.

Democratic Union Club Stages Open Meeting

The first open meeting of the Democratic Union Club was held last night at the Anne Clarendon Club, 1640 Rhode Island avenue northwest, with more than 300 members in attendance.

Guest speakers included John H. Hoeppel, of California; Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, and A. J. Driscoll. A program of entertainment concluded the session.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS' ROW IS PATCHED UP

Dissenting Faction of Club Tentatively Agrees to New Constiuttion.

The much-discussed split between young Washington Democrats over acceptance of a new national constitution of the Young Democrats Club of America, reached a tentative settlement last night when the dissenting faction agreed to unite with the rival group by approving, conditionally, the proposed constitution.

Meeting in the Carlton Hotel, the original organization, which some weeks ago refused to accept the new constitution proposed by officers of the national club, voted to overrule their first decision by agreeing to the constitution, providing it is approved by the coming national convention of Young Democratic Clubs.

Victor Russell, president of the regular club, explained that his group was still opposed to the method by which the constitution was presented for ratification. He contended that it was illegal for the national committee to submit it to the various clubs before the national convention had passed approval.

Many members of the original Washington club left to set up their own organization, and since then the two groups have operated independently.

Victim of Street Car Will Rest in Arlington

Giuseppe Nicol, killed April 13 when struck by a street car near Brentwood, Md., will be buried with full military honors in Arlington National Cemetery at 11 a. m. today. The services will be sponsored by the American Legion.

Nicol, a World War veteran, was first interred in Greenwood Cemetery.

TWO ARE DECLARED GUILTY IN ROBBERY

Prince Georges Jury Returns Verdict of Guilt in Jarratt-Koontz Case.

A verdict of guilty on three counts was returned by a Prince Georges County jury yesterday in the case of Daniel Koontz and Ralph Jarratt, charged with entering a Riverdale (Md.) grocery last March 19.

Mrs. Catherine Koontz, 16-year-old wife of Daniel, charged in the indictment with participation in the robbery, was found guilty of receiving stolen property. John White and Louis Samuels, attorneys for the defendants, indicated they would move for a new trial.

The prosecution, upheld by State's Attorney Alan Bowie, based its contention on the testimony of Joseph Lee, colored, of Norbeck, Md., and Deputy Sheriff Thomas H. Garrison, who presented statements alleged to have been made by Mrs. Koontz.

Lee, an employe of the Manor Country Club, near Norbeck, testified that on the morning of March 23 a Washington taxicab drove into the woods near the club and dislodged a battered safe. He took the license number, which, he said, corresponded to those given the court by David Glassman, manager of the City Cab Co., as belonging to a cab rented to Koontz. The safe was identified as the one taken from the store with $478 locked in it.

Deputy Sheriff Garrison said Mrs. Koontz had made the statement that her husband had driven to their Washington home the night of the robbery in a cab. The cab contained a safe, she is alleged to have said.

INFLATION ENACTED BY HOUSE, 307 TO 86

Connery (Massachusetts), Drewery (Virginia), Hoeppel (California), Huddleston (Alabama) and Richardson (Pennsylvania)—voted in opposition.

Senator Smith issued the call for the formal meeting today, at which time 83 amendments will be considered, including the disputed proposal for permitting Secretary Wallace, in his discretion, to proclaim a minimum price to be paid for farm products going into the domestic market. Secretary Wallace is opposed to this proposition.

Modernize with Gas FOR YEAR ROUND COMFORT
Now Everyone Can Afford
AUTOMATIC GAS HEAT
$155.00
FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY
The lowest price ever offered on completely automatic gas heating plants

Less than the cost of a theater ticket! . . . less than 25c a day! That's all it costs—completely installed—for a thoroughly efficient automatic gas heating unit that fits right into your present furnace. And you have two years in which to buy this unit—beginning next October, ending in October, 1935!

Because of savings in the purchase of automatic gas burners, we are able to make this extremely liberal price offer. And because there are thousands of families who would like to do away with dirty fuel storage, finish their basements into recreation rooms, we have deferred monthly payments until the next heating season, when the furnace will actually be in use.

There is no better time than now to make this change. But the offer may not last beyond this month! We have a limited number of these heating plants to offer at this low price and indications are that many families have resolved not to go through another winter without automatic gas heat.

Phone or come in today—or see your heating contractor!

Stocks Fractionally Lower Under Profit-Taking Drive

Resistance to Drop Holds Losses Down; Sales, 4,637,560 Shares.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Stocks shifted position frequently today, but profit-taking uncovered a strong vein of resistance and net changes were of relatively minor importance, at least measured by recent standards.

Acceptance by the House of the inflation program brought an afternoon upturn, even though that news contained no element of surprise. Quotations reacted when the demonstration had ended, however. This setback ran into a lively upturn by some commodity shares, principally copper and rubber issues.

Rails were sogGY most of the day, for traders did not waste much time in accepting profits that had accrued from Tuesday's rally. Utilities again hardened at times. Oils weakened in further reflection of East Texas prices and production difficulties as well as latest dividend casualties. Steels appeared to have discounted the latest word on favorable trends in their industry.

U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Can, National Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Standard Oils of California and New Jersey, American Tobacco "B" and a number of rails lost major fractions to more than a point. Union Pacific was off 3, Anaconda, Kennecott, International Nickel, Noranda, Cerro de Pasco and American Smelting turned over actively in the late trading on gains ranging above a point. Goodyear, Firestone, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber were firm to strong. Radio climbed nearly a point. Volume expanded to 4,637,560 shares.

Markets have now had two weeks of inflation psychology and have scarcely missed any opportunities to discount the immediate future. One result, aside from a huge aggregate appreciation in quoted values, has undoubtedly been some stimulation to business as consumers have sought to beat an advance in costs. Iron Age mentions "the widespread belief that prices are definitely headed upward" as one reason for the steel industry's spurt. Activity there is still limited largely to miscellaneous orders and the filling of automobile orders. Building construction and the railroads are very light customers.

Whether markets have outstripped business prospects and have discounted dollar depreciation are questions currently causing some conjecture, the answers being necessarily obscure at this time. Speculative fires, once kindled, are sometimes hard to quench.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Wed.	Tues.
Advances	384	344
Declines	293	300
Unchanged	158	151
Total issues	835	795

Stocks.

Positions shifted frequently and the market finally closed four-tenths of a point down. Profit-takers were blamed. The turnover increased to 4,637,560 shares.

Bonds.

Rails led bonds upward again. The list closed four-tenths of a point higher. Best grade issues also joined the advance. Sales totaled $17,531,000.

Curb.

Erratic movements still marked curb dealings, but the list advanced in spite of some reactions. Sales totaled 485,000 shares.

Wheat.

Excited dealing after inflation approval sent wheat and other grains skyrocketing. The turnover in wheat totaled about 100,000,000 bushels. May wheat sold at 71½ to 71⅝ cents.

Cotton.

An early advance was trimmed by a sharp reaction, but the general market closed unchanged to 5 points higher. July sold at 8.25.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Rio tintos and oil shares were firm in quiet but cheerful session of the stock exchange today in contrast to continental support. Transatlantic issues were also firm, while gold mining shares eased on the decline in gold. Gilt-edged securities drooped on lack of support, while Argentine rails were fractionally higher. The closing was steady.

Paris—Although some issues, including rentes, declined, the tone of the bourse was generally firm under the influence of favorable Wall street advices. The market closed firm.

Berlin—The tone of the boerse was weaker.

Steel Prices Unchanged.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Steel prices unchanged.

BOND MARKET RISES UNDER RAILS' LEAD

High Grade Issues Join in Advance; Sales Up to $17,531,000.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—The bond market followed the rails upward today as a number of carrier specialties recorded gains of 1 to as much as 5 points.

Although the sharpest advances were confined to secondary issues, highest grade maturities were steady to firm and United States Government securities had their best day in a week or more. Foreign obligations, however, displayed an irregularly lower trend.

The trading volume expanded to $17,531,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds moved up four-tenths of a point.

Dried Fruits Steady.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Dried fruits steady, unchanged.

America's Old Freight Cars Shipped to Japan as Junk

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—America's derelict freight cars, obsolete, wrecked or rusting in disuse, are sailing for Japan as junk iron at a rate of thousands of tons a month.

A report that 2,000 cars had been bought up from Southeastern railroads for shipment to the Orient brought an explanation today from M. S. Kaplan, Chicago scrap iron dealer. He said he was loading a ship at Jacksonville for Japan via the Panama Canal at cheaper transportation than by rail from New York to Pittsburgh.

His company in the last six years has purchased 60,000 worn-out freight cars, 16,000 since January 1. Kaplan said they were stripped of wood and the metal was sold, mostly for shipment to Japan. He estimated that 250,000 tons of scrap had been taken from wrecked cars this year. Italy is another big buyer of scrap iron.

The cars averaged $3,000 at original cost, the dealer said, and are bought for scrap at $40 to $80 each. Old box and gondola types now obsolete or uneconomical because of the cost of repairs, storage, insurance, interest and other fees are junked.

Kaplan said one railroad had turned its old rolling stock into $1,000,000 cash in the last year.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Further advances ranging from 5c to 15c a yard were made in wool goods for fall men's wear deliveries today. Some mills have withdrawn lines from sale. Cotton goods quieter and barely steady in the gray goods division. Silks continue in moderate demand. Viscose rayons have been sold up closely through June by a few producers. Burlaps firm; stocks in Calcutta 50 per cent less than a year ago.

CURB PRICES HIGHER IN SPITE OF LOSSES

Heavier Advances Trimmed by Reactions; Sales, 485,000 Shares.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—Erratic movements featured the Curb Market today. From early steadiness the main body of shares worked into higher territory, but many advances were reduced or erased under last-hour realizing.

Oils were inclined to heaviness all day.

Utilities were firm at times, but finished little better than steady. Electric Bond & Share advanced more than a point at one time, but this was erased in the late trading.

Among industrials Acme Steel and Parker Rustproof each closed 2 points higher, while Newmont Mining advanced nearly as much. Transfers today amounted to 485,000 shares, compared with 387,000 shares yesterday.

WHEAT VALUES SOAR ON INFLATION VOTING

Sales in Excited Dealing 100,000,000 Units for Session.

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—In excited dealings that for wheat alone totaled about 100,000,000 bushels, all grains went skyrocketing today on House approval of the Roosevelt inflation program.

Wheat scored a maximum gain of 2½ cents a bushel and reached as high as 77¾ cents, December delivery, with July approximating 75 cents, up 3⅛ cents from its recent low point. Practically all deliveries of wheat, corn, oats and rye outdid the season's previous high record quotations, but reacted sharply in the last few minutes as a result of heavy selling to realize profits.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛ off to ¾ up, compared with yesterday's finish; corn, ⅜ to 1⅝ advance; oats, at ¼ to ⅝ gain, and provisions showing a rise of .5 to 15 cents.

Traders Anticipate Inflation.

From the outset, wheat traders acted on belief that inflation was certain of immediate enactment. Rushes to buy began as soon as business opened and were accelerated on account of preceding strength shown in securities, cotton and sterling. Besides, the Liverpool wheat market was higher than looked for, and British millers were reported to be oversold on flour.

Enormous purchasing of wheat reached a climax when definite news was flashed shortly before the close that inflation had won at Washington. It was at this juncture that speculators feverishly bid as high as 2½ cents over yesterday's latest quotations on wheat. A large part of the buying near the top was credited to Eastern sources.

Aside from inflation developments, interest of wheat traders focused on reports of unfavorable conditions further restricting spring wheat prospects both north and south of the Canadian line. Crop reports about domestic winter wheat Southwest continued to be adverse.

Corn developed independent strength owing to talk of Congress taking favorable action on proposed alcohol-gasoline legislation, estimated to mean 120,000,000 bushels increased use of corn. Oats followed corn.

Provisions advanced with hog values and with grains.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Heavy chemicals—Metal derivatives and several imported products continue to show a tendency to higher price levels. Tin crystals have been advanced a cent a pound.

Silk—Recent advances in Greige goods have been firmly maintained and mills appear to be well sold ahead, according to trade reports.

Floor coverings—The trade expects that the advance in prices announced this week by a leading manufacturer of felt base and linoleum lines will be followed by other producers.

Burlap—Stocks in Calcutta at the end of April, amounting to 80,200,000 yards, are about 50 per cent less than a year ago.

Tin—Dealers view the recent sharp advance in prices as supported to a considerable extent by a stronger statistical position, reflecting firm adherence to fixed export quotas by the producing countries.

COTTON PRICES RISE IS CUT BY REACTION

July Sells at 8.25 With Market Unchanged to 5 Points Up.

New York, May 3 (A.P.).—An early advance which was widened sharply on the news of passage by the House of the inflation bill, was followed by an equally sharp reaction in cotton today.

July contracts, which had sold up to 8.40, broke to 8.19 and closed at 8.25, with the general market closing barely steady net unchanged to 5 points higher.

Initial prices were 7 to 13 points higher on relatively steady Liverpool cables and a continued buying by commission house and other sources.

There was some Southern and foreign selling but offerings were readily absorbed.

On the Washington news May sold up to 8.25, October to 8.65, while March advanced to the 9-cent mark.

The advance was checked by heavy realizing and the market broke quite rapidly with the more active months selling about 4 to 6 points net lower. The close was a few points up from the lows.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil was steady today, closing net unchanged to 7 points higher on scattered covering and commission house buying. Firmness in lard offset the reactionary trend of other commodities after the House adoption of the inflation amendment to the farm relief bill. Sales were 25 contracts. Bleachable spot closed 4.75; May, 4.75; July, 4.80; September, 4.96; December, 5.12.

CRONIN SELECTS CROWDER TO FACE TRIBE TODAY

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Cleveland, Ohio, May 3.

THE Yankees, who batted themselves into pennants in 1921, '22, '23, '26, '27 and '28, and who pitched themselves into the pennant in '32, are now threatening to run themselves out of the pennant in '33.

New York has been beaten five times this season, and two-fifths of their defeats can be directly charged to some mental acrobatics on the bases that should make the Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow resign in disgrace from his legendary niche. The headless base running of the Yanks should be recognized as a superior claim.

Crosetti Comes Through With a "Gehrig."

Lou Gehrig had been preeminent in the inexcusable base running of the Yanks, being thrown out both at second and at the plate by Goose Goslin last Saturday, with the latter putout casting the Yanks the ball game, but yesterday Frank Crosetti ran the Yanks to defeat.

None was out and the Yanks were a run behind the Tigers when Crosetti singled in the ninth, to put the tying run on base. Then, against all the cardinal principles of baseball, which recognize that it is difficult enough to get the tying run on base with none out in the ninth, Crosetti tried to stretch his blow into a double and was promptly thrown out at second base. As long as the Yanks keep running, all's well with the rest of the league.

Quinn Passed Up Walker For Red Sox.

Clark Griffith, of the Griffith Stadium Griffiths, who is considerably hopped up over his ball team this year, but considers it quite indelicate to predict a pennant, is traveling with the club until June 9, when he will attend the American League's spring meeting here. Advance reports indicate that the chief business of the meeting will be to welcome the new owners of the Red Sox into the official family.

And speaking of the Red Sox, Griffith tells of Owner Bob Quinn's dilemma last year after the Mac-Fayden deal with the Yankees when Henry Johnson, New York pitcher, claimed illness and refused to report to the Red Sox.

Quinn was talking on the long-distance phone to Griffith and explained that the Yankees were offering another player in lieu of Johnson. He was undecided on his choice.

"Grab Walker," Griffith told Quinn.

But the Boston owner decided to wait until Johnson was ready to report from his home in Florida.

Griffith now declares that Walker is the best-looking outfielder he has seen break into the big leagues in ten years. "He has everything," says Griffith.

Griffith is wondering how much help he is getting from Connie Mack in the attempt of the seven other clubs to stop the Yankees.

Mack's ace, Lefty Grove, has been thrown into three of the seven games between the A's and the Nats, but Mack has not deigned to start him once in the A's four games with the Yankees.

There must be a reason, but it's a mystery to Griffith.

Jack Quinn, who was on the mound when Nero hit the high pitch with his lyre while Rome burned, offered his services to the Washington Club early in the week after he had been given his outright release by Brooklyn, but Manager Cronin declined with thanks.

Moe Berg is proving an evil influence with the Nats. He was Carl Reynolds' roommate when Bill Dickey landed a haymaker on Reynolds' jaw last summer. This season Moe is the roommate of Earl Whitehill, who led with his chin against Ben Chapman. "But they can't hurt us," said Moe.

Georgetown Nine Beaten In Ninth

Four Scores Made in Final Inning by Mt. St. Mary's

Neslie Strikes Out 13 Men, But Loses by 5 to 4 Score.

Special to The Washington Post.

EMMITTSBURG, Md., May 3.—Coming through with a thrilling Garrison finish in the ninth inning after being held to two lone hits, Mount St. Mary's College scored four runs here this afternoon to defeat Georgetown University, 5 to 4.

George Neslie, little Georgetown pitcher, hurled a splendid game, striking out thirteen men, but blew up in the final session after several miscues by his mates, and permitted three more hits and two walks.

Farrell led off the ninth with a walk, went to second when Joe Lynch's Texas leaguer fell safely, advanced to third on Hartigan's error on Stuka's infield hit and scored when Chanowski walked.

With the bases still filled, both Norris and McCormick singled and three more runs were over.

Only Other Run Is Homer.

Norris hit a homer in the sixth for the Mountaineers' only other run. Pat O'Rourke, who started on the mound for Mount St. Mary's, gave the Washingtonians a two-run lead in the first inning when two walks, a passed ball and a single counted Rapp and Hall. Two hits and an error scored another in the third, when Sullivan relieved the starting pitcher and held the visitors to one more run and five hits for the rest of the game.

City of Washington Tennis Blanks Ready

Entry blanks for the City of Washington championship tennis tournament, won last year by Dooley Mitchell, are now available and may be procured at any of the public parks tennis booths, or at local sporting goods stores, it was announced yesterday by Secretary Bill Shreves.

The tournament opens on Saturday, May 13, with competition in singles and doubles for men and women.

Pros Tomorrow Open Anacostia Park Links

Four Washington professionals will take a leading part in officially opening the new Anacostia Park golf course tomorrow afternoon.

Beginning at 3 o'clock Al Houghton and A. B. Thorn, who are to engage Gene Sarazen and Joe Kirkwood in an exhibition match for charity Sunday at Kenwood, will take on Bill Carson, Anacostia pro, and Mel Shorey, of East Potomac, in a special match. The public is invited.

Mitchell, First Southpaw To Throw Curve, Is Dead

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 3 (A.P.).—Bobby Mitchell, 77, credited in local baseball circles with having been the first left handed pitcher to throw a curved ball in the major leagues, died in the county home here yesterday. He played with the Cincinnati Reds from 1876 to 1879.

Officials said Mitchell entered the home in 1928 and had paid $10 a month for his board until his funds were exhausted.

Wake Forest Beats G. W., 17 to 14

Homer in Ninth With Two On Decides Night Game.

IN a free batting contest, Wake Forest College won from George Washington last night by a score of 17 to 14 at Griffith Stadium.

The Deacons were forced to use three hurlers before they could subdue the Colonial batsmen.

Brogden featured the game with a home run in the ninth with two men on bases, breaking a 14-14 deadlock and clinching the victory for the North Carolina outfit.

During the early evening a carnival of sports was held and music furnished by the George Washington Band. Despite chilly weather, 1,500 fans witnessed the game.

G. W. Nine Is Host To West Virginia

Boys' bands and college baseball players will provide the entertainment tonight at Griffith Stadium in the fourth of a series of nocturnal programs arranged by the George Washington University athletic department for the benefit of the National Capital Civic Fund.

Five boys' bands will compete for the District of Columbia championship and a silver cup donated by the Board of Trade in a contest starting at 7 o'clock. First Lieut. Leon Brusiloff, of the Sixth Marine Reserve Brigade, will direct the event with the aid of Horace Talbot, leader of the Quantico Marine Band. Judges will be Capt. William J. Stannard, of the U. S. Army Band; Capt. Taylor Branson, of the U. S. Marine Band, and Lieut. Charles Benter, of the U. S. Navy Band.

Dusek Shows Garibaldi The Ropes

Half-Strangles Foe and Then Pins Him Without Trouble.

Joke Bout and Three Other Good Ones Please 6,000.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

LISPING Ernie Dusek, who, like a spoiled kid, claps his hands when he thinks he is good, stamps his feet peevishly when things are going against him, and who last night seemed more perturbed when a couple of rolled-up programs were tossed at himethan if someone were shooting a bullet at him, downed Gino Garibaldi in the listed top-liner of the Auditorium rassle show.

While he was credited with a fall on the rassle books, your Aunt Kate could have downed Garibaldi after he was released from a strange hold among the ring ropes. Aunt Kate, though, could not have so cleverly tangled the Italian battler in the ropes, and this is all the credit due Lisping Ernie last night—if it can be called crdeitable to win a bout in this manner.

The boys had been putting on a good, rough show for 40 minutes when hostilities suddenly ended. Ernie worked Gino over toward the ropes, twisted the two upper ones around the Italian's neck and then started tightening. Referee Cyclone Burns, anything but a cyclone in the ring, was nearly knocked out by Ernie while trying to extricate the half-strangled matman. When he finally did, it was no trick at all for Ernie to roll Gino on his back while the three-count was more or less perfunctorily tolled. A good crowd of about 6,000 showed unusual activity at the finish, which made it necessary for some of Maj. Brown's finest to help drag the gladiators out of the ring.

Steinke Tosses Bull Komar.

One joke bout, the semifinal, and three other good ones completed the program. Hans Steinke tossed Bull Komer in 11½ minutes in the semifinal, which reminded one of a slow movie. Hans found it difficult to let Komar stay with him as long as he did and looked almost as bad as the face-making Bull in trying to do so.

The opening bout was packed full of interest throughout, with Eli Fisher, a strong and willing but inexperienced worker, downing Babe Caddock in 24 minutes.

Dick Daviscourt, who has many of the mat habits of Tigah Nelson, won from Lou Plummer. The latter kept pecking away at an injured nose Daviscourt carried into action with him. He had Daviscourt looking so pitiful at times that there was not a dry eye in the house and there were many audible sniffs. Meanwhile, Plummer was laughing every time he started the claret flowing from the wounded beak. Daviscourt had the last laugh, though, winning on a crotch-hold and body press in eighteen minutes.

Jones-Davis Tiff Rip-Snorter.

The other bout, a draw between Paul Jones and Karl Davis, was a rip-snorter. The latter, a newcomer here, showed plenty of speed, could take it as well as dole it out, and gave the fans many a haw-haw by pressing Jones' nerves here and there and causing him all kinds of misery. He pressed different parts of Jones' anatomy like electric light buttons—and invariably with results. He also managed to keep Jones from getting his killing figure-four scissors hold on him; hence the draw verdict.

As to the finish of the Dusek-Garibaldi bout, some one should do something about it, except that no one seems to be doing anything about rassling bouts these days.

Loom as Cream of 1933 Baseball Rookie Crop

You are looking at a quartet of the year's most highly touted rookie talent. Perhaps there's a Cobb or a Mathewson in the lot. Rowe was a sensation with Beaumont last year, while Beck won 27 games for Memphis. They are the cream of the freshmen pitchers. Finney and Medwick, outfielders, both starred for Portland and Houston, respectively, until they were roped in by the big league scouts.

BRAVE RALLY BEATS REDS BY 6-4

Knothe, Schulmerich Hit Homers; First Loss for Lucas.

BOSTON, May 3 (A.P.).—Extra-base hits off the bats of Walter Berger, Wes Schulmerich and Wilfred Knothe today conquered Red Lucas for the first time this season and gave the Boston Braves a 6-to-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the only game played in the National League.

Going into the eighth, Lucas was well on his way to his fourth victory when Randy Moore, whose triple had led to the Braves' first run in the fourth, cracked out a single. Berger followed with a triple and, in rapid succession, Knothe and Schulmerich hit home runs.

Reds Score Twice on No Hits.

Ben Cantwell held the Reds at bay until the seventh inning, when they scored twice without getting a hit. Two bases on balls, an error by Knothe and an outfield fly tied the count. The Reds went out in front in their half of the eighth, scoring two runs on four singles, only to have the Braves stage their extra-base rally in the last half of the frame.

U. S.-Mexican Tennis Cup Drawings Made

Mexico City, May 3 (A.P.).—Pairings for the opening singles matches of the Davis Cup series between the United States and Mexico, which begins Friday morning, were announced tonight by Faustino Guillen, president of the Mexican Lawn Tennis Association.

Wilmer Allison, the Texas star who is captain of the United States team, faces Ricardo Tapia, Mexican captain and outstanding player of the team. It is expected to bring the hardest match of the series and Mexico's best chance for a victory.

In the second match Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, is to face Esteben M. Reyes, substitute for Jorge Acosta, who is sick. Reyes is generally considered the better player of the two, but was beaten out in preliminary competition.

Levinsky Stops Retzlaff in First Half-Dozen Smashes to His Head Fell Dynamiter at Chicago.

Chicago, May 3 (A.P.).—King Levinsky, the former fish peddler, at last found a spot tonight for a knockout wallop.

Charley Retzlaff, called the "Duluth Dynamiter," and a knocker-out himself, fell a victim to Levinsky's furious wallops in the first round of their scheduled ten-round battle in the Chicago stadium. The fight was over just 2 minutes and 15 seconds after it started.

After Retzlaff poked a couple of long lefts into Levinsky's face, and finally stung him with a right to the jaw, the Kingfish speared Retzlaff with a roundhouse right to the head that floored him. Retzlaff took a count of five only to run into a terrific barrage when he got up.

Levinsky, quickly noting Retzlaff was tottering, clipped him with rights and lefts that knocked him spinning into the ropes. The Kingfish landed a half dozen smashes to the head before Retzlaff sank to the floor. Retzlaff tried to get up, but was resting on his knees, dazed and bewildered, when the count was finished. Levinsky weighed 200½ pounds and Retzlaff scaled 196½.

Shields, Stoefen At Chevy Chase

Reddy to Start Play for Doubles Championship Tomorrow.

Already on the scene of battle, Frank Shields, 1932 Davis Cup star and recent winner of the Mason and Dixie and Hot Springs, Va., tennis championships, and Lester Stoefen, crack California player, today will wind up their preliminary work for the Chevy Chase invitation doubles championship and will team together in the two-day classic opening tomorrow installed as outstanding favorites.

Shields and Stoefen spent yesterday, their second day here, limbering up on the Chevy Chase courts, and will be joined today by Manuel Alonzo, international star; Sidney B. Wood, youthful sensation, and other top notch contestants.

Lawrence A. Baker, Chevy Chase tennis chairman and member of the Davis Cup committee, stated yesterday that there was a strong possibility that Pierre Landry, noted French player, would be a participant.

The drawings will not be made until tomorrow morning, but play will get under way at 11 o'clock. Sixteen teams are expected to compete, with the semifinals slated Saturday morning and the finals in the afternoon. Stands erected for the Davis Cup matches at Chevy Chase late this month will be used to accommodate the crowd.

RED SOX WIN AFTER SIX LOSSES

Andrews Outpitches Hadley, 6-2; West Gets Homer.

ST. LOUIS, May 3 (A.P.).—Ivy Paul Andrews outpitched Irving Hadley and the Boston Red Sox won from the St. Louis Browns today for their first victory after six straight defeats, 6 to 2.

Andrews allowed only six hits while Hadley allowed eight, including three doubles and two triples. The most effective Boston hitting was by Jolley, who got a single, double and triple and batted in two runs, and by Alexander, who doubled to bring in a run. Sam West, of the Browns, got his third home run of the season, in the fourth, with no one on.

The Sox got off to a three-run lead in the first. A single, two doubles and Scharein's error did the work. Hadley kept the visitors' hits well scattered after that, except in the fifth, when he allowed a walk and two singles, which brought in two runs.

Aside from West's homer, the Browns only run was scored in the seventh on two singles and an error by Jolley.

Star Cup Tournament Entrants to Practice

Mrs. Douglas Tschiffely, chairman of the District of Columbia Women's Golf Association tournament committee, announced yesterday that the Congressional Country Club course will be open tomorrow morning until noon for practice rounds in preparation for the annual Star Cup tournament scheduled next Monday and Tuesday.

Entries should be sent to Mrs. W. F. Holtzman at the Broadmoor Apartments. She may be reached by phone at Cleveland 6900.

Most of the District feminine stars, including the recent winner of the Keefer Cup, Mrs. Alma von Steiner, who will be playing over her home course, are entered in the event. Virginia Williams, of Congressional, is the defending champion. The 1932 runner-up was another young feminine player, Virginia Pope, of Kenwood.

Nats Anxious To Resume Activity

Whitehill Hurts Leg Slightly; Peck May Use Ferrell.

Myer Back in Line-Up; Goslin Shifts Stance at Plate.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 3.—The Nats were held hitless, runless and gameless again today by the overhead delivery of the Cleveland regular, A. Cloudy Day, whose moist offerings could not be solved by either the ball players or the business office.

Thus the Nats sat out the second day of their Western invasion cooped up in their hotel, where they have seemingly spent six weeks during the last three days, including the open date on Monday. A search into the musty pages of the April files reveals that they still have their four-game winning streak intact, but if the boys don't get some action soon, Joe Cronin will have on his hands a team of three-cushion and lobby sitting champions instead of a baseball crew that is harboring some honest pennant ambitions.

The weather here gets one more chance tomorrow. What was to be the third game of the series with the Indians will open and close the present series if the heavens relent. The Nats haven't had the feel of a bat in competition since last Sunday afternoon, and their idleness in the interim is not calculated to do them a great deal of good.

Crowder to Start On Mound.

A change in the pitching program was announced by Manager Cronin today. Alvin Crowder, who started the Nats' last game, will replace Earl Whitehill as the starter against the Indians tomorrow.

Whitehill, it seems, is no mudder. Recently recovered from his five-day suspension, when he was benched by League President Harridge for hitting, Whitehill was ready to inaugurate the series against the Indians yesterday. When General Manager Billy Evans of the Tribe, by a great stretch of imagination, saw a cloud on the horizon yesterday and hung out the "rain-no game" sign, Joe Cronin shooed Whitehill along with his other pitchers out to the park for a mild workout.

Taking a turn around the muddy track that encircles the playing field, Whitehill developed a quarter crack, a bent spavin, or a pulled leg muscle, or something, and was forced to the dressing room for repairs. Cronin tonight was doubtful that the pitcher would be able to break into the Detroit series later in the week. But with their three days' rest, the Nats are not exactly hard up for pitchers.

Ferrell May Replace Harder.

There was the possibility as the result of the second postponement that Manager Peckinpaugh, too, would switch his pitching assignment and replace Mel Harder with Wes Ferrell in tomorrow's game, but the Nats have their own private opinion concerning Ferrell and would welcome

WISE DAUGHTER IS EASY WINNER IN PIMLICO'S NURSERY

Whitney Pair Runs Second And Third

High Glee Beaten by Four Lengths; Dreel Downs Juveniles.

What Have You Takes Steeplechase; Race on Muddy Track.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 3.—The regular meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club, coming after two charity days, began at this ancient course today. The eight-race program was featured by the running of the Pimlico Nursery Stakes, and provided the vehicle for an easy victory of Wise Daughter, from the Everglade Stable holdings. This filly led home seven other juveniles accepting the issue over 4½ furlongs.

Rains last night had left the course muddy. However, as the program progressed the course was drying out. In contrast to attendance on the charity days, the crowd numbered near the 10,000 mark.

Wise Daughter, which was third in the Aberdeen Stakes at Havre de Grace, left no doubt as to her superiority ove the 2-year-olds that opposed her today. Buddy Hanford hustled her to the front soon after the barrier rise, had a length lead over High Glee, a Whitney youngster, and pulled away when straightened out in the stretch, to win by some four lengths. High Glee held on for second, while Hooligan, the other half of the Whitney entry, was third.

Wise Daughter
Pays $4.80.

The crowd made Wise Daughter the favorite, and she paid a $4.80 mutuel, going the route in 0:55 4-5.

Dreel was hard ridden by Albert Robertson to take a decision in the opener from Adamite, a long shot, with Leonie, of the favored Labrot entry, third. Robertson kept Dreel near the pacemakers to the stretch and then took a slight lead. Adamite also came up, but wasn't good enough. The winner paid $6.60.

The second race went to Flaming Mamie, which lasted to beat Flying Max by a half-length margin. Oregon Fir was third. Flaming Mamie was much at home in the going and, after racing under restraint the first half mile, moved up steadily and disposed of Jambalaya, the early pacesetter. However, Apprentice Crus gave his backers the heebie jeebies when he eased up near the finish, and Flying Max, carrying 125 pounds, cut down the margin with a closing dash.

White Rides Winner
Of Steeplechase.

C. R. White, gentleman rider, accounted for the steeplechase, piloting What Have You home four lengths ahead of St. Francis over the soggy course. Spar, Mrs. John Hay Whitney entry, was third.

The once formidable Greentree Stable star, Bangle, was installed the favorite, but could do no better than fifth. Each of the seven starters finished the course.

What Have You wasted no time in taking the lead and was never headed thereafter. St. Francis fenced well, but could not menace the pacemaker. The winner was a 5-1 shot.

Bannach Lath won the fourth race under a well-judged ride by Charlie Kurtsinger, proving a worthy favorite. A length behind came the lengshot Ancoda, which had about the same margin over Matadi. The early running was dominated by Soeur Blanche, but she faded as the stretch loomed ahead and in the grand rush for the wire Bannach Lath moved up with a rush and was a handy winner.

Pairbypair Wins
Sprint.

Three eligibles for Saturday's Dixie—Sweeping Light, Brandon Mint and Rehoboth—went postward in the sixth, a 6-furlong dash, but none of them landed in the money, although the first named ran a winning race after being pinched back to last place at the break. Pairbypair made an impressive 1933 debut to score a nose victory over Merrily On. Con Amore was third, a length behind, with Sweeping Light fourth, just out of the money. Pairbypair led throughout, but was being hard pushed in the final drive. Brandon Mint had his speed, but appeared short. The winner paid $8.80.

Johnny Gilbert brought Fervid, a $17.40-for-$2 shot, on top in the seventh, winning by a length from a poorly ridden Aegis. Uluniu won the place by a length. Mecat, tired from setting the pace, began staggering in the stretch. Fervid came around him and won going away from Aegis. Tipton was of little help to the latter. Uluniu was hard urged all the way, but was not good enough.

The eighth race went to Foxiana, which was a good thing. Storm took the place from Squeeze Play.

PIMLICO, MARYLAND, CHART, MAY 3, 1933.

WEATHER, CLEAR; TRACK, MUDDY.

FIRST RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $800. For maiden 2-year-olds, foaled in Maryland. Start good from gate. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 2:02. Off at 2:08. Winner, G. L. Stryker's ch. g., by Trojan—Blasing Ember. Trained by L. Campbell. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24, 0:49 3-5.

†S. W. Labrot entry. ‡H. Drennan entry.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DREEL, $6.60, $6.40, $3.00; ADAMITE, $14.20, $3.00; LEONIE (S. W. Labrot entry), $2.30.

DREEL, kept under stout urging while in near pursuit of the pace, wore LEONIE down when straightened into the home stretch and had enough in reserve to withstand ADAMITE. Latter entered contention on the inside when midway of the turn, responded to punishment and closed courageously. LEONIE assumed a brief early lead, but tired when the real issue came. CAMPAGNA lost ground at the stretch turn and just lasted to stall off PRECURSOR. Latter showed a good effort. The others were badly outrun.

SECOND RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:31. Off at 2:34½. Winner, J. B. Belk's ch. f. (4), by Blazes—Mabel A. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:50 2-5, 1:16 2-5, 1:43, 1:48 2-5.

VISIONARY	115	6	3	1°	5°	6°	7°	7°	Dabson	56.50

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLAMING MAMIE, $5.20, $2.80, $2.40; FLYING MAX, $2.40, $2.40; OREGON FIR, $5.60.

FLAMING MAMIE, reserved under steadying restraint for six furlongs, displaced JAMBALAYA without effort when rounding the final turn, and Crus became overconfident bearing the finish by easing his mount. FLYING MAX, slower than usual to settle in his stride, improved his position stoutly and came with good speed at the end. OREGON FIR moved up determinedly on the outside when leaving the back stretch, but faltered all during the final drive. JAMBALAYA tired and swerved out at the stretch turn. POSTPONEMENT was done after six furlongs. VISIONARY stopped after five furlongs.

THIRD RACE—Two miles. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Menkton Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:03. Off at 3:07½. Winner, F. M. Gould's ch. g. (5), by Tryster—Prodigy. Trained by W. B. Streett. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 3:39 4-5 (13 jumps).

†Mrs. J. H. Whitney entry.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WHAT HAVE YOU, $12.00, $5.40, $3.20; ST. FRANCIS, $4.20, $3.20; SPAR (Mrs. J. H. Whitney entry), $3.20.

WHAT HAVE YOU assumed an easy lead at once, raced strongly while fencing boldly, shook off a bold effort from ST. FRANCIS at the eighth fence and was not seriously threatened thereafter. ST. FRANCIS, steadied to all of his fences, moved to the winner with boldly jump, but was held definitely safe thereafter. SPAR went forwardly placed and held on well. He outlasted tiring horses at the end. ERIC THE RED raced evenly and had no excuses. BANGLE, allowed to pick up his field gradually, moved up after a mile and one-half, but tired as if short. BROWN RULER was never a factor. PURPLE DUST stopped after a mile and was not abused.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:39. Winner, Anall Stable's ch. f. (3), by Stimulus—Parthia. Trained by E. J. Bennett. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:16, 1:42 3-5, 1:47 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BANNACH LATH, $5.60, $3.80, $3.20; ANCODA, $21.60, $7.20; MATADI, $6.20.

BANNACH LATH, rated within striking distance of the leaders for the first five furlongs, gained fast to take command when straightened into the home stretch and then held ANCODA safe. Latter, going in his best form, worked his way up on the outside, circled his field and finished with good energy. MATADI, close up and a probable winner in the final drive, could not quite defeat when straightened into the main stretch. FIDDLE had no excuses. BRIGHT BIRD tired after racing wide.

EIGHTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $800; claiming. The Wicomico. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:41. Off at 5:41½. Winner, N. E. Stanton's b. c. (4), by Stefan the Great—Istar. Trained by C. Ponce. Value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:42, 1:47.

KEITH	115	3	1	1°	1°	8	8	8	Fellows	37.80

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FOXIANA, $7.60, $3.40, $3.20; STORM, $3.20, $2.80; SQUEEZE PLAY, $4.40.

FOXIANA sprinted into an early lead, was reserved while making the pace and held on resolutely to win with something in reserve. STORM, kept under mild restraint early, moved up on the outside when moving to the pacemakers, but De Wese was of little help when it came to a drive. SQUEEZE PLAY went well placed and continued gamely to the end. MY FERGUS was never able to enter a forward position. STRENUOUS could not stay when put to a drive. KEITH appeared very sore and would not extend himself.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, MAY 3.

DEAR AL:

This Pimlico is poison. I can't remember breaking a mirror. I've walked around the block to keep a black cat from crossing my path. I haven't walked under any ladders. I haven't thrown my hat on the bed, opened an umbrella in the house or twirled a chair on one leg. And furthermore, I've been living right. Somehow the winners have been escaping me. True, I had two today, but a $2 flat bet on my selections would have flattened you, your Aunt Maggie and Grandpa Rockefeller. So as long as they have nerve enough to send out the entries, I'll have nerve enough to pick 'em, but I won't promise to play 'em. The Salvation Army has a phrase for it.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—IF IDA will appreciate the off-track and should not lose this purse. Certainly did everything asked of her up State. LIBERTY OAK failed to get far in the Nursery today, but may be second here. REPEAL shapes up as good as the others for third.

SECOND RACE—AIRY SPIRIT must break from number 1 post position in the heaviest going, but has proved a fast thing away from the barrier. Gets my edge over this field. LODORUS was a good second the other day. BILLIE'S TRYST is a long-shot possibility. Showed improvement last out and was unlucky in the race.

THIRD RACE—ANNAPOLITAN is as safe a wager as anything in this band of timbertoppers. You can guess the others. I'll take KIM and GAME COQ.

FOURTH RACE—BRIGHT BIRD, providing he's sent back, may find the track he loves—a drying-out course. I have always sidestepped him in mud. COLOSSAL may need racing. BENISH WAY turned in a neat speeding the other day and will be right with the top fellow for much of the way.

FIFTH RACE—ARUNDEL won that last so impressively that I'm not going to look elsewhere for the winner. RUANE shapes up as the one to beat. WILLIAM T., the one-time star, may be the third one.

SIXTH RACE — APPREHENSIVE may upset the kettle in this sprint. Runs coupled with CHATWATER and they may hand the one-two punch to ILCHESTER and BALLY BAY—a pair that will run each other's legs off.

SEVENTH RACE—CARRY THE NEWS gets one more chance. Drops down the class ladder and seems ideally placed. VISHNU is always a threat in a sprint. WEDDING RING is of the improving sort.

EIGHTH RACE—SOEUR BLANCHE, if sent back, may not stop tomorrow. POLITEN will have to be beaten. FIFE has improved and looks like the third one.

Bradley Star Impresses In Trial

Brokers Tip Is Sent Route; Ladysman on Scene.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (U.P.).—Headed by W. R. Coe's Ladysman, the last of the Eastern invaders for Kentucky Derby honors Saturday, arrived at Churchill Downs early today. The list includes Pomponius and Pompoleon, stablemates of Ladysman; the Audley Farm's Trace Call and Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Dark Winter. All thoroughbreds withstood the 900-mile journey from Maryland without mishap and will go into active training tomorrow in preparation for the week-end classic.

Col. Edward R. Bradley envisaged a fourth Derby triumph today when his Broker's Tip worked the full Derby route of a mile and a quarter over a somewhat slippery oval at the Downs this morning. The black Toney colt covered the distance in the impressive time of 2:08 3-5, by far the best move among the seven Derby candidates out for exercise.

T. M. Severson's Spicson also worked a mile and a quarter, being timed in 2:10 3-5, while John E. Hughes' Silent Shot did a handy mile and an eighth in 1:58 3-5. Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch, conqueror of Ladysman in the Belmont Futurity last year, turned in an easy workout over a mile in 1:44.

Hopulikit had a 7-furlong breeze, while Axtel and Good Advice each did three panels in good style. The latter, a stablemate of Mr. Khayyam, Chesapeake Stakes winner, will go to the post against older horses in the South Park Purse, feature event here tomorrow.

Lee-Jackson Beaten by Eastern

Keegin Leads Attack for 15-11 Win at Alexandria.

EASTERN walloped Lee-Jackson High School of Alexandria yesterday afternoon at the latter's diamond, 15 to 11, in a free-hitting contest, with Joe Keegin, right fielder, leading the locals' assault with four swats, including a double and triple.

Cleary, who hurled the first four innings, was credited with the victory. Barnes, who succeeded, was shelled from the mound in the sixth, and Sullivan finished the game, allowing only two hits.

Eastern smacked the offerings of Pitcher Ayres for 20 hits, while Lee-Jackson batters garnered 14.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

TALKS before the Chamber of Commerce U. S. general session by Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget, and Senator Robert L. Bulkley, of Ohio, will be broadcast at 10 a. m. over WMAL. Douglas will speak on "The Federal Budget" and Senator Bulkley will discuss the "Monetary Policy and Banking." At 1:30 o'clock the address of Gen. W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be broadcast by WJSV.

At 1:30 p. m. Silas Strawn will be heard over WRC as he addresses a luncheon meeting of the chamber on "Public Benefits From Antitrust Law Revision," while at 3 p. m. Henry Morgenthau, jr., head of the Farm Administration, will speak over WMAL on "Policies for Agriculture."

Although recommendations for the reorganization of the Radio Commission were submitted to President Roosevelt three weeks ago, no indication has been given when he may act upon them. It was indicated in one quarter that pressure was being exerted upon the President to keep the commission in its present form.

Also there are reports that quite a fight has developed between Postmaster General Farley and Secretary Roper. Farley is said to be contending that anything having to do with communications should be lodged in the Postoffice Department rather than in Commerce.

Walter O'Keefe, who has appeared with Rudy in previous programs, will start the Vallee Hour at 7 p. m., over WRC-NBC-WEAF hookup, with some of his typical speedy comedy. Eleanor Shaler, featured in the "Grand Street Follies," will be heard in the latest popular melodies, and Sid Silvers is scheduled for a series of quips and quirks.

The high spot of the program will be the appearance of Margaret Sullavan (that's the way she spells it) and Tom Powers in a scene from the recent hit, "There's Always Juliet."

HANS KINDLER, who is as popular with the ladies as he is with the old fiddle, and with it all a tip-top public speaker, will make a plea tonight (WJSV, 6:35 o'clock) for additional funds for the National Symphony Orchestra. . . . First Assistant Postmaster General Joseph C. O'Mahoney will be on the Farm and Home Hour (WMAL, 12:30 noon). . . . Senator Elmer Thomas will be the Washington Forum Community speaker (WMAL, 8:45 p. m.). . . . "Auditing Your Emotional Account" will be the topic of Fred August Moss in the George Washington University Forum (WMAL, 7:30 p. m.). . . . The Government Printing Office Glee Club, directed by Gerald Whalen, will make some of the New York programs sit up and take notice (WMAL, 10:15 p. m.).

WILL ROGERS yesterday wired Chairman John Barton Payne from New York that he "wanted to make a contribution to a couple of good causes and didn't have the dough to do it," so decided to dedicate his new Sunday evening broadcasts for the Gulf Oil Co. to the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

The comedian's wire follows:

"Here is how this rough-and-tumble broadcastin' thing come about.

"The Gulf Oil Co. kept wantin' me to litter up the microphone with some Oklahoma grammer. Now, Amos 'n' Andy, Jack Pearl, Wynne, Vallee or Cantor have never had any cause to be jealous of me in their industry. But I did want to make a contribution to a couple of good causes that done such fine work durin' our earthquake, and I didn't have the dough to do it with, so Mrs. Rogers figgered it out, as she does most of the other things.

"She says, 'you got the wind to do it,' so she figgered out how I could do it with just talk, which I would be doin' for nothing anyhow, to anybody I could hem up and make listen to me.

"So I am to preach for seven Sundays, and the Gulf Oil Co. is to take all the money and send half of it to the Red Cross and the other half to the Salvation Army. Both to be used for unemployment relief.

"So I got nothin' to lose in the transaction but my voice and I never lost it yet. The only one I can see lose is the Gulf Co., that is, if they don't sell enough gas to pay for the gas they bought from me. So soon as I get through they will mail your check. Don't thank me, thank the Gulf Co. or better still thank the listeners. They will be the sufferers."

Ed Wynn said he had some sardines swimming around in a bowl.

"You mean goldfish?" said Graham.

"That's what they were before they got off the gold standard," the comedian replied.

A 45-minute surprise concert of the Philadelphia Orchestra comes in tonight over WJSV at 9:30 o'clock.

Col. Stoopnagle and Budd will return to the Manhattan studios from a barnstorming vaudeville tour to participate in the broadcast over WJSV tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Industry stabilization and promotion, with definite and constructive projects submitted, will be developed at the ninth annual Radio Manufacturers' Association convention in Chicago, on June 6, according to Bond Geddes, executive vice president.

The convention falls during the opening week of the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago and also is coincident with Chicago conventions of the electrical and musical industries.

With the annual trade show omitted this year and with the membership meeting and convention being confined strictly to business at a one-day session on June 6, merchandise exhibits for the one-day R. M. A. meeting are not being encouraged.

Jane Pickens, of the Pickens Sisters trio, has stepped into a new broadcasting role and now is heard over N. B. C. WEAF networks as a soloist on a program all her own.

Her new program, which is heard at 3:30 p. m. each Tuesday and Thursday, is in addition to the several appearances she makes each week with Helen and Patti, her sisters.

Because she hails from Georgia, where the Southern Rambler is a favored rose, Miss Pickens has named her series for the flower.

Before Jane organized the sisters' trio, she studied at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, and spent more than a year at a conservatory in Paris.

Nino Martini, young Italian operatic tenor, who is presented twice weekly in broadcasts, has been signed by the Metropolitan Opera Company for the season 1933-1934.

Gatti-Casazza's selection of the tenor constitutes a new record for radio; he is said to be the first artist to be selected by the Metropolitan from the ranks of regular broadcasting talent.

Martini is only 28 years old, slender, romantic in appearance, dark-haired and brown-eyed. He has had more than a year's experience in the movies and is an accomplished actor.

Winners of this year's Pulitzer Prizes in Letters will be greeted tonight at a dinner to be given in their honor.

Prof. William Lyon Phelps will preside during the program over WMAL at 9 p. m. Joseph Henry Jackson, of the San Francisco Chronicle, will act as announcer.

Those harmonizing Boswell sisters continue their swift tour around the country and their broadcast over WJSV at 9 p. m. will originate in Chicago. Their opening tune will be "You're Getting to Be a Habit With Me."

A concert conducted in Rome by a young American composer, Werner Janssen, will be heard in the United States this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock over WRC. Werner Janssen, the son of the New York restaurant man, last month conducted the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra in a program which included one of his own compositions, "New Year's Eve in New York."

Capt. Henry's Show Boat, from the calliope to the last announcement by Kelvin Keech, was captured on a film by Paramount, which will release the picture soon as a short. Thus people who have never seen an actual broadcast will be taken right into the studio and will be shown exactly how one of radio's most elaborate programs is put on.

In writing of radio production men an editor mentioned the name of Al Short. The next day a woman telephoned the studios in New York and asked for a description of Mr. Short. She then telephoned the newspaper and asked the writer if he could arrange a meeting, as she thought she knew Short in California. It proved to be Al Short's sister, whom he hadn't seen in many years.

"BRONCHO CHARLEY" Miller, last of the pony express riders, will speak in the annual Boys' Week program over WJSV at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. "Broncho Charley" started riding in the pony express at the age of 11. On his twelfth birthday, while he was making the run from Carson City, Nev., to Sacramento, Calif., he was ambushed by five Sioux warriors and wounded in the arm and the head by arrows. He escaped only after desperate riding.

Chesapeake Jelly Fish Arrival Will Be Late

Baltimore, May 3 (A.P.).—Swepson Earle, State conservation commissioner, and Dr. Reginald V. Truitt, director of the Chesapeake Marine Laboratory at Solomons Island, predicted today that the sea nettles will keep out of Maryland waters until the end of June, instead of putting in their appearance about the first of the month, as usual.

The nettles, it was explained, can not exist in fresh water, and avoid all waters that are low in salt content. The recent heavy rains have freshened the Chesapeake and its tributaries so much that the waters probably will not be the liking of the jelly fish until the end of June.

Braves Dance to Weather Gods.

Vinita, Okla., May 3 (A.P.).—A secluded wood in White Oak hills, near here, resounded today with the pounding of tom-toms and cries of Indian braves dancing in their annual spring supplications for favorable growing weather for their crops.

Young Cavaliers Break Tie in Eighth; Win Out by 5-to-4 Score.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., May 3. Virginia's freshman nine won from Central High, of Washington, here today, 5 to 4, in a light-hitting contest, marked by sharp fielding throughout. Blanked for four innings, the Capital City squad finally tied the score in the eighth frame. The Cavalier Cubs scored the winning tally on a fielder's choice in their half of the eighth. Raub, of Central, and Poindexter, of Virginia, secured home runs. Quarles, in right field for the locals, made two accurate pegs to nip runners at second and third base.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

NOTHING seems to be more useless, except to the collector, than an old postage stamp—yet August Tabbert, of Newton, Iowa, has found a practical use to which they can be put. He makes walking sticks out of canceled stamps. The process is slow, but the finished product is striking in appearance—and unique in construction.

Mr. Tabbert takes the stamps and drills holes in them, threading them on a steel rod. The stamps are pressed tightly together, burnished and polished. The finished cane is as smooth and hard as ivory. It takes more than 13,000 stamps to make one cane—but Mr. Tabbert has been collecting old stamps for this purpose for sixteen years.

The permanent magnet is not pure iron, but a mixture of iron and generally carbon, sometimes steel. Pure iron, which is soft, will not hold magnetism. It can be readily magnetized in a magnetic field, but it quickly loses its magnetic property. Hard iron and steel are used for permanent magnets.

Snakes sometimes make the mistake of eating china nest eggs when robbing a henhouse, just as setting hens sometimes make the mistake of mothering a china doorknob, mistaking it for an egg. It remained for a 6-foot blacksnake, killed near Danville, Va., to make both mistakes at the same time, swallowing a door knob. The indigestible knob remained in the snake's stomach, finally wearing through the skin.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

MOTORIZED VENICE.

VENICE is now connected with the mainland by a $4,500,000 steel bridge, making it possible to enter by automobile.

• • • •

Electric signs reading "Overnight Parking" above the Palace of the Doges may be expected momentarily.

• • • •

And in the once restful atmosphere of St. Mark's Square, where for generations people have sipped wines and chatted quietly, noisy motoring parties are already swarming with box lunches and loud demands for directions to "some guy who can change a tire."

• • • •

The long generations of Venetian charm and lovliness are ending, and the time will come when a moonlight in Venice will be no more romantic than a moonlight night at the Indianapolis Speedway.

• • • •

Unofficial reports say that a rubber tire company is already negotiating for an advertising balloon attached to the top of the Campanile, famous tower of the islands, and that there is a pan afoot to haveall the gondoliers wear white jackets with a picture of Ed Wynn and an advertisement for gasoline.

POSSIBLE BAEDEKER.

Piazza of St. Mark—Handsome public square reflecting Byzantine and New World Filling Station influences. Shops surrounding the square are distinguished by their wide assortment of automobile accessories, slip covers, body varnishes, &c. Sharing interest with the famous bronze horses of Napoleon, atop the cathedral are the numerous exhibits of open-faced automobile chassis. Tourists from all over the world gather in this square and snare the famous pigeons of St. Mark's for radiator ornaments.

COLLEGIANS HEARD BY LOUIS HOWE IN WHITE-COLLAR PLEA

Split Infinitives Delay Pilgrimage to President's Office but Briefly.

Thirty young unemployed college men and women yesterday trooped through Washington's late afternoon sunshine and home-hurrying Government workers to the White House, where President Roosevelt's advisory secretary, Louis M. Howe, gave ten of their number a fatherly talk.

The pilgrims bore with them and presented a program for national rehabilitation which they had adopted after two days of scholarly debate in an assembly room at the Y. W. C. A.

At the last moment yesterday as the time came to start for the Executive Mansion, an aghast collegiate found several split infinitives in the typed program, and the "white collar" march was held up while this rhetorical heresy was repaired.

The program of the earnest group began somewhat modestly with a request for cessation of retrenchment in education—most of the group are teachers and librarians—and worked up to a climax that asked for revision of the entire economic system and recognition of Soviet Russia.

Howe Shows Difficulties.

Secretary Howe told the collegiates that many of the projects they suggested were worthy of consideration and said that they were favored by the administration. He was quoted by Varian Fry, Harvard classmate of James Roosevelt, son of the President, to this effect:

"You people suggest some fine things. But you don't seem to realize the difficulty of getting some of these things over with Congress."

Howe, said Fry, told them that he was a "white-collar man" himself and that this was a day when the "white-collar" man's sun was somewhat in eclipse. Jobs for the men who work with their hands, said Howe, according to Fry, is the problem the administration is concentrating upon. As for education, Howe, the collegiates said, was quite in sympathy, but right now the slogan is "Food and work before education."

Red's Trade Value Doubted.

In their program the collegiates said that they did not ask special privileges. They wanted to take their place figuratively beside the working man, but they believe that the good of the Nation will be served by creation of Federal scholarships for research, a bureau for testing all advertised products to see if they come up to claimed capacity and the provision of Federal legal, dental, medical and other jobs for serving persons unable to procure such service. This, they believe, would provide jobs for the many thousands of college-trained professional men now out of work.

About Soviet Russia, Mr. Howe told them, they said, that he couldn't see any feasibility in recognition of Moscow. He disagreed with their theory that the growth of large trade relations with Russia would prove an economic boon in America, they said.

The Presidential secretary promised the group that everything they asked would be considered and thanked them for their visit.

Detective Is Chaperon.

Throughout their stay here, the collegians have been shepherded by Private W. T. Murphy, Crime Prevention Bureau operative. Private Murphy, who looks a bit like a Georgetown law senior, and who in balmy weather doesn't wear a hat, frowned upon the wearing of academic caps and gowns during the march to the White House yesterday.

Joseph P. Lash, chairman of the group, said he thought the visit was a success. Fry, professorial-appearing Harvard man, after politely outlining to reporters the goings on at the Howe conference, said:

"But I think it was somewhat depressing."

During the visit of the ten to the Howe sanctorium, the rest lounged in the comfortable chairs in the executive office reception hall. They chatted with reporters and secret service men, smoked cigarettes and watched with a hint of cynicism the goings and comings of boutonniered dignitaries.

City Head Speculation Full of Rises and Dips

White House Said to Hope Appointments Will Be Made This Week; Name of White House Reporter Mentioned.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Edgar Allan Poe's imaginary descent into the maelstrom, vivid as it was, is getting to be something like a ride up and down the roller-coaster built for very young children and their overanxious mothers, in comparison with the dizzy rises and drops in the speculation anent the identity of the new District Commissioners.

It was said on reliable authority last night that President Roosevelt had not selected his appointees. It was said on equally reliable authority that Postmaster General James Farley had not made any recommendations to the President. It was authoritatively said that the President "hoped" the two civilian Commissioners would be named this week. It was said on reliable authority that Mr. Farley probably wouldn't be able to submit a list of names to the President before next week.

All of which indicates that no one in Washington, including the President, knows who will be named District Commissioners. Everyone in an authoritative position refuses to discuss names with newspaper reporters. But more significant than that is the fact that persons in authority are equally cagey with various influential persons who are seeking the appointment of this or that man or woman who has been advanced for one of the posts.

There has been much talk of "dark horses." Among the so-called dark horses is Russell Young, widely known Washington newspaper reporter who has reported White House history for a number of years. Mr. Young was born in Washington. His father was a Pennsylvanian and served in Congress as a Pennsylvania Republican. Although branded as a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, Mr. Young enjoys the confidence of the leaders of both parties locally. Although his nomination is not expected, it would not receive much opposition, it is believed, if it were sent to the Senate, especially in view of his wide acquaintance among politicians and members of Congress throughout the country. There would be no question of residence raised in his case, inasmuch as he has claimed Washington as his home for more than 20 years, in the course of which he has built a country-wide reputation as a fair-minded reporter.

Mr. Farley has insisted he is committed to no candidate. It has been said that he will remove responsibility from his shoulders by submitting five or six names to the President. It is likely that when he does so he will put an "x" behind one or two names, but behind what names remains a mystery.

Outside of the unmentioned it is believed that the Commissioners will be selected from among the three or four generally considered as outstanding candidates. At least one of the Commissioners is thought to have been prominently mentioned, even if Mrs. Roosevelt or Col. Louis McHenry Howe name the other.

SOKOLOWSKI TALKS AT CLUB GATHERING

Polish Charge d'Affaires Addresses Compatriots on Twenty-fifth Birthday.

Wladyslaw Sokolowski, Charge d'Affaires of the Polish Embassy, addressed members of the Polish Club of Washington at their celebration last night at the Willard Hotel of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the organization and of the national holiday of Poland.

Others who addressed the celebrants were Representative John D. Dingell, of Michigan, who told the group that they should preserve the culture of their homeland; Representative George Sadowski, of Michigan, and Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore.

The Rev. J. J. Rolbiecki delivered the invocation. A Polish orchestra from Trenton, N. J. presented a number of selections. Miss Wanda Witczak played several violin solos accompanied by Miss Frances Kline and Mrs. Harriet Czarnecka-Lewicka sang a group of Polish songs accompanied by Dr. Donald Brown.

The officers of the club are Walter S. Pawl, president, Mrs. Anna Pawlowska, vice president; Ludwik Pawlowska, secretary; Katarzyna Boczkowska, treasurer, and Teodor A. Schultz, sergeant at arms.

Change in Machine Gun Definition Is Proposed

Modification of the term machine gun in the proposed uniform machine gun act was discussed at the meeting of the firearms committee of the National Conference on Uniform State Laws at the Mayflower Hotel yesterday.

Although the act has been adopted by the conference and approved by the American Bar Association it has since been urged that the phraseology be modified, as at present the law would include automatic pistols used in the military service and for target shooting. Lieut. H. G. Callahan, of the District Police Department, discussed the matter from a technical standpoint.

INTEREST REVEALED IN RENOVIZE WORK

Inquiries Follow Word That Banks Will Lend for Help Campaign.

Publication in The Post yesterday of the willingness of banks to lend money to depositors and indorsed home owners for renovizing purposes brought a large number of inquiries to the headquarters of the renovize campaign, it was announced last night.

All inquiries were referred to their own banks, or to banks in their neighborhood, where they can obtain the necessary information. It was made clear, however, that the money will be available for all property owners, regardless of race, creed or color.

Plans for an exposition of building materials to be held in connection with the campaign are under way. E. H. Rosengarten is chairman of the committee in charge.

A resolution heartily indorsing the renovize Washington campaign was adopted yesterday by the board of directors of the Washington Association of Credit Men.

Talks on the campaign were made last night by Herbert L. Willett, jr., before the Association of Oldest Inhabitants, and Bert E. Holmes before the Friendship Citizens Association.

W. W. Wheeler, chairman of the publicity committee, who visited Philadelphia to obtain first-hand information on the campaign there, said that one of the most notable improvements made was in the renovizing of apartment houses. One block of small apartments, vacant for eight years, was restored and rented immediately after being renovized, he said.

DepartmentalBank Receiver Sues Two

Wants Fraser and Mann Estate to Pay Stock Assessments.

Two suits were instituted in the District Supreme Court yesterday by W. B. Allman, receiver for the Departmental Bank, to enforce collection of 100 per cent assessments on holders of stock in the bank.

One suit named George B. Fraser, 3831 McKinley street, holder of 195 shares, with a par value of $1,950, and the other named the Washington Loan & Trust Co., as trustee for the estate of Benjamin Pickman Mann, who in his lifetime owned 102 shares, with a par value of $1,020.

The suits are the first by a receiver of a defunct bank here to enforce the stock assessment for which shareholders are responsible in the event of a collapse of the bank.

Woman Indicted as Slayer.

Ella Holman, colored, yesterday was indicted by the District grand jury for the murder of her 5-year-old daughter last month. The grand jury also indicted William S. Harris, colored, for the slaying of Leroy Veney, also colored, on April 2.

GAS LIGHT MERGER VIEWED AS AID TO D. C. EMPLOYMENT

Black Committee Informed $1,747,250 Might Be Spent as Result.

The Washington Gas Light Co. and affiliated companies yesterday advised the House District public utilities subcommittee that $1,747,250 might be spent in the District on construction and improvement projects if the Washington-Georgetown Gas Light Co. merger is authorized.

The statement, submitted at the request of Representative Loring Black, jr. (Democrat), New York, chairman of the subcommittee, indicated that approximately $600,000 of this amount would be spent directly for labor, providing employment for between 200 and 500 men.

The statement indicated that about $783,700 would be spent for new mains and pipes and for improving the distribution system, $57,050 for plant, $10,000 for building construction, $775,000 for a new gas holder and $121,500 for generating improvements.

Representative Black has indicated he will seek action on the marger at this special session. He believes it might be regarded as emergency legislation, in view of the unemployment relief it is said to make possible.

Dairy Official Indicted In $1,051 Theft Case

Milton J. Hine, president and treasurer of the National City Dairy Co., was indicted yesterday by the District grand jury on a charge of embezzling $1,051 of the funds of the company. The indictment is in 14 counts.

Hine, who was empowered to sign checks for the company, is alleged to have drawn checks on the Bank of Washington. Some portion of the money he is accused of taking was in cash.

Miss Clawans Is Fined In Ticket-Selling Case

Judge Ralph Given, in Police Court, yesterday imposed sentence upon Miss Ethel Clawans, 36 years old, of Newark, N. J., who some months ago was found guilty of acting as a ticket broker without a license.

Miss Clawans was convicted of the same offense a year ago, but the Court of Appeals reversed the conviction because of improper questions asked a witness. The second trial resulted in a conviction, also, and when the time for filing an appeal expired, sentence was imposed. The sentence was a fine of $250.

Boy Club Members Will Hold Reunion

Neighborhood House Will Present Program of Entertainment.

A reunion of members and former members of boys' clubs connected with Neighborhood House, 470 N street southwest, will be held tonight at the settlement in honor of Boys Week, Mrs. Clara D. Neligh, announced yesterday.

The members of the boys' clubs will present a program of entertainment, which includes some specialty dances taught by Lester Schaefer, whose services were obtained by Mrs. Charles L. McNary, wife of Senator McNary, of Idaho. Among the guests will be Joseph D. Kaufman and Norman Kal.

Shows by little children as well as folk dances and a Maypole dance will feature the opening today of the spring festival. Plays will be given at 4 o'clock and 8 o'clock in the open-air theater back of the house. The May Day procession will be held Saturday.

Police Probing Accident Causing Laborer's Death

Police last night were investigating the death of Clementine Amodie, 54-year-old laborer of 4,500 Conduit road northwest, who died yesterday at Georgetown Hospital allegedly from injuries suffered April 26, while working near Conduit and River roads.

The man is said to have dodged a piece of falling timber when he tripped and struck his head against a rock. No report of the accident was made until after the man's death and the coroner is holding up an inquest pending the results of police inquiries.

D. C. TAXES PAYABLE ON FREE BEER ALSO

Russell Rules Dealer Must Account for Every Bottle Purchased.

Drinks of beer on the house, if any, are still taxable at the rate of $1 a barrel, Deputy Assessor Charles A. Russell announced yesterday after a conference with the District Commissioners.

Holders of off-sale or on-sale licenses are required to account for every bottle of beer purchased, no matter whether they drink some of it themselves, throw a party for their friends, or sell it. The question was raised by one of the licensees making a report yesterday on April sales.

A total of 107 more dealers yesterday reported sales of more than 878 barrels, bringing the total to 223 and the tax to over $2,000. While the number of reports is still a mere handful of the more than 1,700 due, sales so far have averaged about nine barrels to a licensee. This would indicate that the estimated tax of $1,000 a day was not realized even in the first month.

The Commissioners yesterday issued a stern warning that all temporary permits, whose holders have not paid the municipal tax by May 10, will be revoked. Only one week or five and one-half working days remain, and only one-eighth have filed returns since May 1.

Auditor Daniel J. Donovan and Daniel E. Garges, secretary to the Commissioners, were directed yesterday to select three or four District employes to aid the Beverage Permits Board in making inspections preparatory to the issuance of annual permits.

Members of the board stated yesterday that the beer licensees complained of Tuesday night in a resolution adopted by the Columbia Heights Citizens Association are within the law as they are not less than 200 feet from Central High School.

'Closed' Bank Sued On Rejected Check

Administrators of Estate Act Against Poole and Federal-American.

Jo V. Morgan and Lucian Vandoren, administrators of the estate of John Zanier, yesterday filed suit in District Supreme Court against John Poole as conservator for the Federal American National Bank and Trust Co., and the bank itself, to recover $1,073.25, which they alleged the bank owed the estate.

The claim was advanced that ten shares of stock in the Potomac Electric Power Co. were placed in the bank to be sold for the estate. That was on February 8, 1933, and when the money was received by the bank, the bank issued a check for the proceeds. When it came time for this check to be paid, the bank was in the hands of the conservator, who, it is charged, has refused to honor it.

The attorneys want the proceeds of the sale declared a trust with a lien impressed upon it so that the estate can recover the money. Attorney Joseph A. Rafferty filed the suit.

SCHOOL GROUP RAPS APPOINTMENT PLAN

Unaware Senate Changed System of Naming Temporary Teachers.

Without knowing that the wording of the amendment was at that moment being changed in the Senate, members of the District Public School Association engaged in a heated debate last night over a provision in the District bill for appointment of temporary teachers notwithstanding the existence of an eligible list.

The original wording of the clause to which the association took exception gave the Board of Education authority to use its discretion during the fiscal year of 1934 in appointing qualified temporary teachers in the public schools notwithstanding the existence of an eligible list of applicants established by examinations.

The amendment also provided that in filling all such vacancies teachers now in the schools shall have the preference "so far as practicable."

Members of the association were unaware that the very objections they had to the provision had been stricken out. However, the bill has yet to go to conference.

Miss Maude E. Aiton, principal of the Americanization School, spoke on the great task of educating foreigners in the District. One of the great dangers, she said, is the schism created between the foreign child, obtaining a superficial American education, and the parents, clinging to the traditional culture of their native land.

Boys' Week Holds Rotary Attention

More Than Hundred Men From Out of Town at Meeting.

Washington Rotarians devoted their yesterday's meeting at the Willard Hotel to the observance of National Boys' Week and the speakers and guests of honor were Boy Scout James Seiler, of Troop 72, and Sanford Bates, director of Federal prisons. Over a hundred out-of-town Rotarians, attending the U. S. Chamber of Commerce convention, met with the local club.

After hearing the boys' week message delivered by Boy Scout Seiler, who stated the aim of the movement is to "keep good boys good," Director Bates addressed the meeting talking as his subject the best ways to reduce juvenile delinquency.

President Arthur C. Christie was chairman of the meeting and the speaker was introduced by Frank R. Jelliff, president of the Boys' Club of Washington. Dr. Lester Merritt, of the governor's council, Thirty-first Rotary District, called attention to the annual convention of Rotary International, to be held this year in Boston, and Rotarian Harrison Howe introduced Dr. Clarence J. West, a new member of the Washington club. Calvert Dickey announced the results of the club's golf tournament at Kenwood and awarded prizes to Tom Eagan, Arthur May and Wilfred Putnam.

Renovizing Drive Described.

The Friendship Heights Citizens Association, at Tanney School last night heard an address by Bert E. Holmes on the renovizing campaign in the Capital. Election of officers will be held in June.

UNIFORM CONTRACT WILL BE CONTINUED FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Disputed Questions Whether Bidding Should Be Open Generally Ended.

The long-disputed question of whether the contract for high school cadet uniforms should be open to general biddera was ended for the time being by the Board of Education yesterday when it was decided to continue the present contract until next year.

Proposals for a new contract will be considered in the spring of 1934, it was decided. Continuation of the present contract was decided on for the sake of economy.

Abandonment of a portable at the Giddings School and transfer of the remaining portable at this school to the Cleveland School was decided upon. This is made possible through completion of an addition to the Giddings School.

The board accepted the offer of Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Baseball Club, to present a cup to champion teams in inter-high school baseball in both white and colored schools.

Approval was given the suggestion of the Fire Department that instruction in the use of sounding fire alarms be restricted to junior and senior high schools.

Members of the board learned with gratification of the improvement in health of Dr. Abram Simon, board member, who has been ill for several months. Dr. Simon is not yet able to see friends, but is able to walk in his garden for a few minutes each day.
